After worshipping for nearly a century in the city's Catholic churches, the Anglicans of Quebec finally had their own cathedral built at state expense. Their new mother church was the first Anglican cathedral outside Britain and is modeled on London's huge Neo-Classical St Martin's in the Fields. To this day, gifts from England remain, including the prayer book and Bible donated by the British King George III. Cut from the King's Windsor Forest in England, the pews are of oak and the eight-bell peal is the oldest in Canada. In the summer, artists and artisans fill the verdant church grounds. Monastere des Ursulines, Rue Donnacona. Tel. In Mere Marie de l'Incarnation brought the Ursuline order of nuns to Quebec and oversaw the construction of the nunnery, which later burned down. Today, visitors can see the Saint-Augustin and Saint-Famille wings, which date from a period of rebuilding between 1600 and 1650. Surrounded by fruit orchards, the charming complex has gradually evolved over the past four centuries. One of the buildings is North America's oldest girls' school. Nearly a hundred nuns still live and work here, so access is limited. The beautifully decorated chapel and French antiques, including Louis XIII furniture, scientific instruments, paintings, and embroideries, are displayed in the Musee des Ursulines within the monastery. The museum also tells the story of the nuns' educational and missionary achievements. Mere Marie completed the first Huron-Algonquin and Iroquois dictionaries. Copies are on display along with embroidery and liturgical clothes from the 17th to 19th centuries.

Le Soleil is good hotel and fairly priced. Residence Inn by Marriott is an extended stay hotel with studios and very good. Georgian Court Hotel is another good hotel. It is close to Science world and Gastown.

Hockey Hall of Fame The Hockey Hall of Fame is a lavish tribute to Canada's national sport ice hockey. Hockey, both ice and grass, originated in Canada from its simple winter beginnings on frozen lakes and ponds; the game now ignites Canadian passions like no other. The Hall of Fame's ultramodern exhibition area is inventive and resourceful, with different sections devoted to particular aspects of the game. There are displays on everything from the jerseys of the great players, including Wayne Gretzky and Mario Lemieux, to a replica of the Montreal Canadiens locker room in the old Forum. Another section traces the development of the goalie's mask from its beginnings to the elaborately painted versions of today. Interactive displays abound, and visitors can stop pucks fired by virtual players. A small theater shows films of hockey's most celebrated games. A separate area at the front of the Great Hall displays a collection of trophies, including the Stanley Cup, hockey's premier award, donated by Lord Stanley.

Hummingbird Centre for the Performing Arts The Hummingbird Centre is one of Canada's largest performing arts venues, with over 1,000 seats in the single large theater. It was known as the O'Keefe Centre until when Hummingbird Inc. donated several million dollars to have the place refurbished. Now, with a cavernous modern interior, it is home to both the Canadian Opera Company and the National Ballet of Canada. The Hummingbird also offers a wide-ranging program, including light comedy shows and children's entertainments, not to mention musicians famous worldwide. Recent performers and productions have included Robin Williams, Elvis Costello, and Puccini's Tosca. Top artists come from all over the world to the center; pop performers and classical musicians regularly star here. Despite this, the acoustics here have often been criticized, and many people try to avoid sitting in the front rows.

Ontario Science Centre One of Toronto's most popular sights, the Ontario Science Centre attracts children in droves. They come for the center's interactive displays and hands-on exhibits exploring and investigating all manner of phenomena, which are divided into categories. These include the Living Earth Science Arcade, the Information Highway, and Sport. Visitors can land on the moon, travel to the end of the universe, or have hair-raising fun on a Van de Graaff generator.

Black Creek Pioneer Village Over the years, some 19th-century buildings have been moved to historic Black Creek Pioneer Village in the northwest. of the city from other parts of Ontario. Inevitably the end result is not entirely realistic no Ontario village ever looked quite like this but this living history showpiece is still great fun. Staff in period costume demonstrate traditional skills such as candlemaking, baking and printing. Among the more interesting buildings are the elegant Doctor's House from and the Lasky Emporium general store which is open and trading selling baking products to visitors. The Tinsmith Shop is manned by skilled craftsmen and there is a Masonic Lodge meeting room too. Four buildings are credited to Daniel Stong a 19th century pioneer his pig house, smoke house and two contrasting homes the first and earlier dwelling is a crude log shack the second a civilized house with a brick fireplace outside of which is a herb garden.

McMichael Art Collection

On The Edge Of Kleinburg about minutes drive north of downtown Toronto. Robert and Signe McMichael built themselves a fine log and stone dwelling overlooking the forests of the Humber River Valley. The McMichaels were also avid collectors of Canadian art and in they donated their house and paintings to the government. Since then the art collection has been greatly increased and is now one of the most extensive in the province with over pieces. Most of the McMichael is devoted to the work of the Group of Seven with a whole string of rooms devoted to an eclectic selection of their works. The keynote paintings are characteristically raw and forceful landscapes illustrating the wonders of the Canadian wilderness. Each of the group has been allocated a separate area and both Tom Thomson a famous precursor of the group and talented Group of Seven member Lawren Harris are well represented. There are also fascinating sections devoted to contemporary Inuit and Native American art including the sculpture Bases Stolen from the Cleveland Indians and a Captured Yankee by the well known contemporary artist Gerald McMaster.

Toronto Dominion Gallery of Inuit Art

The Toronto Dominion Centre consists of five jet black skyscrapers a huge modern tribute to the moneymaking skills of the Toronto Dominion Bank. The southern tower displays a strong collection of Inuit Art on two levels of its foyer. The exhibits were assembled as a centennial project in the 1980s. They bought over pieces in a variety of materials including caribou antler and walrus ivory but the kernel of the collection is the stone carving. Soapstone sculptures on display mostly 30 cm ft high show mythological beasts and spirits as well as scenes from everyday life Some of the finest were carved by Johnny Inukpuk whose Mother Feeding Child and Tattooed Woman have a raw elemental force

Scenic Drive Around Columbia River A person can decide to take a spontaneous trip down the scenic drive along Colombia River gorge at any time of the year The experience reminds you of spring regardless of the weather It is an eighty mile canyon connecting the Colombia River Cascade Mountain Range and Pacific Ocean There is a border between Oregon and Washington that is protected by the authorities If you live within the Washington area then make a point of visiting the area It is one of the most beautiful places in the entire state There are a number of ways that someone can get to this destination but it is easier to follow the following route Take the I and head towards Portland take the exit on and join the I Take the exit and divert to Highway east When you get to Highway you are able to see the picturesque scene as you drive along After some time the highway splits into two lanes If you are the one driving you need to keep your eyes on the road since it is narrow and winding The passengers are able to enjoy the entire journey without any restrictions As you look across the river you should be able to see Oregon There is so much beauty in the rock formations foliage and waterfalls These features rival Columbia when it comes to beauty Further down the path is Bonneville Dam This area is known for generating hydropower and organizing annual Steelhead trout and salmon runs There are fish ladders that you can use for viewing purposes A person can take tours on the dam on their own or in groups You will not be charged for visiting the viewing areas It is possible to view the dam from either Oregon or Washington As you drive further down the Highway you will see the Bridge of the Gods The original Bridge of the Gods was naturally created by a landslip that caused a dam on the river This bridge has since been replaced with steel one since it washed away with time There is a lot of folklore about this feature The current bridge is used to connect the states you have to pay a toll of one dollar to use it The highway extends long after the Stevenson and Skamania Lodge If you opt to continue with the drive then you will see more scenic features as you drive along When you are driving back home it is easier to use the four lane freeway As you use the freeway you get to see the craggy mountains along Washington s side This route has more mileage to cover but it takes an equal amount of time to return to the dam A person is also able to view the Multnomah Falls as well If you have time then you can take the trail leading to the top of the falls and take photos from there This is the kind of drive that someone can take over the weekend since there are plenty of stops along the way

The centre of Edinburgh is divided neatly in half by Princes Street the principal shopping area To the south lies the Old Town site of the ancient city which grew along the route of the Royal Mile from the Castle Rock in the west to The Palace of Holyroodhouse in the east At the end of the 17th century building for the New Town started to the north of Princes Street The area is still viewed today as a world class example of Georgian urban architecture with its elegant facades and broad streets Princes Street has lots to offer including shopping art galleries the towering Scott Monument and the landmark Balmoral Hotel clock tower as well as the city s main train station Waverley Edinburgh Getting Around Central Edinburgh is compact so walking is an excellent way to explore the centre Other options include a comprehensive bus service and a multitude of black taxis Avoid exploring the centre by car because the streets tend to be congested with traffic and parking may be difficult Car use has been actively discouraged by the local authority in recent years On main routes special lanes are provided for buses taxis and bicycles and in the suburbs there is also a good network of bicycle paths

Sai Satcharitra Chapter Yoga and Onion Shama Cured of Snake Bite Cholera Ordinance Broken Ordeal of Guru Bhakti Preliminary Really this Jiva human soul transcends the three qualities viz Sattwa Rajas and Tamas but being deluded by Maya he forgets his nature which is Existence knowledge bliss and thinks that he is the doer and enjoyer and thus entangles himself in endless miseries and does not know the way of deliverance The only way of deliverance is Loving Devotion towards the Guru s feet The great Player or Actor Lord Sai has delighted His Bhaktas and transformed them into Himself His nature We regard Sai Baba as an incarnation of God for reasons already stated but He always said that He was an obedient servant of God Though an incarnation He showed the people the way how to behave satisfactorily and carry out the duties of their respective stations Varnas in this life He never emulated others in any way nor asked others to have something done for Him For Him Who saw the Lord in all movable and immovable things of this world humility was the most proper thing None He disregarded or disrespected for He saw Narayan Lord in all beings He never said I am God but that He was a humble servant and He always remembered Him and always uttered Allah Malik God is the sole proprietor or Owner We do not know the various kinds of Saints how they behave what they do and eat etc We only know that by God's grace they manifest themselves in this world to liberate the ignorant and bound souls If there be any store of merits on our account we get a desire in listening to the stories and Leelas of the Saints otherwise not Let us now turn to the main stories of this Chapter Yoga and Onion Once it so happened that a sadhak of Yoga came to Shirdi with Nanasaheb Chandorkar He had studied all the works on Yoga including the Yoga sutras of Patanjali but had no practical experience He could not concentrate his mind and attain samadhi even for a short time He thought that if Sai Baba be pleased with him He will show him the way to attain samadhi for a long time With this object in view he came to Shirdi and when he went to the Masjid he saw Sai Baba eating bread with onion On seeing this a thought arose in his mind How can this man eating stale bread with raw onion solve my difficulties and help me Sai Baba read his mind and said to Nanasaheb Oh Nana he who has the power to digest onion should eat it and none else Hearing this remark the yogi was wonder struck and then he fell at Baba's Feet with complete surrender With pure and open mind he asked his difficulties and got their solution from Baba Thus being satisfied and happy he left Shirdi with Baba's Udi and blessings

Shama Cured of Snake Bite Before Hemadpant begins the story he says about the Jiva that it can be very well compared with a parrot and that they both are bound the one in the body and the other in a cage Both think that their present bound state is good for them It is only when a Helper i.e. Guru comes and by God's grace opens their eyes and liberates them from their bondage that their eyes are opened to a greater and larger life compared to which their former limited life is nothing In the last Chapter it was shown how Baba anticipated the calamity that was to befall on Mr Mirikar and rescued him from it Now let the readers hear a story grander than that Once Shama was bitten by a poisonous snake His little finger of the hand was stung and the poison began to spread into the body The pain was also severe and Shama thought that he would pass off soon His friends wanted to take him to the God Viroba where such cases were often sent but Shama ran to the Masjid to His Viroba Sai Baba When Baba saw him He began to scold and abuse He got enraged and said Oh vile Bhaturdya Priest do not climp up Beware if you do so and then roared Go Get away Come down Seeing Baba thus red with wrath Shama was greatly puzzled and disappointed He thought that the Masjid was his home and Sai Baba his sole Refuge but if he was driven away like this where should he go He lost all hope of life and kept silent After a time Baba became normal and calm when Shama went up and sat near Then Baba said to him Don t be afraid don t care a jot the Merciful Fakir will save you go and sit quiet at home don t go out believe in Me and remain fearless and have no anxeity Then he was sent home Immediately afterwards Baba sent Tatya Patil and Kakasaheb Dixit to him with instructions to the effect that he should eat what he liked should move in the home but should never lie down and sleep Needless to say that these instructions were acted upon and Shama got all right in a short time The only thing to be remembered in this connection is this the words of Baba or the five syllabled Mantra viz Go Get away Come down were not addressed to Shama as it apparently looked but they were a direct order to the snake and its poison not to go up and circulate through Shama s body Like others well versed in Mantrashastra He had not to use any incantation charged rice or water etc His words only were most efficacious in saving the life of Shama Any one hearing this story and other similar ones will beget firm faith in the Feet of Sai Baba and the only way to cross the ocean of Maya is to remember ever the Feet of Baba in the heart Cholera Epidemic Once Cholera was raging virulently in Shirdi The residents were much frightened and they stopped all communication with the outside people The panchas of the village assembled together and decided upon two ordinances as a remedy to check and put down the Epidemic They were No fuel cart should be allowed to come in the village and No goat should be killed there If anybody disobeyed these ordinances they were to be fined by the village authorities and panchas Baba knew that all this was mere supersition and therefore He cared two pence for the Cholera ordinances While the ordinances were in force a fuel cart came there and wanted to enter the village Everybody knew that there was dearth of fuel in the village still the people began to drive away the fuel cart Baba came to know of this He came to the spot and asked the cartman to take the fuel cart to the Masjid None dared to raise his voice against this action of Baba He wanted fuel for His Dhuni and so He purchased it Like an Agnihotri keeping his sacred fire alive throughout his life Baba kept His Dhuni ever burning all day and night and for this He always stocked fuel Baba's home i.e. the Masjid was free and open to all It had no lock and key and some poor people removed some wood from there for their use Baba did not grumble about this Baba saw that the whole universe was pervaded by the Almighty and so He never bore enmity or ill will to anybody Though perfectly detached He behaved like an ordinary house holder to set an example to the people Ordeal of Guru Bhakti Let us now see how the second Cholera ordinance fared with Baba While it was in force somebody brought a goat to the Masjid It was weak old and about to die At this time Fakir Pir Mohamad of Malegaon alias Bade Baba was near Sai Baba asked him to behead it with one stroke and offer it as an oblation This Bade Baba was much respected by Sai Baba He always sat on the right hand of Sai Baba After the chilim pipe was first smoked by him it was then offered to Baba and others After the dishes were served at the time of taking meals at noon Baba respectfully called Bade Baba and made him sit on His left side and then all partook of food Baba paid him also daily Rs out of the amount collected as Dakshina Baba accompanied him hundred paces whenever he was going away Such was his position with Baba But when Baba asked him to behead the goat he flatly refused saying Why it should be killed for nothing Then Baba asked Shama to kill it He went to Radha Krishna Mai and brought a knife from her and placed it before Baba Knowing the purpose for which the knife was taken she recalled it Then Shama went to bring another knife but stayed in the Wada and did not return soon Then came the turn of Kakasaheb Dixit He was good gold no doubt but had to be tested Baba asked him to get a knife and kill the goat He went to Sathe's Wada and returned with a knife He was ready to kill it at Baba's bidding He was born in a pure Brahmin family and never in his life knew killing Though quite averse to do any act of violence he made himself bold to kill the goat All the people wondered to see that Bade Baba a Mahomedan was unwilling to kill it while this pure Brahmin was making preparations to do so He tightened his dhotar and with a semicircular motion raised his hand with the knife and looked at Baba for the final signal Baba said What are you thinking of Go on strike Then when the hand was just about to come down Baba said Stop how cruel you are Being a Brahmin you are killing a goat Kakasaheb obeyed and kept the knife down and said to baba Your nectarlike word is law unto us we do not know any other ordinance We remember You always meditate on Your Form and obey You day and night we do not know or consider whether it is right or wrong to kill we do not want to reason or discuss things but implicit and prompt compliance with Guru s orders is our duty and dharma Then Baba said to Kakaseheb that He would Himself do the offering and killing business It was settled that the goat should be disposed of near a place called Takkya where fakirs used to sit When the goat was being removed to that place it fell dead on the way Hemadpant closes the Chapter with a classification of disciples He says that they are of three kinds First or best Second or middling and Third or ordinary The best kind of disciples are those who guess what their Gurus want and immediately carry it out and serve them without waiting for an order from them The average disciples are those who carry out the orders of their Masters to a letter without any delay and the third kind of disciples are those who go on postponing the carrying out of their orders and making mistakes at every step The disciples should have firm faith backed up by intelligence and if they and patience to these their spiritual goal will not be distant Control of breath ingoing and outgoing or Hath Yoga or other difficult practices are not at all necessary When the disciples get the above mentioned qualities they become ready for further instructions and the Masters then appear and lead them on in their spiritual path to perfection In the next Chapter we will deal with Baba s interesting wit and humour Bow to Shri Sai Peace be to all

Mount Rainier is the star of the Seattle Tacoma area s breathtaking mtnous skyline The highest peak in Washington snowy Mount Rainier is a popular destination for both critical mtneers and recreational pay a visit toors The sprawling square mile national park surrounding the mtn offers a quantity of amenities to pay a visit toors including lodging food campgrounds winter sports and over miles of hiking trails Midsummer time is the busiest year at the park so it s best to pay a visit to mid week during individuals months to avoid the crowds and parking hassles spg and fall are more leisurely years to plan a pay a visit to but the weather can shut down some areas To avoid disappointment pay attention to the snow forecasts and call ahead during the winter most of the camping and hiking activities are shut down but the Longmire Museum the National Park Inn and the Longmire Grocery shop are generally open year round to provide a cozy winter getaway There are over a dozen choices of campground and picnic areas around the park but the most popular is the Ohanapecosh Campground and for good reason positioned at a lower elevation than most of the park Ohanapecosh offers verdant old growth forests and a sparkling river instead of snow A campground amphitheater and a summer time program of loved ones activities make it a camping favorite For individuals preferring less rugged accommodation there are two hotels in the park the National Park Inn offering cozy atmosphere a full service dining room and a general shop and the Paradise Inn which is the largest of the two with rooms a gift shop and a tantalizing brunch menu

The Wonderland Trail is the ultimate hiking knowledge at the park for individuals with the skill and endurance to take it on. It is a strenuous mile trip that makes a loop around Mount Rainier and will take the hiker through lowland valleys and forests and up into alpine terrain. For the less ambitious, there are many trails available throughout the park. The Trail of Shadows is a short minute loop offering a pay a visit to to a th century cabin. Duplicate and some training on Longmire s history and the Green Lake Trail is a popular day hike for its centuries old Douglas fir trees and the stunning Ranger Falls. For legendary views available nowhere else, Mount Rainier has a quantity of not to miss sites. To see what it looks like on top of the world, ride the Mt Rainier Gondola up to the Summit House atop Crystal mtn. The Summit House delivers delicious food and an amazing view of the Cascades, but it s the ride up that s the real attraction. During the summer time, the gondola glides over scenic mtn streams and a sea of wildflower meadows. In the northwestern corner of the park, the serene Carbon River forest is a peek into an precise inland temperate rainforest. One of the most beautiful sights in the park, however, are the famed wildflower meadows at Paradise that gave the area its name. There is so much to see and do at Mount Rainier, it s best to pick one of the areas and focus on exploring it in depth. Indulge in understanding at Longmire, be pampered in Paradise camp, in natural splendor in Ohanapecosh hike through Carbon and Mowich and admire the alpine shows at dawn. This is one mtn that has something for absolutely everyone.

firm of Lyon and Cottier who is believed to have undertaken extensive work at the house State Dining Room Sir Henry loved to entertain and lavish dinners were often held here It boasts a hand painted ceiling stenciled woodwork and the original gasoliers Local bluestone was used in constructing the house as with many th century Adelaide houses The north fa ade faces onto North Terrace one of the city s main streets The Conservatory is based around the original stables and coach house Now a restaurant the whole area has been flooded with light by the addition of a glass roof The family drawing room along with the adjacent family dining room had test strips removed from its walls and ceiling to uncover some stunning original decoration These rooms have now been fully restored

Supreme Court and Melbourne Town Hall Historic Buildings of Melbourne Supreme Court When the Port Phillip district was still part of the New South Wales colony criminal and important civil cases were heard in Sydney To ease the inconvenience Melbourne s first resident judge arrived in to set up a Supreme Court in the city Following the Separation Act of which established the Colony of Victoria the city set up its own Supreme Court in The court moved to the present building with a design inspired by the Four Courts of Dublin in Ireland in The Supreme Court is an imposing building with street fa ades on Lonsdale William and Little Bourke streets Its style is Classical with a projecting portico and a double arcade with Doric and Ionic columns Internally a labyrinthine plan is centered on a beautiful domed library The large bronze figure of Justice defying tradition is not blindfolded rumor has it that an early Melbourne judge persuaded the authorities that Justice should be wide eyed if not innocently credulous The Supreme Court is now classified by the National Trust Melbourne Town Hall Melbourne Town Hall was completed in designed by Joseph Reed s company Reed Barnes The portico was added in From here there are views of Swanston Street and the Shrine of remembrance in the Botanic Gardens An adjacent administration block and the council s second chamber were added in This chamber combines a Renaissance style interior with uniquely Australian motifs such as a ceiling plasterwork of gum nuts A fire in destroyed much of the building s interior including the main hall which had to be rebuilt The entrance to the building shows four motifs on the young city's coat of arms a whale a ship a bull and a sheep signifying the main colonial industries In the College of Arms ordered an inversion of the motifs according to heraldic convention This explains the discrepancy between earlier Block Arcade facade and later coats of arms

Canada is one of the world s top hiking destinations with excellent facilities and a wide variety of terrain for beginners and experts alike Hiking trails range from a leisurely two hour nature walk to several days physically demanding trek through starkly beautiful wilderness The preferred starting places for hiking trails in each national park are well marked Accommodations for longer trips are often available in lodges or hostels within a park alternatively you can bring your own tent or rent one in a nearby town Largescale maps of any area including national and provincial parks can be obtained from Canadian Topographical Series in Ottawa Most of the more popular hikes require little preparation and only basic training The best known hiking areas are found in Alberta and British Columbia in particular in and around the big four parks of Kootenay Yoho Jasper and Banff which encircle the Rocky Mountains The variety of lands here from the lush gently rolling country near Calgary to craggy mountain peaks reinforces the popularity of the area More centrally the prairie provinces offer a surprising variety of walking from the arid badlands of Alberta s dinosaur country to the wilderness hiking in Prince Albert National Park In the east the mountains resume the steep scenery of the Quebec park of Gatineau and the untamed wilds of the eastern and central Gasp Peninsula both have wonderful scenery In northern Canada the hiking is more demanding but equally rewarding Most walking and hiking takes place from April to August when temperatures do rise slightly although drops to C F are not unusual At best the weather remains unpredictable The Chilkoot Pass is a km mile trail that follows the path of early gold prospectors in the late th century from Bennett in northern British Columbia to Dyea in Alaska For the area this is a relatively easy path to follow and gives a good taste of northern scenery More arduous not to say dangerous is the memorable Pangnirtung Trail through the southeast of Baffin Island which even in the summer has a permanently frozen ice cap Inuit guides will take hikers through the frozen wastes by arrangement Occasionally wildlife watching hikes are available and teams of husky dogs carry visitors on sleds across ice paths in the wilderness to reach remote destinations An unforgettable experience these tours are expensive due to their remoteness and a lack of other modes of transportation

Sai Satcharitra Chapter Stories of Bhakata Pant Harishchandra Pitale and Gopal Ambadekar Preliminary All the things that we see in the universe are nothing but a play of Maya the creative power of the Lord These things do not really exist What really exists is the Real Absolute Just as we mistake a rope of a garland or a stick for a serpent on account of darkness we always see the phenomena i e things as they outwardly appear and not the Noumenon which underlies all the visible things It is only the Sad guru that opens the eyes of our understanding and enables us to see things in their true light and not as they appear Let us therefore worship the Sad guru and pray to him to give us the true vision which is nothing but God vision Inner Worship Hemadpant has given us a novel form of worship Let us he says use hot water in the form of tears of joy to wash the Sad guru s feet let us besmear His body with sandal paste of pure love let us cover His body with the cloth of true faith let us offer eight lotuses in the form of our eight Sattwik emotions and fruit in the form of our concentrated mind let us apply to His head bukka black powder in the form of devotion and tie the waistband of Bhakti and place our head on his toes After decorating the Sad guru with all jewelry in this way let us offer our all to Him and wave chamar of devotion to ward off heat After such blissful worship let us pray thus Introvert our mind turn it inward give us discrimination between the Unreal and the Real and non attachment for all worldly things and thus enable us to get Self realisation We surrender ourselves body and soul body consciousness and ego Make our eyes Yours so that we should never feel pleasure and pain Control our body and mind as You will and wish Let our mind get rest in Your Feet Now let us turn to the stories of this Chapter Bhakta Pant

Once it so happened that a devotee by name Pant a disciple of another Sad guru had the good fortune of visiting Shirdi He had no mind to go to Shirdi but man proposes one way and God disposes the other He was travelling in a B B C I Rly train where he met many friends and relations bound for Shirdi They all asked him to accompany them and he could not say nay They alighted at Bombay while pant got down at Virar There he took the permission of his Sadguru for the Shirdi trip and after arranging for the expenses left with the party for Shirdi They all reached the place in the morning and went to the Masjid at about A M Seeing the concourse of the devotees assembled for Baba s worship they were all pleased but Pant suddenly got a fit and fell senseless They were all frightened still they tried their best to bring him to his senses With Baba s grace and with pitchers of water which they poured over his head he regained his consciousness and sat upright as if he was just awakened from sleep The omniscient Baba knowing that he was a disciple of another Guru assured him fearlessness and confirmed his faith in his own Guru by addressing him as follows Come what may leave not but stick to your Bolster support i e Guru and ever remain steady always at one ment in union with him Pant at once knew the significance of this remark and thus he was reminded of his Sad guru This kindness of Baba he never forgot in his life Harishchandra Pitale There was a gentleman by name Harishchandra Pital in Bombay He had a son who suffered from epilepsy He tried many allopathic and ayurvedic doctors but there was no cure There remained only one way of remedy viz resorting to the saints It has been stated in Chapter XV that Das Ganu by his inimitable and splendid kirtans spread the fame of Sai Baba in the Bombay Presidency Mr Pitale heard some of these kirtans in and learnt therefrom and from others that Baba by His touch and mere glance cured many incurable diseases Then a desire arose in his mind to see Sai Baba Making all preparations and taking presents and fruit baskets Mr Pitale came to Shirdi with family wife and children He then went to the Masjid with them prostrated before Baba and placed his sick son on Baba s Feet No sooner Baba saw the child than an untoward thing happened The son immediately revolved his eyes and fell down senseless His mouth began to foam and his whole body began to perspire profusely and it seemed as if he breathed himself out Seeing this the

parents became very nervous and excited The boy used to get such fits very often but this fit seemed to persist long Tears began to flow ceaselessly from the mother s eyes and she began to wail crying that her condition was like that of a person who being afraid of the robbers ran into a house which collapsed on him or like a cow fearing a tiger ran into the hands of a butcher or like a traveller who being tormented by the heat of the sun went to take refuge under a tree which fell upon him or like a devout person going for worship into a temple which collapsed upon him Then Baba comforted her saying Do not wail like this wait a bit have patience take the boy to your lodging he will come to his senses within half an hour They did as directed by Baba and found that His words came true As soon as he was taken into the Wada the boy recovered and all the Pitale family husband wife and others were very delighted and all their doubts disappeared Then Mr Pitale came with his wife to see Baba and prostrated himself before Him very humbly and respectfully and sat shampooing His legs and mentally thanking Baba for His help Baba then smilingly said Are not all your thoughts doubts and apprehensions calmed down now Hari Lord will protect him who has got faith and patience Mr Pitale was a rich and well to do gentleman He distributed sweet meat on a large scale and gave Baba excellent fruits and pan betel leaves Mrs Pitale was a very Sattwik lady simple loving and faithful She used to sit near the post staring at Baba with tears of joy flowing down from her eyes Seeing her of an amicable and loving nature Baba was much pleased with her Like Gods Saints are always dependent on their devotees who surrender and worship them with their heart and soul After passing some happy days in Baba s company the Pitale family came to the Masjid to take Baba s leave to depart Baba gave them Udi and blessings and called Mr Pitale close by and said to him Bapu I had given you before Rs two now I give you Rs three keep these in your shrine for worship and you will be benefited Mr Pitale accepted these as Prasad prostrated himself again before Baba and prayed for His blessings A thought arose in his mind that as that was his first trip to Shirdi he could not understand what Baba meant when He said that He had given Rs two previously He was curious to have this mystery solves but Baba kept silent When Mr Pitale returned to Bombay he narrated to his old mother all that had happened at Shirdi and the mystery about

Baba is giving him Rs two formerly The mother also did not understand the mystery but thinking seriously about that she was reminded of an old incident which solved the mystery She said to her son As you now went to Sai Baba with your son so had your father done when he took you to Akkalkot for the darshana of the Maharaj there many years ago That Maharaj was also a Siddha Perfect Yogi omniscient and liberal Your father was pure devout and his worship was accepted He then gave your father Rs two for being kept in the shrine and worshipped Your father worshipped them accordingly till his death but thereafter the worship was neglected and the rupees were lost After some years the memory of these two rupees also disappeared and now as you are very fortunate the Akkalkotkar Maharaj has appeared to you in the form of Sai Baba just to remind you to your duties and worship and to ward off all dangers Now beware henceforth leave off all doubts and bad thoughts follow your ancestors and behave well go on worshipping the family gods and the rupees appraise properly and take pride in the blessing of the Saints Sai Samartha has kindly revived the spirit of Bhakti in you cultivate it it your benefit Hearing the remarks of the mother Mr Pitale was very much delighted He came to know and was convinced about the all pervasiveness of Baba and the significance of His darshan From that time he became very careful about his behaviour Mr Ambadekar Mr Gopal Narayan Ambadekar of Poona was a devotee of Baba He served for ten years in the Abkari department in the Thana District and in Javhar state from where he had to retire He tried to get some other job but he did not succeed He was overtaken by other calamities and his condition grew from bad to worse He passed years in this condition visiting Shirdi every year and placing his grievance before Baba In his plight became worst and he decided to commit suicide in Shirdi So he came there with his wife and stayed for two months One night while sitting in a bullock cart in front of Dixit's Wada he resolved to end his life by throwing himself into a well close by He proposed to do one way but Baba wished to do something else A few paces from this place there was a hotel and its proprietor Mr Sagun a devotee of Baba came out and accosted him thus Did you ever read this Akkalkotkar Maharaja's life Ambadekar took that book from Sagun and began to read it Casually or we may say providentially he came across a story which was to this effect During the life time of Akkalkotkar Maharaj a certain devotee suffered very much from an incurable disease and when he could endure the agony and pain no longer he became desperate and to end his miseries threw himself one night into a well Immediately the Maharaj came there and took him out with his own hands and advised him thus You must enjoy the fruit good or bad of your past actions if the enjoyment be incomplete suicide won't help you You have to take another birth and suffer again so instead of killing yourself why not suffer for some time and finish up your store of the fruit of your past deeds and be done with it once and for all Reading this appropriate and timely story Ambadekar was much surprised and moved Had he not got Baba's hint through the story he would have been no more On seeing Baba's all pervasiveness and benevolence his faith in Him was confirmed and he became a staunch devotee His father was a devotee of Akkalkotkar Maharaj and Sai Baba wanted him to walk into his father's footsteps and continue his devotion to Him He then got Sai Baba's blessings and his prospects began to improve He studied astrology and gained proficiency in it and thereby improved his lot He was able to earn sufficient money and passed his after life in ease and comfort Bow to Shri Sai Peace be to all

Peggy s Cove The graceful Peggy s Cove Lighthouse stands atop wave worn granite rocks and is one of the most photographed sights in Canada a symbol of Nova Scotia s enduring bond with the sea The village with its colorful houses clinging to the rocks and small harbor lined with weathered piers and fish sheds has certainly earned its reputation as one of the province s most picturesque fishing villages This is a delightful place to stroll through but visitors may want to avoid midday in summer when the number of tour buses can be a distraction Early morning and late afternoon are the most peaceful times Just outside the village is a memorial to the victims of the Swissair crash The village was also the home of well known marine artist and sculptor William E deGarthe Just above the harbor the deGarthe Gallery has a permanent exhibition of of his best known paintings and sculptures Right outside the gallery the Memorial is a m ft sculpture created by deGar the as his monument to Nova Scotian Fishermen Carved into an outcropping of native granite rock the sculpture depicts fishermen and their wives and children The large angel in the sculpture is the original Peggy sole survivor of a terrible thcentury shipwreck for whom the village was named Shelburne A quiet historic town nestled on the shore of a deep harbor Shelburne was founded hastily by United Empire Loyalists fleeing persecution after the American Revolution in More loyalists followed over the next few years and Shelburne's population swelled to making it at the time the largest town in British North America. Many of these settlers were wealthy merchants who were unprepared for the rigors of living in a primitive land. Over time many relocated to Halifax or returned to England leaving behind the fine 18th century homes they had built. Today a walk along Water Street leads past some of the town's most attractive historic homes to the Dory Shop Museum. This two storey structure has been a commercial dory flat bottomed boat building shop since its founding in 1784. During the days of the Grand Banks schooner fleet Shelburne dories were famous for their strength and seaworthiness and the town boasted seven shops that built thousands of boats each year. The museum's first floor features displays on the industry and the salt cod fishery. Upstairs skilled shipwrights demonstrate the techniques of dory building that have changed little in a century. Mount Rainier Mount Rainier is the star of the Seattle Tacoma area s breathtaking mountainous skyline The highest peak in Washington snowy Mount Rainier is a popular destination for both serious mountaineers and recreational visitors The sprawling square mile national park surrounding the mountain offers a number of amenities to visitors including lodging food campgrounds winter sports and over miles of hiking trails Midsummer is the busiest season at the park so it s best to visit mid week during those months to avoid the crowds and parking hassles Spring and fall are more leisurely seasons to plan a visit but the weather can shut down some areas To avoid disappointment pay attention to the snow forecasts and call ahead During the winter most of the camping and hiking activities are closed down but the Longmire Museum the National Park Inn and the Longmire Grocery Store are generally open year round to provide a cozy winter getaway There are over a dozen choices of campground and picnic areas around the park but the most popular is the Ohanapecosh Campground and for good reason Located at a lower elevation than most of the park Ohanapecosh offers verdant old growth forests and a sparkling river instead of snow A campground amphitheater and a summer program of family activities make it a camping favorite For those preferring less rugged accommodation there are two hotels in the park the National Park Inn offering cozy atmosphere a full service dining room and a general store and the Paradise Inn which is the largest of the two with rooms a gift shop and a tantalizing brunch menu The Wonderland Trail is the ultimate hiking experience at the park for those with the skill and endurance to take it on It is a strenuous mile trip that makes a loop around Mount Rainier and takes the hiker through lowland valleys and forests and up into alpine terrain For the less ambitious there are many trails available throughout the park the Trail of Shadows is a short minute loop offering a visit to a 19th century cabin replica and some education on Longmire's history and the Green Lake Trail is a popular day hike for its centuries old Douglas fir trees and the stunning Ranger Falls For legendary views available nowhere else Mount Rainier has a number of not to miss sites To see what it looks like on top of the world ride the Mt Rainier Gondola up to the Summit House atop Crystal Mountain The Summit House provides delicious food and an amazing view of the Cascades but it's the ride up that's the real attraction during the summer the gondola glides over scenic mountain streams and a sea of wildflower meadows In the northwestern corner of the park the serene Carbon River forest is a peek into an actual inland temperate rainforest One of the most beautiful sights in the park however are the famed wildflower meadows at Paradise that gave the area its name There is so much to see and do at Mount Rainier it's best to choose one of the areas and focus on exploring it in depth Indulge in learning at Longmire be pampered in Paradise camp in natural splendor in Ohanapecosh hike through Carbon and Mowich and admire the alpine displays at Sunrise This is one mountain that has something for everyone Washington City Trip To know about Places to see in Washington use <http://www.uscitytrip.com/places-to-see-in-washington.aspx>

General Post Office Built between 1862 and 1864 this attractive Neo Classical building was erected to house the city's first official postal service It replaced the barracks for female convicts which had previously occupied the site The building continues to operate as central Brisbane's main post office Post Office Square opposite the General Post Office is a pleasant place to relax while looking out over the landscaped greenery and fountains of Anzac Square St Stephen's Cathedral Early settlers provided the funds for this lovely English Gothic style Catholic cathedral designed by noted colonial architect Benjamin Backhouse and completed in 1847 The main facade features restored twin spires on each side of the elaborate stained glass windows Next door is St Stephen's Church the oldest church in Brisbane It was designed by AW Pugin an English architect who also worked on London's Houses of Parliament Commissariat Store The Commissariat Stores constructed by convict labor in is the only surviving building from Brisbane's penal colony days open to the public. Having been restored, it is now open to visitors and houses the Royal Historical Society of Queensland.

Parliament House Queensland's Parliament House was designed in French Renaissance style by architect Charles Tiffin, who won an architectural competition. Begun in 1860, it was completed in 1862. Tiffin added features more suited to Queensland's tropical climate, such as shady colonnades, shutters, and an arched roof made from Mount Isa copper. Other notable features are the cedar staircases and the intricate gold leaf detailing on the Council Chamber ceilings. The building is still used for its original purpose, and the public is permitted into the chambers when parliament is not in progress. Unlike other state parliaments consisting of an Upper and Lower House, Queensland has only one parliamentary body. Parliament House is also notable as being the first legislative building in the British Empire to be lit by electricity.

Old Government House Home to the National Trust of Queensland since the state's first Government House was designed by colonial architect Charles Tiffin and completed in 1862. The graceful sandstone building served not only as the state governor's residence but also as the administrative base and social centre of the state of Queensland until 1868. Following its vice-regal term of office, the building was occupied by the fledgling University of Queensland, now situated in the suburb of St Lucia. Of particular architectural note are the Norman style arches and arcades on the ground floor.

City Hall Completed in 1925 in the Neo-Classical style, City Hall is home to Brisbane City Council, the largest council in Australia. Brisbane's early settlement is depicted by a beautiful sculpted tympanum above the main entrance. In the King George Square foyer, some fine examples of traditional craftsmanship are evident in the floor mosaics, ornate ceilings, and woodwork carved from Queensland timbers. City Hall's 110 ft Italian Renaissance style tower gives a panoramic view of the city from a platform at its top. A display of contemporary art and Aboriginal art and ceramics is housed in the Museum of Brisbane.

The attractive King George Square facing City Hall continues to resist the encroachment of high-rise office blocks and has several interesting statues, including Form del Mito by Arnaldo Pomodoro. The work's geometric forms and polished surfaces, for which this Italian sculptor is noted, reflect the changing face of the city from morning through to night The bronze Petrie Tableau by Tasmanian sculptor Stephen Walker was designed for Australia's bicentenary It commemorates the pioneer families of Brisbane and depicts one of Queensland's earliest explorers Andrew Petrie being bid farewell by his family as he departs on an inland expedition Customs House Restored by the University of Queensland in Customs House with its landmark copper dome and stately Corinthian columns is now open to the public Commissioned in this is one of Brisbane's oldest buildings predating both City Hall and the Treasury Early renovations removed the hall and staircase but these have now been carefully reconstructed from the original plans Today the building is used for numerous civic functions and houses an art gallery and a restaurant

A person can decide to take a spontaneous trip down the scenic drive along Colombia River gorge at any time of the year The experience reminds you of spring regardless of the climate It is an eighty mile canyon joining the Colombia River Cascade Mountain Range and Pacific Ocean There is a border between oregon and Wa that is protected by the authorities If you live within the Wa area then make a stage of visiting the area It is one of the most attractive places in the entire state There are a number of ways that someone can get to this destination but it is less difficult to follow the following route Take the I and head towards Portland take the exit on and join the I Take the exit and divert to Freeway east When you get to Freeway you are able to see the picturesque scene as you drive along following some time the Freeway splits into two lanes If you are the one driving you need to keep your eyes on the road given that it is slim and winding The passengers are able to enjoy the entire journey without any restrictions As you look across the river you should be able to see oregon There is so much beauty in the rock formations foliage and waterfalls These attributes rival Columbia when it will come to beauty more down the path is Bonneville Dam This area is known for generating hydropower and organizing annual Steelhead trout and salmon runs There are fish ladders that you can use for viewing purposes A person can take tours on the dam on their own or in groups You will not be charged for visiting the viewing areas It is possible to view the dam from both oregon or Wa As you drive more down the Freeway you will see the Brg of the Gods The primary Brg of the Gods was naturally created by a landslip that caused a dam on the river This Brg has given that been replaced with steel one given that it washed away with time There is a lot of folklore about this attribute The current Brg is used to hook up the states you have to pay a toll of one dollar to use it The Freeway extends long following the Stevenson and Skamania Lodge If you opt to continue with the drive then you will see more scenic attributes as you drive along When you are driving back home it is less difficult to use the four lane freeway As you use the freeway you get to see the craggy mountains along Wa s side This route has more mileage to cover but it takes an equal sum of time to come back to the dam A person is also able to view the Multnomah Falls as well If you have time then you can take the trail leading to the top of the falls and take photos from there This is the kind of drive that someone can take over the weekend given that there are loads of stops along the way Kuchipudi Mangalagiri and Kondapalli which are famous for dance temples and handicrafts respectively are easily accessible from Vijayawada Prakasam Barrage and the railway bridge across the river have helped the region expand its agricultural and commercial base. The regions around the city have a fertile soil and are irrigated by the river Krishna which runs through the heart of the city. Hence the city presents a colorful and varied picture and is a bustling center for business, pilgrimage, tourism, agriculture, and higher education. With rapid strides taken in these areas, Vijayawada is looking forward to an exciting future.

Vijayawada: The City of Victory

Amaravati

StupVijayawada also called as Bezawada is 100 km from Hyderabad and is located on the banks of the Krishna River and is bounded by the Indrakiladri hills on the West and the Budameru River on the North. Situated along the Chennai Howrah and Chennai Delhi rail route, this is the largest railway junction of the South Central Railway. The city forms a part of the Krishna district, spread over an area of 100 sq kms urban area. Vijayawada or the City of Victory, if literally translated, gets its name from the legend which says it was here on the Indrakiladri Hill that Arjuna, the Pandava Prince, won the blessings of Lord Shiva for his penance. During the British rule, the city experienced significant growth. In particular, the completions of the Krishna Barrage and the Railway Bridge on Krishna have helped the region expand its agricultural and commercial base. The famous Chinese traveller Hieun T sang has visited this city. Today, with excellent communications, perhaps the best in the South, where railways are concerned, Vijayawada has become one of the big business centres of the State. Commercially, culturally, and industrially, the city is a very flourishing one.

Madhya Pradesh Bhopal is also referred to as the City of Lakes because of the two beautiful lakes that are situated in the center of the city. Apart from its natural beauty, Bhopal is also famous for its mosques. The Taj ul Masjid in Bhopal is the largest mosque of India. Bhopal is also known for the largest industrial disaster or the Gas Tragedy which happened in 3rd December. This disaster is caused due to the leakage of Methyl Isocyanate gas in Union Carbide plant. The gas caused a massive loss of human life numbering in thousands. Thousands others were rendered sick and have been facing chronic health problems such as Psychological, Neurological disabilities, blindness, etc.

History of Bhopal

The history of Bhopal dates back to the 10th century AD when it was built by the legendary King Bhoja. Later the region was ruled by Mughals. By defeating the local rulers, the decline of the Mughal Empire with the death of Aurangzeb AD led to political turmoil in this region. The small princely state of Bhopal and the present-day city was founded by an Afghan soldier, Dost Mohammad. It was the second largest Muslim state during the rise of British power in India. Bhopal remained a separate state until. According to the States Reorganization Act, Bhopal state was integrated into the state of Madhya Pradesh and Bhopal was declared as its capital.

Sightseeing in Bhopal

Laxmi Narayan Temple

This temple is also called as Birla Mandir. It is located to the south of the Lower Lake on the Arera Hills. Close to this temple, a museum is there which is a repository of sculptures from the districts of Raisen, Sehore, Mandasaur, and Shadol in Madhya Pradesh. Most of the sculptors include Lord Shiva, Vishnu, and their respective consorts and incarnations.

Moti Masjid

Moti Masjid is one of the important and old mosques in Bhopal, land of tradition, history, and heritage. The mosque was built by the daughter of Qudisiya Begum, Sikandar Begum. She was not at all like conventional Muslim girls and so she used to dress like a man and that made her distinct from any other Muslim woman of the then. The mosque in red sandstone stands as an example of typical Islamic art and architecture. There is a marble facade with huge towers on both sides. The mosque is an important landmark which is well networked by all modes of transport that are cheap and easily available.

Saukat Mahal and Sardar Manzil

Saukat Mahal and Sardar Manzil is a historical architecture in the heart of the city. The architecture shows its unique construction which is very much different from the typical Islamic architecture. Saikat Mahal is the example of Renaissance and gothic essence. The old style with various stone works creates a wonderful ambience. The beautiful white building with intricate stone work gives the detailed culture of the Islam and their effect in Indian society. Sadar Manzil was the spacious hall and was used for the public audiences. This house was one of the famous houses where the public were entertained and were given the chance to enjoy various shows that the ruling class used to organize. Upper and Lower Lakes. A lake in the Bhopal is divided by a bridge and it has been made into two sections named upper section and lower section. This lake is the ideal place for various water sports like sailing, paddle boats and motor boats. Upper lake is the main lake which is becoming polluted because of the human development. The lake is ideal place to enjoy the evening and can avail the paddle boat, motor boat and shikaras. The Lower Lake is too facing the same problem of upper lake as this lake is also polluted by the waste and sewerage of the human civilization. Taj ul Masjid. Bhopal is the city of religion, culture and history. Taj ul Masjid with its wonderful structure gives the visitors to visit this holy place irrespective of any caste and creed. The pink portico with two white domes shows the holiness that resides in every stone of the mosque. The mosque is named as Taj ul Masjid which means The Crown of Mosque. The mosque was not completed in one stretch due to change of various ruling classes. But the work was resumed in the year and this white colored mosque will give you the scope to enjoy the purity that resides in every stone and at every corner of the mosque. The quiet and tranquil ambience is perfect place to bow down and pray. Rashtriya Manav Sangrahalaya. The Rashtriya Manav Sangrahalaya is located in the Shamlu hills. It is also known as the National Museum of Man. In this museum we can find the entire heritage that India has experienced in her long journey through time. This one of a kind museum was set up in and sprawls over an area of more than acres. In addition to exhibiting the nation's rich heritage, the museum also showcases a large collection of Tribal and folk arts from all over India. Fairs and Festivals. The famous festival held here is Ijima. This festival will be celebrated in the precincts Taj ul Masjid. It draws many Muslim pilgrims from all parts of India. How To Reach Bhopal. By Air. A person can decide to take a spontaneous trip down the scenic drive along Columbia River gorge at any time of the year The experience reminds you of spring regardless of the climate It is an eighty mile canyon linking the Columbia River Cascade Mountain Range and Pacific Ocean There is a border between Oregon and Washington that is protected by the authorities If you live within the Washington area then make a plan of visiting the area It is one of the most gorgeous places in the entire State There are a number of ways that someone can get to this destination but it is less difficult to comply with the complying route Take the I-5 and head towards Portland take the exit on and join the I-5 Take the exit and divert to Highway 30 east When you get to Highway 30 you are able to see the picturesque scene as you drive along after some time the Highway splits into two lanes If you are the one driving a car you need to keep your eyes on the road considering it is slim and winding The passengers are able to enjoy the entire journey without any restrictions As you look across the river you should be able to see Oregon There is so much beauty in the rock formations foliage and waterfalls These characteristics rival Columbia when it comes to beauty more down the path is Bonneville Dam This area is known for generating hydropower and organizing annual Steelhead trout and salmon runs There are fish ladders that you can use for viewing purposes A person can take tours on the dam on their own or in groups You will not be charged for visiting the viewing areas It is possible to view the dam from either Oregon or Washington. As you drive more down the Highway you will see the bridge of the Gods. The original bridge of the Gods was naturally created by a landslide that induced a dam on the river. This bridge has considering been replaced with steel one considering it washed away with time. There is a lot of folklore about this characteristic. The current bridge is used to connect the States you have to pay a toll of one greenback to use it. The Highway extends long after the Stevenson and Skamania Lodge. If you opt to continue with the drive then you will see more scenic characteristics as you drive along. When you are driving a car back home it is less difficult to use the four lane freeway. As you use the freeway you get to see the craggy mountains along Washington side. This route has more mileage to cover but it takes an equal sum of time to come back to the dam. A person is also able to view the Multnomah Falls as well. If you have time then you can take the Path leading to the top of the falls and take photos from there. This is the kind of drive that someone can take over the weekend considering there are loads of stops along the way.

Sai Satcharitra Chapter Baba s Knowledge of Sanskrit His Interpretation of a Verse from Gita Construction of the Samadhi Mandir This chapter deals with Baba s interpretation of a verse from the Bhagawad Gita As some people believed that Baba knew not Sanskrit and the interpretation was Nanasaheb Chandorkar s Hemadpant wrote another chapter refuting that objection As the chapter No deals with the same subject matter it is incorporated in this chapter Preliminary Blessed is Shirdi and blessed is Dwarkamayi where Shri Sai lived and moved until He took Mahasamadhi Blessed are the people of Shirdi whom He obliged and for whom He came such long distance Shirdi was a small village first but it attained great importance on account of His contact and became a Tirtha holy place of pilgrimage Equally blessed are the womenfolk of Shirdi blessed is their whole and undivided faith in Him They sang the glories of Baba while bathing grinding pounding corn and doing other house hold work Blessed is their love for they sang sweet songs which calm and pacify the minds of the singers and listeners Baba s Interpretation Nobody believed that Baba knew Sanskrit One day He surprised all by giving a good interpretation of a verse from the Gita to Nanasaheb Chandorkar A brief account about this matter was written by Mr B V Deo Retired Mamlatdar and published in Marathi in Shri Sai Leela magazine Vol IV Sphuta Vishaya page Short accounts of the same are also published in Sai Baba s Charters and Sayings page and in The Wondrous Saint Sai Baba page both by Brother B V Narsimhaswami Mr B V Deo has also given an English version of this in his statement dated and published on page of Devotees Experiences Part III published by the said Swami As Mr Deo has got first hand information about this Subject from Nanasaheb himself we give below his version Nanasaheb Chandorkar was a good student of Vedanta He had read Gita with commentaries and prided himself on his knowledge of all that He fancied that Baba knew nothing of all this or of Sanskrit So Baba one day pricked the bubble These were the days before crowds flocked to Baba when Baba had solitary talks at the Mosque with such devotees Nana was sitting near Baba and massaging His Legs and muttering something Baba Nana what are you mumbling yourself Nana I am reciting a shloka verse from Sanskrit Baba What shloka Nana From Bhagawad Gita Baba Utter it loudly Nana then recited B G IV which is as follows Tadviddhi Pranipatena Pariprashnena Sevaya Upadekshyanti Te Jnanam Jnaninastattwadarshinah Baba Nana do you understand it Nana Yes Baba If you do then tell me Nana It means this Making Sashtanga Namaskar i e prostration questioning the guru serving him learn what this Jnana is Then those Jnanis that have attained the real knowledge of the Sad Vastu Brahma will give you upadesha instruction of Jnana Baba Nana I do not want this sort of collected purport of the whole stanza Give me each word its grammatical force and meaning Then Nana explained it word by word Baba Nana is it enough to make prostration merely Nana I do not know any other meaning for the word pranipata than making prostration Baba What is pariprashna Nana Asking questions baba What does Prashna mean Nana The same questioning Baba If pariprashna means the same as prashna question why did Vyasa add the prefix pari Was Vyasa off his head Nana I do not know of any other meaning for the word pariprashna Baba Seva what sort of seva is meant Nana Just what we are doing always Baba Is it enough to render such service Nana I do not know what more is signified by the word seva Baba In the next line upadekshyanti te jnanam can you so read it as to read any other word in lieu of Jnanam Nana Yes Baba What word Nana Ajnanam Baba Taking that word instead of Jnana is any meaning made out of the verse Nana No Shankara Bhashya gives no such construction Baba Never mind if it does not Is there any objection to using the word Ajnana if it gives a better sense Nana I do not understand how to construe by placing Ajnana in it Baba Why does Krishna refer Arjuna to Jnanis or Tattwadarshis to do his prostration interrogation and service Was not Krishna a Tattwadarshi in fact Jnana himself Nana Yes He was But I do not make out why he referred Arjuna to Jnanis Baba Have you not understood this Nana was humiliated His pride was knocked on the head Then Baba began to explain It is not enough merely to prostrate before the Jnanis We must make Sarvaswa Sharangati complete surrender to the Sad guru Mere questioning is not enough The question must not be made with any improper motive or attitude or to trap the

Guru and catch at mistakes in the answer or out of idle curiosity It must be serious and with a view to achieve moksha or spiritual progress Seva is not rendering service retaining still the feeling that one is free to offer or refuse service One must feel that he is not the master of the body that the body is Guru's and exists merely to render service to him If this is done the Sad guru will show you what the Janna referred to in the previous stanza is Nana did not understand what is meant by saying that a guru teaches ajnana Baba How is Jnana Upadesh i.e. imparting of realization to be effected Destroying ignorance is Jnana cf Verse Ovi of Jnaneshwari commenting on Gita says removal of ignorance is like this Oh Arjuna If dream and sleep disappear you are yourself It is like that Also Ovi on Gita V says Is there anything different or independent in Jnana besides the destruction of ignorance Expelling darkness means light Destroying duality dwaita means non duality adwaita Whenever we speak of destroying Dwaita we speak of Adwaita Whenever we talk of destroying darkness we talk of light If we have to realise the Adwaita state the feeling of Dwaita in ourselves has to be removed That is the realization of the Adwaita state Who can speak of Adwaita while remaining in Dwaita If one did unless one gets into that state how can one know it and realise it Again the Shishya disciple like the Sad guru is really embodiment of Jnana The difference between the two lies in the attitude high realization marvellous super human Sattva beingness and unrivalled capacity and Aishwarya Yoga divine powers The Sad guru is Nirguna Sat Chit Ananda He has indeed taken human form to elevate mankind and raise the world But his real Nirguna nature is not destroyed thereby even a bit His beingness or reality divine power and wisdom remain undiminished The disciple also is in fact of the same swarupa But it is overlaid by the effect of the samaskaras of innumerable births in the shape of ignorance which hides from his view that he is Shuddha Chaitanya see B G Ch V As stated therein he gets the impressions I am Jiva a creature humble and poor The Guru has to root out these offshoots of ignorance and has to give upadesha or instruction To the disciple held spell bound for endless generations by the ideas of his being a creature humble and poor the Guru imparts in hundreds of births the teaching You are God you are mighty and opulent Then he realizes a bit that he is God really The perpetual delusion under which the disciple is labouring that he is the body that he is a creature jiva or ego that God Paramatma and the world are different from him is an error inherited from innumerable past births From actions based on it he has derived his joy sorrows and mixtures of both To remove this delusion this error this root ignorance he must start the inquiry How did the ignorance arise Where is it And to show him this is called the Guru s upadesh The following are the instances of Ajnana I am a Jiva creature Body is the soul I am the body God world and Jiva are different I am not God Not knowing that body is not the soul Not knowing that God world and Jiva are one Unless these errors are exposed to his view the disciple cannot learn what is God jiva world body how they are inter related and whether they are different from each other or are one and the same To teach him these and destroy his ignorance is this instruction in Jnana or Ajnana Why should Jnana be imparted to the jiva who is a Jnanamurti Upadesh is merely to show him his error and destroy his ignorance Baba added Pranipata implies surrender Surrender must be of body mind and wealth Re Why should Krishna refer Arjuna to other Jnanis Sadbhakta takes every thing to be Vasudev B G VII i e any Guru will be Krishna to the devotee and Guru takes disciple to be Vasudev and Krishna treats both as his Prana and Atma B G commentary of Jnanadev on this As Shri Krishna knows that there are such Bhaktas and Gurus He refers Arjuna to them so that their greatness may increase and be known Construction of the Samadhi Mandir Baba never talked nor ever made any fuss about the things which He wanted to accomplish but He so skillfully arranged the circumstances and surroundings that the people were surprised at the slow but sure results attained The construction of the Samadhi mandir is an instance in point Shriman Bapusaheb Booty the famous multi millionaire of Nagpur lived in Shirdi with his family Once an idea arose in his mind that he should have a building of his own there Sometimes after this while he was sleeping in Dixit s Wada he got a vision Bava appeared in his dream and ordered him to build a Wada of his own with temple Shama who was sleeping there got also a similar vision When Bapusaheb was awakened he saw Shama crying and asked him why The latter replied that in his vision Baba came close to him and ordered distinctly Build the Wada with the temple I shall fulfill the desires of all Hearing the sweet and loving words of

Baba I was overpowered with emotion my throat was choked my eyes were overflowing with tears and I began to cry Bapusaheb was surprised to see that both their visions tallied Being a rich and capable man he decided to build a Wada there and drew up a plan with Madhavarao Shama Kakasaheb Dixit also approved of it And when it was placed before Baba He also sanctioned it immediately Then the construction work was duly started and under the supervision of Shama the ground floor the cellar and the well were completed Baba also on his way to and from Lendi suggested certain improvements Further work was entrusted to Bapusaheb Jog and when it was going on an idea struck Bapusaheb Booty s mind that there should be an open room or platform and in the centre the image of Murlidhar Lord Krishna with the flute be installed He asked Shama to refer this matter to Baba and get His consent The latter asked Baba about this when He was just passing by the Wada Hearing Shama Baba gave His consent saying after the temple is complete I will come there to stay and staring at the Wada He added after the Wada is complete we shall use it ourselves we shall live move and play there embrace each other and be very happy Then Shama asked Baba whether this was the auspicious time to begin the foundation work of the central room of the Shrine The latter answered in the affirmative Shama got a coconut broke it and started the work In due time the work was completed and an order was also given for making a good image of Murlidhar But before it was ready a new thing turned up Baba became seriously ill and was about to pass away Bapusaheb became very sad and dejected thinking that if Baba passed away his Wada would not be consecrated by the holy touch of Baba s Feet and all his money about a lakh of rupees would be wasted away But the words Place or keep Me in the Wada which came out of Baba s mouth just before His passing away consoled not only Bapusaheb but one and all In due time Baba s holy body was placed and preserved in the central shrine meant or designed for Murlidhar and Baba Himself became Murlidhar and the Wada thus became the Samadhi mandir of Sai Baba His wonderful life is unfathomable Blessed and fortunate is Bapusaheb Booty in whose Wada lies the holy and the pure body of Baba Bow to Shri Sai Peace be to all

MALLS AND SHOPPING CENTERS Suburbia may not offer the most culture in Canada but some of the malls are fine destinations in themselves

The renowned modernist Eaton Centre in Toronto is enclosed by a glass and steel arched roof with a wonderful sculpted flock of geese soaring over shoppers. Over million visitors annually enjoy this showcase of modern architecture though it has been derided as brutalism by conservative Torontonians. Canada has the world's largest mall the West Edmonton Mall in Edmonton Alberta. Over stores more than restaurants movie theaters a huge water park an amusement park a theme hotel a mini golf course an ice rink and a zoo with dolphins are just some of the sights that draw Canadians and visitors alike to this retail paradise. Exclusive stores are largely found in the country's retail capital. Toronto Bloor Street and Yorkville Avenue are lined with status brands known the world over such as Tiffany Holt Renfrew Ralph Lauren and Gucci. Both Vancouver and Montreal have their own selection of world class luxury stores. Montreal is notable as the fur capital of the country good department stores will stock a selection of winter and summer furs at very reasonable prices. For those unable to travel to the north Inuit art features highly in craft shops here.

Sai Satcharitra Chapter Baba's Wit and Humour Chanak Leela Hemadpant Sudama Anna Chinchani kar vs Mavsibai Preliminary To say that we shall state such and such in the next or this Chapter is a sort of egoism. Unless we surrender our ego to the feet of our Sad guru we will not succeed in our undertaking. If we become egoless then our success is assured. By worshipping Sai Baba we attain both the objects worldly and spiritual and are fixed in our true Nature and get peace and happiness. Therefore those who want to gain their welfare should respectfully hear Sai Baba's Leelas or stories and meditate on them. If they do this they will easily attain the object of their life and get Bliss. Generally all people like wit and humour but they do not like that jokes should be cut at their expense. But Baba's method was peculiar when it was accompanied with gestures it was very interesting and instructive and the people therefore did not mind if they were held up to the ridicule. Hemadpant gives his own instance below Chanak Leela. In Shirdi bazar was held every Sunday and people from the neighbouring villages came there erected booths and stalls on the street and sold their wares and commodities. Every noon the Masjid was crowded more or less but on Sunday it was crowded to suffocation. On one such Sunday Hemadpant sat in front of Baba shampooing His Legs and muttering God's name. Shama was on Baba's left Vamanrao to His right Shriman Booty and Kakasaheb Dixit and others were also present there. Then Shama laughed and said to Annasaheb See that some grains seem to have stuck to the sleeve of your coat. So saying he touched the sleeve and found that there were some grains. Hemadpant straightened his left fore arm to see what the matter was when to the surprise of all some grains of gram came rolling down and were picked up by the people who were sitting there. This incident furnished a subject matter for joke. Everybody present began to wonder and said something or other as to how the grains found their way into the sleeve of the coat and lodged there so long Hemadpant also could not guess how they found an entrance and stayed there When nobody could give any satisfactory explanation in this matter and everybody was wondering about this mystery Baba said as follows Baba This fellow Annasaheb has got the bad habit of eating alone Today is a bazar day and he was here chewing grams I know his habit and these grams are a proof of it What wonder is there in this matter Hemadpant Baba I never know of eating things alone then why do you thrust this bad habit on me I have never yet seen Shirdi bazar I never went to the bazar today then how could I buy grams and how could I eat them if I had not bought them I never eat anything unless I share it with others present near me Baba It is true that you give to the persons present but if none be near by what could you or I do But do you remember Me before eating Am I not always with you Then do you offer Me anything before you eat Moral Let us mark and note carefully what Baba has taught us by this incident He has advised us that before the senses mind and intellect enjoy their objects he should first be remembered and if this be done it is in a way an offering to Him The senses etc can never remain without their objects but if those objects are first offered to the Guru the attachment for them will naturally vanish In this way all the Vrittis thoughts regarding Desire Anger Avarice etc should first be offered and directed to the Guru and if this practice be followed the Lord will help you in eradicating all the Vrittis When before enjoyment of the objects you think that Baba is close by the question whether the object is fit to be enjoyed or not will at once arise Then the object that is not fit to be enjoyed will be shunned and in this way our vicious habits or vices will disappear and our character will improve Then love for the Guru will grow and pure knowledge will sprout up When this knowledge grows the bondage of body consciousness we are the body will snap and our intellect will be merged in spirit consciousness we are the spirit Then we shall get Bliss and contentment There is no difference between Guru and God He who sees any difference in them sees God nowhere So leaving aside all ideas of difference we should regard Guru and God as one and if we serve our Guru as stated above Lord God will be certainly pleased and purifying our minds He will give us self realisation To put the matter in a nut shell we should not enjoy any object with our senses etc without first remembering our Guru When the mind is trained in this way we will be always reminded of Baba and our meditation on Baba will grow apace The Sagun Form of Baba will ever be before our eyes and then devotion non attachment and salvation will all be ours When Baba s Form is thus fixed before our mental vision we forget hunger thirst and this samsar the consciousness of worldly pleasures will disappear and our mind shall attain peace and happiness

Sudama s Story When the above story was being narrated Hemadpant was reminded of similar story of Sudama which illustrates the same principle and therefore it is given here Shri Krishna and His elder brother Balarama were living with a co student named Sudama in the ashram of their Guru Sandipani Once Krishna and Balarama were sent to the forest for bringing fuel Then the wife of Sandipani sent also Sudama for the same purpose with some quantity of grams for the three When Krishna met Sudama in the forest he said to him Dada I want water as I am thirsty Sudama replied No water should be drunk on an empty stomach so it is better to rest a while He did not say that he had got grams with him and that He should take some As Krishna was tired He lay down for rest on the lap of Sudama and was snoring Seeing this Sudama took out the grams and began to eat Then Krishna suddenly asked him Dada what are you eating whence is the sound He replied What is there to eat I am shivering with cold and my teeth are chattering I can t even repeat distinctly Vishnu Sahastra Nama Hearing this the Omniscient Krishna said I just dreamt a dream in which I saw a man eating things of another and when asked about this he said What earth dust should he eat meaning thereby that he had nothing to eat The other man said Let it be so Dada this is only a dream I know that you won t eat anything without Me under the influence of the dream I asked you what you were eating If Sudama had known a bit of the Omniscient Shri Krishna and His Leelas he would not have acted as he did Therefore he had to suffer for what he did Though he was a chum of Shri Krishna he had to pass his later life in utter poverty But when he later offered Krishna a handful of parched rice earned by his wife with her own labour Krishna was pleased and gave him a golden city to enjoy This story should be remembered by those who have the habit of eating things alone without partaking them with others The Shruti also emphasizes this lesson and asks us to offer things first to God and then enjoy them after they are renounced by Him Baba also has taught us the same lesson in His inimitable and humorous way Anna Chinchanikar vs Mavsibai Hemadpant now describes another witty incident in which Baba played a peace maker's part There was one devotee by name Damodar Ghanashyama Babare alias Anna Chinchanikar He was simple rough and straightforward He cared for nobody always spoke plainly and carried all dealings in cash Though he looked outwardly harsh and uncompromising he was good natured and guileless So Sai Baba loved him One day like others serving Baba in their own way this Anna was one noon standing prone and was shampooing the left arm of Baba which rested on the kathada railing On the right side one old widow named Venubai Koujalgi whom Baba called mother and all others Mavsibai was serving Baba in her own way This Mavsibai was an elderly woman of pure heart She clasped the fingers of both her hands round the trunk of Baba and was at this time kneading Baba's abdomen She did this so forcibly that Baba's back and abdomen became flat one and Baba moved from side to side Anna on the other side was steady but Mavsibai's face moved up and down with her strokes Once it so happened that her face came very close to Anna's Being of a witty disposition she remarked Oh this Anna is a lewd bad fellow he wants to kiss me Even being so old with grey hair he feels no shame in kissing me These words enraged Anna and he pulled up his sleeves and said You say that I am an old bad fellow am I quite a fool It is you that have picked up a quarrel and are quarreling with me All the persons present there were enjoying this encounter between them Baba Who loved both of them equally and wanted to pacify them managed the affair very skillfully Lovingly He said Oh Anna why are you unnecessarily raising this hue and cry I do not understand what harm or impropriety is there when the mother is kissed Hearing these words of Baba both of them were satisfied and all the persons laughed merrily and enjoyed Baba's wit to their heart's content Baba's Characteristics His Dependency on Bhaktas Baba allowed His devotees to serve Him in their own way and did not like any other persons interfering in this To quote an instance the same Mavsibai was on another occasion kneading Baba's abdomen Seeing the fury and force used by her all the other devotees felt nervous and anxious They said Oh mother be more considerate and moderate otherwise you will break Baba s arteries and nerves At this Baba got up at once from His seat dashed His satka on the ground He got enraged and His eyes became red like a live charcoal None dared to stand before or face Baba Then He took hold of one end of the Satka with both hands and pressed it in the hollow of his abdomen The other end He fixed to the post and began to press His abdomen against it The satka which was about two or three feet in length seemed all to go into the abdomen and the people feared that the abdomen would be ruptured in a short time The post was fixed and immovable and Baba began to go closer and closer to it and clasped the post firmly Every moment the rupture was expected and they were all dismayed did not know what to do and stood dumb with wonder and fear Baba suffered this ordeal for the sake of His Bhakta The other devotees wanted only to give a hint to the Mavsibai to be moderate in her service and not cause any trouble or pain to Baba This they did with good intention but Baba did not brook even this They were surprised to see that their well intentioned effort had resulted in this catastrophe and they could do nothing but to wait and see Fortunately Baba s rage soon cooled down He left the satka and resumed His seat From this time onward the devotees took the lesson that they should not meddle with anybody but allow him to serve Baba as he chooses as He was capable to gauge the merits and worth of the service rendered unto Him Bow to Shri Sai Peace be to all

Sai Satcharitra Chapter Sai Baba s Mode of Life His Sleeping board His Stay in Shirdi His Teachings His Humility The Easiest Path Remember Him Sai Baba always with love for He was engrossed in doing good to all and always abided in His Self To remember Him only is to solve the riddle of life and death This is the best and easiest of Sadhanas as it involves no expenditure A little exertion here brings great rewards So as long as our senses are sound we should minute my minute practice this Sadhana All other Gods are illusory Guru is the only God If we believe in Sad guru s holy feet he can change our fortune for the better If we serve Him nicely we get rid of our Samsar We need not study any philosophy like the Nyaya and the Mimansa If we make Him our Helmsman we can easily cross over the sea of all our pains and sorrows As we trust the helmsman in crossing rivers and seas so we have to trust our Sadguru in getting over the ocean of worldly existence The Sadguru looks to the intense feeling and devotion of his devotees endows them with knowledge and eternal bliss In the last chapter Baba s mendicancy and devotees experiences and other subjects are dealt with Let the readers now hear where and how Baba lived how He slept and how He taught etc Baba s Wonderful Bed Stead Let us first see where and how Baba slept Mr Nanasaheb Dengale brought for Sai Baba a wooden plank amount cubits in length and only a span in breath for sleeping upon Instead of keeping the plank on the floor and then sleeping on it Baba tied it like a swing to the

rafters of the Masjid with old shreds or rags and commenced to sleep upon it. The rags were so thin and worn out that it was a problem how they could bear or support even weight of the plank itself let alone the weight of Baba. But somehow or other it was Baba's sheer Leela that the worn out rags did sustain the plank with the weight of Baba on it. On the four corners of this plank Baba lighted panatis earthen lamps one at each corner and kept them burning the whole night. It was a sight for the Gods to see Baba sitting or sleeping on this plank. It was a wonder to all how Baba got up and down the plank. Out of curiosity many careful observers kept watching the process of mounting and dismounting but none succeeded. As crowds began to swell so to detect this wonderful feat Baba one day broke the plank into pieces and threw it away. Baba had all the eight Siddhis powers at His command. He never practiced nor craved for them. They came to Him naturally as a result of His perfection. Sagun Manifestation of Brahman. Though Sai Baba looked like a man three cubits and a half in length still He dwelt in the hearts of all. Inwardly he was unattached and indifferent but outwardly He longed for public welfare. Inwardly most disinterested He looked outwardly full of desires for the sake of His devotees. Inwardly an abode of peace he looked outwardly restless. Inwardly He had the state of Brahman outwardly He acted like a devil. Inwardly He had the state of Brahman outwardly he acted like a devil. Inwardly He loved Adwaita union or monism outwardly He got entangled with the world. Sometimes He looked on all with affection and at times He threw stones at them. Sometimes He scolded them while at times He embraced them and was calm composed tolerant and well balanced. He always abided and was engrossed in the Self and was well disposed towards His Bhaktas. He always sat on one Asan and never travelled. His band was a small stick which He always carried in His hand. He was calm being thought free. He never cared for wealth and fame and lived on begging. Such a life He led. He always uttered Allah Malik God the real owner Entire and unbroken was His love for the Bhaktas. He was the mine or store house for self knowledge and full of Divine Bliss. Such was the Divine Form of Sai Baba boundless endless and undifferentiated. One principle which envelopes the whole universe from a stone pillar to Brahma incarnated in Sai Baba. The really meritorious and fortunate people got this treasure trove in their hands while those people who not knowing the real worth of Sai Baba took or take Him to be a man a mere human being were and are indeed miserable His Stay in Shirdi and Probable Birth date None knew or knows the parents and exact birth date of Sai Baba but it can be approximately determined by His stay in Shirdi Baba first came to Shirdi when he was a young lad of sixteen and stayed there for three years Then all of a sudden He disappeared for some time After some time He reappeared in the Nizam state near Aurangabad and again came to Shirdi with the marriage party of Chand Patil when He was twenty years old Since then He stayed in Shirdi continuously for a period of sixty years after which Baba took His Maha Samadhi in the year From this we can say that the year of Baba s birth is approximately A D Baba s Mission and Advice Saint Ramadas flourished in the th century and fulfilled to a great extent his mission of protecting cows and Brahmins against the Yavanas Mahomedans but within two centuries after him the split between the two communities Hindus and Mahomedans widened again and Sai Baba came to bridge the gulf His constant advice to all was to this effect Rama the God of the Hindus and Rahim the God of the Mahomedans were one and the same there was not the slightest difference between them then why should their devotees and quarrel among themselves You ignorant folk children join hands and bring both the communities together act sanely and thus you will gain your object of national unity It is not good to dispute and argue So don t argue don t emulate others Always consider your interest and welfare The Lord will protect you Yoga sacrifice penance and knowledge are the means to attain God If you do not succeed in this by any means vain is your birth If any one does any evil unto you to do not retaliate If you can do anything do some good unto other This in short was Sai Baba s advice to all and this will stand in good stead both in material and spiritual matters Sai Baba as Sadguru There are Gurus and Gurus There are many so called Gurus who go about from house to house with cymbals and veena in their hands and make a show of their spirituality They blow mantras into the ears of their disciples and extract money from them They profess to teach piety and religion to their disciples but are themselves impious and irreligious Sai Baba never thought of making the least show of His worth piety Body consciousness He had none but He had great love for the disciples

There are two kinds of Gurus Niyat appointed or fixed and Aniyat unappointed or general The latter by their advice develop the good qualities in us purify our hearts and set us on the path of salvation but contact with the former dispels our quality sense of difference and establishes us in Unity by making us realize Thou art that There are various Gurus imparting to us various kinds of worldly knowledge but he who fixes us in our Nature Self and carries us beyond the ocean of worldly existence is the Sadguru Sai Baba was such a Sadguru His greatness is undescrivable If anybody went to take His darshana he without being asked would give every detail of his past present and future life He saw Divinity in all beings Friends and foes were alike to Him Disinterested and equal balanced He obliged the evil doers He was the same in prosperity and adversity No doubt ever touched Him Though He possessed the human body He was not in the least attached to His body or house Though He looked embodied He was really disembodied i e free in this every life Blessed are the people of Shirdi who worshipped Sai as their God While eating drinking working in their backyards and fields and doing various household works they always remembered Sai and sang His glory They knew no other God except Sai What to speak of the love the sweetness of the love of the women of Shirdi They were quite ignorant but their pure love inspired them to compose poems or songs in their simple rural language Letters or learning they had none still one can discern real poetry in their simple songs It is not intelligence but love that inspires real poetry as such Real poetry is the manifestation of true love and this can be seen and appreciated by intelligent listeners Collection of these folk songs is desirable and Baba willing some fortunate devotee may undertake the task of collecting and publishing these folk songs either in the Sai Leela magazine or separately in a book form Baba s Humility Lord or Bhagwan is said to have six qualities viz Fame Wealth Non attachment Knowledge Grandeur and Generosity Baba had all these in Him He incarnated in flesh for the sake of the Bhaktas Wonderful was His grace and kindness He drew the devotees to Him or how else one could have known Him For the sake of His Bhaktas Baba spoke such words as the Goddess of Speech dare not utter Here is a specimen Baba spoke very humbly as follows Slave of slaves I am your debtor I am satisfied at your darshan It is a great favour that I saw your feet I am an insect in your excreta I consider Myself blessed thereby What humility is this If anybody would think that by publishing this any disrespect is shown to Sai we beg His pardon and to atone for this we sing and chant Baba's name Though Baba seemed outwardly to enjoy sense objects he had not the least flavour in them nor even the consciousness of enjoying them Though He ate he had no taste and though He saw He never felt any interest in what He saw Regarding passion He was as perfect a celibate as Hanuman He was not attached to anything He was pure consciousness the resting place of desire anger and other feelings In short He was disinterested free and perfect A striking instance may be cited in illustration of this statement Nanavalli There was in Shirdi a very quaint and queer fellow by name Nanavalli He looked to Baba's work and affairs He once approached Baba who was seated on His Gadi seat and asked Him to get up as he wanted to occupy the same Baba at once got up and left the seat which he occupied After sitting there awhile Nanavalli got up and asked Baba to take His seat Then Baba sat on the seat and Nanavalli fell at His feet and then went away Baba did not show the slightest displeasure in being dictated to and ousted This Nanavalli loved Baba so much that he breathed his last on the thirteenth day of Baba's taking Maha Samadhi The Easiest Path Hearing the stories of the Saints and Being in their Company Though Sai Baba acted outwardly like an ordinary man His actions showed extraordinary intelligence and skill Whatever He did was done for the good of His devotees He never prescribed any asan regulation of breathing or any rites to His Bhaktas nor did He blow any mantra into their ears He told them to leave off all cleverness and always remember Sai Sai If you did that He said all your shackles would be removed and you would be free Sitting between five fires sacrifices chantings eight fold Yoga are possible for the Brahmins only They are of no use to the other classes The function of the mind is to think it cannot remain for a minute without thinking If you give it a Sense object it will think about it If you give it to a Guru it will think about Guru You have heard most attentively the greatness grandeur of Sai This is the natural remembrance worship and Kirtan of Sai Hearing the stories of the Saints is not so difficult as the other Sadhanas mentioned above They stories remove all fear of this Samsar worldly existence and take you on to the spiritual path So listen to these stories meditate on them and assimilate them If this is done not only the Brahmins but women and lower classes will get pure and holy You may do or attend to your worldly duties but give your mind to Sai and His stories and then He is sure to bless you This is the easiest path but why do not all take to it The reason is that without God's grace we do not get the desire to listen to the stories of Saints With God's grace everything is smooth and easy Hearing the stories of the Saints is in a way keeping their company The importance of the company of Saints is very great It removes our body consciousness and egoism destroys completely the chain of our birth and death cuts asunder all the knots of the heart and takes us to God Who is pure Consciousness It certainly increases our non attachment to sense objects and makes us quite indifferent to pleasures and pains and leads us on the spiritual path If you have no other Sadhana such as uttering God's name worship or devotion etc but if you take refuge in them Saints whole heartedly they will carry you off safely across the ocean of worldly existence It is for this reason that the Saints manifest themselves in this world even sacred rivers such as the Ganges Godavari Krishna and Kaveri etc which wash away the sins of the world desire that the Saints should come to them for a bath and purify them Such is the grandeur of the Saints It is on account of the store of merit in past births that we have attained the feet of Sai Baba We conclude this chapter with meditation on Sai's Form He the beautiful and handsome Sai standing on the edge of the Masjid and distributing Udi to each and every Bhakta with a view to his welfare He who thinks the world as naught and Who is ever engrossed in Supreme Bliss before Him we humbly prostrate ourselves Bow to Shri Sai Peace be to all myblue There are several reasons to plan a vacation trip to Bogmaló Beach, one of the most attractive beaches of Goa. Located just south of the Basqueda Gama and surrounded by green hills on three sides, it's golden sand and big waves. Bogmaló certainly makes a different experience. Furthermore, there is a mixture of serenity and merchandising dotted with natural beauty which happily lost amidst Goa. Not long ago, Bogmaló was just another small fishing village grouped by a pair of fridges with palm trees at the northern end of Colva Bay. You can still see these thatched villages located only in the sand. Bogmaló undulating with a small white chapel and washed and pigs roam through the garbage. Expensive coffee bars pulsating with Western music have crept into the beach while nearby streets are roamed by the indefatigable vendors. Fine craftsmanship of Kashmiri strong Anjuna Beach strong palm trees painted fluorescent and infamous full moon parties in Anjuna, 1 km west of Mapusa is Goa's best alternative. The designer leather and lycra may have passed in cotton kaftans but most people's reasons for coming are the same as they were in dancing and lying on the beach slurping tropical fruit. Browsing the region has a day trip to the famous flea market. La Playa app. One of the main sources of Anjuna's enduring popularity as a hippy hangout is its beautiful beach. Surrounded by coconut plantation, the curve of white sand is in line close to the archetypal vision of paradise than any other beach on the north coast. Bathing is generally safer than most stations nearby, including particularly in the quieter end of the south where a rocky headland keeps the calm and the undertow of the sea at a minimum. Queen Street West Through the day and into the small hours of the morning Queen Street West buzzes Students and trendsetters reinvigorated this old warehouse area in the s but nowadays the street is more varied with chic designer stores downbeat bars and stylish caf s mixed in with more mainstream offerings from the big chain stores The chief merrymaking is concentrated between University and Spadina a good place for budget restaurants and bars Kensington Market Kensington Market is one of Toronto s most distinctive and ethnically diverse residential areas It was founded at the turn of the th century by East European immigrants who crowded into the patchwork of modest houses near the junction of Spadina Avenue and Dundas Street and then spilled out into the narrow streets to sell their wares The bazaar they established in their small s houses has been the main feature of the area ever since Today Jewish Polish and Russian stall owners and shopkeepers rub shoulders with Portuguese Jamaican East Indian Chinese and Vietnamese traders in a vibrant street scene that always excites the senses The focal point of this open air market is Kensington Avenue whose lower half just off Dundas Street is crammed with thrift shops selling all manner of trendy retro bargains from original punk gear to flares Kensington Avenue s upper half is packed with fresh food stores filled with produce from every corner of the globe ranging from iced fish to stacks of cheeses and exotic fruits Yorkville In the s tiny Yorkville in the center of the city was the favorite haunt of Toronto s hippies With regular appearances by countercultural figures such as Joni Mitchell it was similar to London s Chelsea or New York s Greenwich Village The hippies have now moved on and Yorkville's modest brick and timber terrace houses have either been colonized by upscale shops and fashionable restaurants or converted into bijou townhouses. Designer boutiques, specialty bookstores, private art galleries, fine jewelers and quality shoe stores all jam into the neighborhood, attracting shoppers in droves. The area is a lovely place to sit at an outdoor cafe, nursing a cappuccino and watching the crowds. Yorkville and Cumberland Avenues are the center of all this big spending, as are the elegant and discreet shopping complexes that lead off them, especially the deluxe Hazelton Lanes at the corner of Yorkville Avenue and The Avenue, with its Ralph Lauren and Versace boutiques. The dropout philosophy has been thoroughly replaced by very chic stores; some of the most exclusive retail outlets in the country are found here. Although the recession in the '80s affected trade somewhat, the area is still prosperous and thriving. Cafe society really takes off at night; even so, Yorkville can be an expensive place to have fun.

Massachusetts O Ya Boston eatery O Ya is not your typical Asian restaurant. Here head chef Tim Cushman fills his menu with surprising flavor combinations that will have your taste buds dancing. On offer there's foie gras with balsamic chocolate, raisin, cocoa pulp and sake, or crispy sesame skin with yuzu honey, pickled ginger and schmaltz powder. With dishes like that, it's not hard to see why it came 1st in OpinionatedAboutDining's top

Places to see in Hisar Location and history Earlier it was spelt as Hissar it is a city based on Harappan culture in the state of Haryana Founded by the great ruler Firoze Shah Tughlaq the name Hissar means fortress in the Turkish language Hisar is said to have been connected with the ancient Vedic tribes Today it is the main cotton industry of India One of the most renowned educational institutions the Hissar Agricultural Institute is located here It was also called Hissar e Firoza which means the fort of Feroz The town of Hisar is located about km from Delhi the capital city of India Places of interest The Palace of Feroze Shah and the fort built by him is a remarkable place of visit

There is an underground chamber and also a mosque within the palace. Nearby the mosque lies the site of the ruins of the Harappan civilization. The Palace has its own beauty and charm. The Lat Ki Masjid is an outstanding structure representing the Suljuk style but the grid style is taken from the Hindu culture. Its unique style of lithic pillar and square chamber makes it different from the other mosques. The mosque is a L shaped mosque which is also a rare thing. The Humayun's mosque was also built by the emperor which is also a peaceful and charming place to visit. Another interesting place to visit is the Jahaz Kothi, a magnificent palace with a Mughlai touch. Jahaz Sahib was the Irish ruler who asked the Mughal rulers to build a palace for him. The Gujri Mahal is a palace made of stone and it is in ruins now but its raised platform which was used for social gatherings is still in good form. Just outside the fort is the Jain Pillar which is about 40 ft in height with the diamond shaped symbol on the top. It is regarded very sacred by the Jains. There are still some ruins of the Harappan Civilization present in the form of three mounds at Banawali, Kunal and Agroha. All the three sites show some or the other important relevant facts of the Harappan Civilization. Banawali shows the ruins of an ancient township. The three stages of development of the civilization can be seen at Kunal and it reveals the discovery of coins in the third century B.C. The tomb of the great Sufi saint Prannir Badshah is situated inside the Government College of Hisar, is also a tourist site.

Gander Bay is best known for its illustrious aviation history. Gander is a small town and a useful tourist center for fuel and food. In Grand Falls Windsor, 100 km miles west of Gander, the Mary March Regional Museum, named after the last survivor of the now extinct Beothuk people, traces years of human habitation in the Exploits Valley. Throughout Newfoundland, the Beothuks were decimated by disease and genocide. Behind the museum, visitors can take a guided tour through the historic village of Happy Valley-Goose Bay. The largest town in the wilderness of Central Labrador, Happy Valley-Goose Bay was a strategically important stopover for transatlantic flights during World War II. German, Italian and British pilots now train at the NATO base here. Today the town is home to the Labrador Heritage Museum where exhibitions depict its fascinating history. It pays particular attention to the life of trappers with displays that include animal furs, trapper's tools and a traditional

Sai Satcharitra Chapter Greatness of Udi Scorpion Sting and Plague Cases Cured Jamner Miracle Narayanarao s Sickness Balabuva sutar Appasaheb Kulkarni Haribhau Karnik In the last Chapter we described the greatness of the Guru now in this we will describe the greatness of Udi Preliminary

Let us bow now before the great saints Their merciful glances will destroy mountains of sins and do away with all the evil taints of our character Their casual talk gives us good teachings and confers on us imperishable happiness Their minds do not know any difference such as This is ours and that is yours Such differentiation never arises in their minds Their debts obligations will never be repaid by us in this birth as well as in many future births Udi It is well known that Baba took Dakshina from all and out of the amount thus collected He spent a lot on charity and purchased fuel with the balance left with Him This fuel He threw in the Dhuni the sacred fire which he kept ever burning The ash from this fire was called Udi and it was freely distributed to the devotees at the time of their departure from Shirdi What did Baba teach or hint by this Udi Baba taught by His Udi that all the visible phenomena in the universe are as transient as the ash Our bodies composed of wood or matter of the five elements will fall down after all their enjoyments are over and be reduced to ashes In order to remind the devotees of the fact that their bodies will be reduced to ashes Baba distributed Udi to them Baba also taught by the Udi that the Brahman is the only Reality and the universe is ephemeral and that no one in this world be he a son father or wife is really ours We come here in this world alone and we have to go out alone It was found and is even now found out that the Udi cured many physical and mental maladies but Baba wanted to din into the devotee s ears the principles of discrimination between the Unreal and the Real non attachment for the Unreal by His Udi and Dakshina The former Udi taught us discrimination and the latter Dakshina taught us non attachment Unless we have these two things it is not possible for us to cross over the sea of the mundane existence So Baba asked for and took Dakshina and while the devotees took leave He gave Udi as Prasad besmeared some of it on the Bhaktas foreheads and placed His boon conferring hand on their heads When Baba was in a cheerful mood He used to sing merrily One such song was about Udi The burden of the Udi song was this Oh playful Rama come come and bring with you sacks of Udi Baba used to sing in very clear and sweet tones So much about the spiritual implication of Udi It had also its material significance It conferred health prosperity freedom from anxiety and many other worldly gains So the Udi has helped us to gain both our ends material

as well as spiritual We shall now begin with the stories about the Udi Scorpion Sting Narayan Motiram Jani of Nasik was a devotee of Baba He was serving under another devotee of Baba by name Ramachandra Vaman Modak Once he went to Shirdi with his mother and saw Baba Then Baba Himself told her that he her son should serve no more but start independent business Some days after this prophecy turned true Narayan Jani left service and started a boarding house Anandashram which thrived well Once a friend of this Narayanrao was stung by a scorpion and the pain caused by it was severe and unbearable Udi is most efficacious in such cases it is to be applied on the seat of pain and so Narayanrao searched for it but found none Then he stood before Baba s picture and invoked Baba s aid chanted Baba s name and taking out a pinch of the ashes of the joss stick burning in front of Baba s picture and thinking it to be Baba s Udi applied it on the seat of pain and the sting As soon as he took out his fingers the pain vanished and both the person were moved and felt delighted Bubonic Plague Case Once a devotee in Bandra came to know that his daughter who was staying in another place was down with bubonic plague He had no Udi with him so he sent word to Nanasaheb Chandorkar to send the same Nanasaheb got this message on a road near the Thana Railway Station when he was travelling with his wife to Kalyan He had no Udi with him at that time He therefore took up some earth from the road meditated upon Sai Baba invoked His aid and applied it on the forehead of his wife The devotee saw all this and when he went to his daughter s house he was very glad to learn that his daughter who was suffering for three days began to improve from the very moment Nanasaheb invoked Baba s aid near the Thana Railway Station The Jamner Miracle About Nanasaheb Chandorkar was Mamlatdar at Jamner in the Khandesh District which is more than miles distant from Shirdi His daughter Mainatai was pregnant and was about to deliver Her case was very serious and she was suffering from labour pains for the last two or three days Nanasaheb tried all remedies but they proved in vain he then remembered Baba and invoked His aid There in Shirdi one Ramgirbuva whom Baba called Bapugirbuva wanted at this time to go to his native place in Khandesh Baba called him and told him to take a little rest and stop at Jamner on his way home and give the Udi and Arati to Nanasaheb Ramgirbuva said that he had only two rupees with him and that amount was barely sufficient for the railway fare upto Jalgaon and it was not possible for him to go from jalgaon to Jamner a distance of about miles Baba assured him that he need not worry as everything would be provided for him Then Baba asked Shama to write the well known Arati composed by Madhav Adkar a translation of this is given at the end of this work and give a copy of it with Udi to Ramgirbuva to be delivered to Nanasaheb Then relying on Baba s words Ramgirbuva left Shirdi and reached Jalgaon at about a m He had only two annas left with him and was in a hard plight To his great relief he heard somebody calling out Who is Bapugirbuva of Shirdi He went to him and told him that he was the person Bapugirbuva Then the peon professing to be sent by Nanasaheb took him out to an excellent tanga with a good pair of horses They both drove in it The tanga ran fast and early in the morning they came to a brooklet The driver took the horses for watering them and the peon asked Ramgirbuva to partake of some eatables On seeing the beard moustache and the livery of the peon Rangirbuva suspected him to be a Moslem and was unwilling to take any refreshments from him but the peon satisfied him by saying that he was a Hindu a Kshatriya of Garhwal and that Nanasaheb had sent these refreshments and that there should be no difficulty nor any doubt about acceptance Then both of them took the refreshments and started again They reached Jamner at dawn Ramgirbuva alighted to attend a call of nature passing urine and returned within a few minutes but found that there was no tanga no driver and no peon He was dumbfounded Then he went to the neighbouring Katcheri and making enquiries learnt that the Mamlatdar was at home He went to Nanasaheb s house and announced himself and gave to Nanasaheb Baba s Udi and Arati At this time Mainatai s case was most serious and all were in deep anxiety about her Nanasaheb called out his wife and asked her to give the Udi mixed with water to their daughter to drink and sing Baba s Arati He thought that Baba s help was most opportune In a few minutes came the news that the delivery was safe and that the crisis had passed away When Ramgirbuva thanked Nanasaheb for the peon tanga and the refreshments etc the latter was greatly surprised as he had sent none to the station and was not aware of any person coming from Shirdi Mr B V Deo of Thana Retired Mamlatdar made enquiries about this matter with Bapurao Chandorkar son of Nanasaheb and Ramgirbuva of Shirdi and after satisfying himself wrote an elaborate article part prose and part poetry in Shri Sai Leela magazine Vol Nos and Brother B V Narsimhswami has also taken down the statements of Mainatai No V page and Bapusaheb Chandorkar No XX page and Ramgirbuva No XXVII Page dated 1st June th September and 1st December respectively and published them in his Devotees Experiences Part III The following is quoted from Ramgirbuva s statement One day Baba called me to him and gave me a packet of Udi and a copy of Baba s Arati I had to go to Khandesh at the time Baba directed me to go to Jamner and told me to deliver the Arati and Udi to Nanasaheb Chandorkar at Jamner I said to Baba that all I had was Rs and asked Him how that could take me by train from Kopergaon to Jalgaon and next by cart from Jalgaon to Jamner Baba said God will give That was Friday and I started at once I reached Manmad at p m and Jalgaon at a m At that time plague regulations were enforced and I had much trouble I was to discover what I should do to get to Jamner At about a m a peon in boots turban and well equipped with other details of good dress came to me and took me to a tanga and drove me on I was in terror On the way at Bhaghoor I took refreshments We reached Jamner early in the morning and by the time I attended my call of nature the tanga and its driver had disappeared page Narayanrao Bhakta Narayanrao father s name and surname are not given had the good fortune to see Baba twice during the Latter s lifetime Three years after the passing away of Baba in he wanted to come to Shirdi but he could not come Within a year of Baba s Mahasamadhi he fell sick and suffered much All ordinary remedies gave him no relief So he meditated on Baba day and night One night he had a vision in his dream Baba coming to him through a cellar comforted him saying Don t be anxious you will be improving from tommorrow and within a week you will be on your legs Narayanrao got perfectly well within the time mentioned in the vision Now the point for consideration is this Was Baba living because he had the body and was He dead because He left it No Baba is ever alive for He transcends both life and death He who loved Him once whole heartedly gets response from Him at any time and at any place He is always by our side and will take any form and appear before the devout Bhakta and satisfy him Appasaheb Kulkarni In the chance of one

Appasaheb Kulkarni came He was transferred to Thana and began to worship Baba s picture presented to him by Balasaheb Bhate In real earnest he did the worship He offered flowers sandal paste and naivedya daily to Baba in the picture and longed intently to see Him In this connection it may be remarked that seeing Baba s picture earnestly is equivalent to seeing Him in person The following story illustrates this statement Balabuva Sutar A Saint of Bombay named Balabuva Sutar who on account of his piety devotion and bhajan was called Modern Tukaram came to Shirdi for the first time in When he bowed before Baba the latter said I know this man since four years Balabuva wondered and thought how could that be as that was his first trip to Shirdi But thinking about it seriously he recollected that he had prostrated himself four years ago before Baba s portrait at Bombay and was convinced about the significance of Baba s words He said to himself How omniscient and all pervading are the Saints and how kind are they to their Bhaktas I merely bowed to His photo this fact was noticed by Baba and in due time He made me realize that seeing His photo is equivalent to seeing Him in person Appasaheb Kulkarni To return to Appasaheb s story While he was in Thana he had to go on tour to Bhivandi and was not expected to return within a week In his absence the following wonderful thing took place on the third day At noon a fakir turned up at Appasaheb s house His features resembled exactly those of Baba s photo Mrs Kulkarni and the children all asked him whether he was Sai Baba of Shirdi He said No but that he was an obedient servant of His and came there at His order to enquire after the health of the family Then he asked for Dakshina The lady gave him a rupee He gave her a small packet of Udi and asked her to keep this in the shrine along with the photo for worship Then he left the house and went away Now hear the wonderful Leela of Sai Appasaheb could not proceed with his tour as his horse fell sick at Bhivandi He returned home that afternoon and learnt from his wife about fakir s visit He smarted in his mind as he did not get the darshan of the fakir and he did not like that only one rupee was paid as Dakshina He said that had he been present he would have offered not less than rupees ten Then he immediately started in quest of the fakir and searched for him in the Masjid and other places without taking any food His search was in vain He then returned home and took his food The reader may remember here Baba's dictum in Chapter that God's quest should not be made on an empty belly Appasaheb got a lesson here about this Then after meals he went out for a walk with a friend Mr Chitre Going some distance they saw a man approaching them rapidly Appasaheb thought that he must be the fakir that came to his house at noon as his features tallied with those of baba in the photo The fakir immediately put forth his hand and asked for Dakshina Appasaheb gave him a rupee He demanded again and again and so Appasaheb gave him two more Still he was not satisfied Then he borrowed Rs three from Mr Chitre and gave them to him He wanted still more Appasaheb asked him to accompany him to his home Then they all returned home and Appasaheb then gave him again three rupees in all nine He looked unsatisfied and demanded again Then he told him that he had a currency of Rs ten The fakir asked for the same and took it and returned the nine rupees in cash and went away Appasaheb had said that he would pay Rs ten and that sum was taken from him and nine rupees consecrated by Baba's touch were returned to him The figure is significant It denotes the nine types of devotion vide Chapter It may also be noted here that Baba gave Rs nine to one Laxmibai Shinde at His last moment Appasaheb examined the Udi packet and found that it contained some flower petals and Akshata Then some time afterwards he got hair from Baba when he saw Him at Shirdi He put the Udi packet and the hair in a talisman and always wore it on his arm Appasaheb realized the power of the Udi Though he was very clever he got Rs as pay in the beginning but after he secured Baba's photo and His Udi he got many times forty rupees per month and also got much power and influence and along with these temporal benefits his spiritual progress was also rapid So those who are fortune enough to get Baba's Udi should after bath apply it on the forehead and take some little of it mixed with water in the mouth as holy Tirth Haribhau Karnik In Haribhau Karnik of Dahanu Thana District came to Shirdi on the Guru pournima day in the month of Ashadha and worshipped Baba with all formality He offered clothes and Dakshina and after taking Baba's leave through Sharma got down the steps of the Masjid Then he thought that he should offer one more rupee to Baba and was just turning to get up when Shama informed him by signs that as he had got Baba's leave he should go and not return So he started home On his way when he went into the temple of Kala Rama at Nasik for darshan the Saint Narsing Maharaj who used to sit just inside the big door of the temple left his Bhaktas there came to Haribhau caught his wrist and said Give me my one rupee Karnik was surprised He paid the rupee most willingly and thought that Sai Baba recovered the rupee which he intended in his mind to give through saint Narsing Maharaj This shows how the saints work in unison This story illustrates the fact that all saints are one and shows how they work in unison Bow to Shri Sai Peace be to all shaped like an arm called Cape Cod and the islands of Nantucket and Martha's Vineyard to the south of Cape Cod. There are plenty of interesting places to visit, few of them are Salem. It is surely one of the most interesting places to visit in Massachusetts. There are many museums dedicated to the Salem witch trials such as the Peabody Essex Museum, the Witch Dungeon Museum, and the Salem Witch Museum. Gloucester and Rockport. These are located in Cape Ann and have real fishing communities, art communities, beautiful beaches, whale watches, and even more. Martha's Vineyard. It is an appealing island and has always been a popular tourist holiday spot. One should take a ferry from Woods Hole and then explore the sand dunes, New England architecture, and cranberry bogs of Martha's Vineyard on their own, and also can visit Nantucket instead. Mount Greylock. It has been a source of inspiration for American writers for a long time. The protected lands include acres and also the highest point of Massachusetts. Dunes at Cape Cod. It is an amazing sight to see more than acres of dunes covering about miles and running the entire length of Cape Cod. The best way to explore this is to hire a bicycle and ride along the old Indian trail and enjoy the beautiful views, the salt air, and the frothy waves. The Faneuil Hall. It is a historic marketplace built in the eighteenth century. The olden town of Lexington is noted for its Paul Revere journey. The Pilgrim Hall Museum. It is America's oldest public museum, while the Pilgrim Monument is the tallest granite monument in the country. Boston Skyline. The Skywalk viewing platform on the 10th floor offers spectacular views over the city. Boston's museums. Also in Boston, one can see the USS Constitution at Charlestown Navy Shipyard, soak up the culture at the Museum of Fine Arts, learn of the planet's living creatures at the famous Museum of Science, or hear Kennedy's famous speech at the John F. Kennedy Presidential Library and Museum. Old North Church. The oldest standing church in Boston is North Church, which witnessed the start of the American Revolution. Harvard University Tour. Harvard University in Cambridge is the USA's oldest university. Concord. It is one of the most historic and beautiful towns in the USA. Its Old North Bridge was the site of the shot heard round the world in the opening engagement of the American War of Independence. The engagement commenced on what is now called Battle Road in Lexington on April 19, 1775. New Bedford Whaling Museum. It is the world's

Old City of Jerusalem and its Walls

A person can decide to take a spontaneous trip down the scenic dr along Colombia River gorge at any time of the year The experience reminds you of spring regardless of the weather It is an eighty mile canyon connecting the Colombia River Cascade Mountain Range and Pacific Ocean There is a border between Oregon and Washington that is protected by the authorities. If you live inside of the Washington area, then make a plan of visiting the area. It is one of the most beautiful places in the entire State. There are a number of ways that someone can get to this destination, but it is easier to adhere to the adhering route. Take the I-5 and head towards Portland, take the exit on and join the I-5. Take the exit and divert to highway 101 east. When you get to highway 101, you are able to see the picturesque scene as you drive along. Right after some time, the highway splits into two lanes. If you are the one manoeuvring, you need to keep your eyes on the road because it is narrow and winding. The passengers are able to enjoy the entire journey without any restrictions. As you look across the river, you should be able to see Oregon. There is so much beauty in the rock formations, foliage, and waterfalls. These features rival Columbia when it happens to be beautiful. Additional down the path is Bonneville Dam. This area is known for generating hydropower and organizing annual Steelhead trout and salmon runs. There are fish ladders that you can use for viewing purposes. A person can take tours on the dam on their own or in groups. You will not be charged for visiting the viewing areas. It is possible to view the dam from either Oregon or Washington. As you drive additional down the highway, you will see the Bridge of the Gods. The first Bridge of the Gods was naturally created by a landslide that induced a dam on the river. This Bridge has been replaced with a steel one because it washed away with time. There is a lot of folklore about this feature. The current Bridge is used to connect the States; you have to pay a toll of one dollar to use it. The highway extends long right after the Stevenson and Skamania Lodge. If you opt to continue with the drive, then you will see more scenic features as you drive along. When you are manoeuvring back home, it is easier to use the four-lane freeway. As you use the freeway, you get to see the craggy mountains along Washington's side. This route has more mileage to cover, but it takes an equal amount of time to return to the dam. A person is also able to view the Multnomah Falls as well. If you have time, then you can take the Trail leading to the top of the falls and take photos from there. This is the kind of drive that someone can take over the weekend because there are lots of stops along the way.

Yellow Stone Park The Yellow Stone Park is situated at the source of the Yellowstone River. The Yellowstone River is believed to have got its name from the yellow rocks viewed in the Grand Canyon. The park itself includes sq miles encompassing lakes, rivers, canyons and mountain ranges. It is believed to have been home to the earliest known source of man dating back to years and is a treasure trove of natural ecological systems. The park is situated in the state of Wyoming while the remaining overflows into Montana and Wyoming. The temperatures in the park are quite unpredictable due to the different elevation of altitudes most of the park is situated feet above sea level with most of spring, fall and winter having sub zero temperatures. The summers could be pleasant at degrees centigrade however thundershowers are quite common in the afternoon. On a visit to the park ensure to be equipped with a wide variety of clothes. As one of nine islands positioned in Island County Washington in the United States Whidbey Island is one beautiful location you should take the time to pay a visit to The Island is strongly positioned involving the I corridor of Developed Washington and the Olympic Peninsula and considering the Island is situated north of Seattle it is a highly available location to pay a visit to for a weekend or a holiday The Whidbey Island provides unique experiences for its pay a visit toors both geological as well as cultural From Langley and Coupeville to the decidedly military milieu of Oak Harbour the miles km long island attracts all kinds of folks pay a visit toors with interests in history and geology folks who want to experience the great nature and go to safaris to watch white whales and outdoor enthusiasts. Not to overlook the many writers that have found inspiration on this great location and the painters that have portrayed the stunning sparkling bays. Vegetation varies greatly from one end of the island to the other and bird watchers from all over the world pay a visit to Whidbey. The rare and sensitive plants were in focus when Ebey's Landing National Historical Reserve was founded. The creation of this reserve was actually the first National historic reserve in the US, a point the inhabitants of Whidbey take great pride in. They are also very proud of their great recreation and discovering areas like the parks. In addition to the Reserve, Whidbey has the great Washington state Parks positioned on the island. Both Possession Point state Park and South Whidbey state Park are popular locations to pay a visit to, although they are not as full of historical anecdotes as the Fort Ebey state Park and Fort Casey state Park. Two other parks that should be mentioned are Deception Pass state Park and Joseph Whidbey state Park. It is easy to understand why these great locations have a continuous line of paying a visit, becoming able to offer something for almost everybody. The Whidbey Island hosts an annual word poetry festival and all through the island there are several locations where tourists may taste local goods like wine and Parmesan dairy products. There are Sunday Farmers markets, Arts and Crafts markets, and there are several areas for hiking. They even have a Wag and Walk hike where you can bring your dog. The most famed location on Whidbey Island is, of course, the Admiralty Head Lighthouse. Washington state Parks and Recreation commission owns this famed lighthouse and fort which are incorporated in the Fort Casey state Park. The lighthouse, which was designed in and then later redesigned, is full of historical importance, becoming once the one crystal clear light that guided tall ships toward the Whidbey Island shore. Today the lighthouse is an important tourist attraction. Because of a dedicated volunteer group, paying a visit is most welcome to pay a visit to the lighthouse. The great surroundings also attract many happy couples that want to host and have fun their wedding ceremonies there. As you understand the Whidbey isle has a wide range of opportunities and experiences and we can only recommend you to make this beautiful location your temporary home. A weekend, a holiday, on your own with your family members or good friends make this your next location to inhale You will not regret Kottayam is believed to have been built during the 13th century by Christians who migrated here centuries ago from Jerusalem. The Persian crosses, two huge granite structures, were brought here from another ancient church at Cranganore. Vembanad Lake, 16 km west of Kottayam, is the Vembanad Lake, the largest fresh water lake in Asia. The huge lake has helped much in promoting Kottayam as a major backwater destination. The shores and some of the islands situated in it house a number of exotic species of flora and fauna.

Things to Do in Kottayam Backwater Cruises

Kottayam is an enchanting place situated near the Vembanad Lake. The shimmering waters of the lake make a perfect backwater destination where you get to experience nature's splendor at its generous best. The luxury houseboats are packed with all the essentials which ensure that your stay on the houseboat becomes enjoyable and memorable. A backwater cruise promises to introduce you to places such that you may not have seen before.

How To Reach Kottayam

By Air

The nearest and most convenient air connection is Cochin, while an international airport is located at Trivandrum, which is connected with a number of overseas destinations. A daily Indian Airlines flight between Cochin and Delhi leaves Delhi at 10:00 AM and reaches Cochin at 6:00 PM.

By Rail

Kottayam railway station is located just 16 km from the main bus stand and connects the city with other major cities of Kerala through regular trains. The Kerala Exp. is a daily train which departs from Delhi at 10:00 AM and reaches Kottayam at 6:00 PM the next day.

By Road

There are two bus stands in Kottayam, both located close to the city centre at short distances from each other. Interstate buses run from the KSRTC bus stand, connecting Kottayam with other cities in Kerala and major neighbouring states.

By Ferry

The ferry boat stand is located just outside Kottayam at a distance of just 16 km from the railway station. The most interesting form of transport to move around inside the state, it connects Kottayam with Alleppey, Champakulam, Munnar, Ambalapuzha and Mankombu.

Location

Situated in the beautiful snow-clad mountain ranges of Dhauladhar of the Western Himalayas, Dharamshala is indeed a magnificent and a peaceful hill station for people who are mainly lovers of nature. While the lower Dharamshala is a commercial centre, now the upper Dharamshala has retained its uniqueness of British colonial lifestyle. It is the main important town of

Chapter And Chapter These two Chapters relate the story of a rich gentleman who wanted Brahma Jnana quickly from Sai Baba Preliminary The last Chapter described how Mr Cholkar s vow of small offering was completed and accepted In that story Sai Baba showed that He would accept with appreciation any small thing offered with love and devotion but if the same thing was offered with pride and haughtiness He would reject it Being Himself full of Sat Chit Anand Existence Knowledge and Bliss He did not care much for more outward formalities but if an offering was made in meek and humble spirit the same was welcome and He accepted it with pleasure and avidity In fact there is no person more liberal and benevolent than a Sadguru like Sai Baba He cannot be compared to the Chintamani jewel the Philosopher s stone which satisfies desires the Kalpataru the Celestial Tree which fulfills our desires or the the Kamadhenu the Celestial Cow which yields what we desire for they give us only what we desire but the Sadguru gives us the most precious thing that is inconceivable and inscrutable The reality Now let us hear how Sai Baba disposed of a rich man who came to Him and implored Him to give him Brahma Jnana These was a rich gentleman unfortunately his name and whereabouts are not mentioned who was very prosperous in his life He had amassed a large quantity of wealth houses field and lands and had many servants and dependents When Baba s fame reached his ears he said to a friend of his that he was not in want of anything and so he would go to Shirdi and ask Baba to give him Brahma Jnana which if he got would certainly make him more happy His friend dissuaded him saying it is not easy to know Brahman and especially so for an avaricious man like you who is always engrossed in wealth wife and children Who will in your quest of Brahma Jnana satisfy you that won t give away even a pice in charity Not minding his friend s advice the fellow engaged a return journey tanga and came to Shirdi He went to the Masjid saw Sai Baba fell at His Feet and said Baba hearing that You show the Brahman to all who come over here without any delay I have come here all the way from my distant place I am much fatigued by the journey and if I get the Brahman from You my troubles will be well paid and rewarded Baba then replied Oh My dear friend do not be anxious I shall immediately show you the Brahman all My dealings are in cash and never on credit So many people come to Me and ask for wealth health power honour position cure of diseases and other temporal matters Rare is the person who comes here to Me and asks for Brahma Jnana There is no dearth of persons asking for

wordly things but as persons interested in spiritual matters are very rare I think it a lucky and auspicious moment when persons like you come and press Me for Brahma Jnana So I show to you with pleasure the Brahman with all its accompaniments and complications Saying this Baba started to show him the Brahman He made him sit there and engaged him in some other talk or affair and thus made him forget his question for the time being Then He called a boy and told him to go to one Nandu Marwari and get from him a hand loan of Rs five The boy left and returned immediately saying that Nandu was absent and his house was locked Then Baba asked him to go to Bala grocer and get from him the said loan This time also the boy was unsuccessful This experiment was repeated again twice or thrice with the same result Sai Baba was as we know the living and moving Brahman Incarnate Then some one may ask Why did He want the paltry sum of five rupees and why did He try hard to get it on loan Really He did not want that sum at all He must have been fully knowing that Nandu and Bala were absent and he seems to have adopted this procedure as a test for the seeker of Brahman That gentleman had a roll or bundle of currency notes in his pocket and if he was really earnest he would not have sat quiet and be a mere onlooker when Baba was frantically trying to get a paltry sum of Rs five He knew that Baba would keep His word and repay the debt and that the sum wanted was insignificant Still he could not make up his mind and advance the sum Such a man wanted from Baba the greatest thing in the world viz the Brahma Jnana Any other man who really loved Baba would have at once given Rs five instead of being a mere onlooker It was otherwise with this man He advanced no money nor did he sit silent but began to be impatient as he was in a haste to return and implored Baba saying Oh Baba please show me the Brahman soon Baba replied Oh my dear friend did you not understand all the procedure that I went through sitting in this place for enabling you to see the Brahman It is in short this For seeing Brahman one has to give five things i.e. surrender five things viz Five Pranas vital forces Five senses five of action and five of perception mind intellect and ego This path of Brahma Jnana of self realization is as hard as to tread on the edge of a razor Sai Baba then gave rather a long discourse on the subject the purport of which is given below Qualifications for Brahma Jnana or Self Realization All persons do not see or realize the Brahman in their life time Certain qualifications are absolutely necessary Mumuksha or intense desire to get free He who thinks that he is bound and that he should get free from bondage and works earnestly and resolutely to that end and who does not care for any other thinks is qualified for the spiritual life Virakti or a feeling of disgust with the things of this world and the next Unless a man feels disgusted with the things emoluments and honors which his action would bring in this world and the next he has no right to enter into the spiritual realm Antarmukhata introversion Our senses have been created by God with a tendency to move outward and so man always looks outside himself and not inside He who wants self realization and immortal life must turn his gaze inwards and look to his inner Self Catharsis from Purging away of sins Unless a man has turned away from wickedness and stopped from doing wrong and has entirely composed himself and unless his mind is at rest he cannot gain self realization even by means of knowledge Right Conduct Unless a man leads a life of truth penance and insight a life of celibacy he cannot get God realization Preferring Shreyas the Good to Preyas the Pleasant There are two sorts of things viz the Good and the Pleasant the former deals with spiritual affairs and the latter with mundane matters Both these approach man for acceptance He has to think and choose one of them The wise man prefers the Good to the Pleasant but the unwise through greed and attachment chooses the Pleasant Control of the mind and the senses The body is the chariot and the Self is its master intellect is the charioteer and the mind is the reins the senses are the horses and sense objects their paths He who has no understanding and whose mind is unrestrained his senses unmanageable like the vicious horses of a charioteer does not reach his destination get realization but goes through the round of births and deaths but he who has understanding and whose mind is restrained his senses being under control like the good horse of a charioteer reaches that place i e the state of self realization when he is not born again The man who has understanding as his charioteer guide and is able to rein his mind reaches the end of the journey which is the supreme abode of the all pervading Vishnu lord Purification of the mind Unless a man discharges satisfactorily and disinterestedly the duties of his station in life his mind will not be purified and unless his mind is purified he cannot get self realization It is only in the purified mind that Viveka discrimination between the Unreal and the Real and Vairagya Non attachment to the unreal crop up and lead on the self realization Unless egoism is dropped avarice got rid of and the mind made desireless pure self realization is not possible The idea that I am the body is a great delusion and attachment to this idea is the cause of bondage Leave off this idea and attachment therefore if you want to get to the Self realization The necessity of a Guru The knowledge of the self is so subtle and mystic that no one could by his own individual effort ever hope to attain it So the help of another person Teacher who has himself got self realization is absolutely necessary What others cannot give with great labour and pains can be easily gained with the help of such a Teacher for he has walked on the path himself and can easily take the disciple step by step on the ladder of spiritual progress and lastly the Lord s Grace is the most essential thing When the Lord is pleased with any body He gives him Viveka and Vairagya and takes him safe beyond the ocean of mundane existence The Self cannot be gained by the study of Vedas nor by intellect nor by much learning He whom the Self chooses by him It is gained To him the Self reveals Its nature says the Katha Upanishad After the dissertation was over Baba turned to the gentleman and said Well sir there is in your pocket the Brahma or Mammon in the form of fifty times five Rs rupees please take that out The gentleman took out from his pocket the bundle of currency notes and to his great surprise found on counting them that there were notes of rupees each Seeing this omniscience of Baba he was moved and fell at Baba s Feet and craved for His blessings Then Baba said to him Roll up your bundle of Brahma viz Currency notes Unless you get rid completely of your avarice or greed you will not get the real Brahma How can be whose mind is engrossed in wealth progeny and prosperity expect to know the Brahma without removing away his attachment for the same The illusion of attachment or the love for money is a deep eddy whirlpool of pain full of crocodiles in the form of conceit and jealousy He who is desireless can alone cross this whirlpool Greed and Brahma are as poles asunder they are eternally opposed to each other Where there is greed there is no room for thought or meditation of the Brahma Then how can a greedy man get dispassion and salvation For a greedy man there is no

peace neither contentment nor certainty steadiness If there be even a little trace of greed in mind all the Sadhanas spiritual endeavors are of no avail Even the knowledge of a well read man who is not free from the desire of the fruit or reward of his actions and who has got no disgust for the same is useless and can't help him in getting self realization The teachings of a Guru are of no use to a man who is full of egoism and who always thinks about the sense objects Purification of mind is absolutely necessary without it all our spiritual endeavors are nothing but useless show and pomp It is therefore better for one to take only what he can digest and assimilate My treasury is full and I can give anyone what he wants but I have to see whether he is qualified to receive what I give If you listen to Me carefully you will be certainly benefited Sitting in this Masjid I never speak any untruth When a guest is invited to a house all the members of the household and other friends and relations that happen to be present are entertained along with the guest So all those that were present in the Masjid at this time could partake of the spiritual feast that was served by Baba for the rich gentleman After getting Baba's blessings one and all including the gentleman left the place quite happy and contented Special Characteristic of Baba There are many Saints who leaving their houses stay in forest caves or hermitages and remaining in solitude try to get liberation or salvation for themselves They do not care for other people and are always self absorbed Sai Baba was not of such a type He had no home no wife no progeny nor any relations near or distant Still He lived in the world society He begged His bread from four or five houses always lived at the foot of the Neem tree carried on wordly dealings and taught all the people how to act and behave in this world Rare are the Sadhus and Saints who after attaining God vision strive for the welfare of the people Sai Baba was the foremost of these and therefore says Hemadpant Blessed is the country blessed is the family and blessed are the chaste parents where This extraordinary transcendent precious and pure jewel Sai Baba was born Bow to Shri Sai Peace be to all

Sai Satcharitra Chapter Damu Anna Kasar of Ahmednagar Speculations Amra Leela Preliminary We begin this Chapter with a bow with all our eight limbs to Sai Baba Who is an ocean of mercy the God incarnate who is Para Brahman and the great Yogeshwara Lord of Yoga Victory be unto Sai Baba Who is the crest jewel of the Saints who is the home of all auspicious things who is our

Atmaram Dear Self and who is the able refuge of the devotees We prostrate ourselves before Him Who has attained the aim and end of life Sai Baba is always full of mercy What is wanted on our part is whole hearted devotion to Him When a devotee has got firm faith and devotion his wishes are soon fulfilled When the desire arose in the mind of Hemadpant to write the life and Leelas of Sai Baba He immediately got it written by him When the order to keep the memos was given Hemadpant was inspired and his intellect got strength and boldness to undertake and finish the work He was not he say qualified to write the work but the gracious blessings of Baba enabled him to complete the undertaking and thus you have this Satcharita which is a Somakant jewel from which nectar in the form of Sai Leelas oozes out for the readers to drink to their hearts content Whenever a devotee had complete and whole hearted devotion to Sai Baba all his calamities and dangers were warded off and his welfare attended to by Baba The story of Damodar Savalaram Resane Kasar of Ahmednagar now of Poona alias Damu Anna illustrating the above statement is given below Damu Anna The readers are aware that a mention of this gentleman was made in the th Chapter regarding the celebration of Rama Navami festival in Shirdi He went to Shirdi about the year when the Rama Navami Utsava celebration began and from that time he has been providing an ornamental flag for that occasion every year He also feeds the poor and the fakirs that come there for the festival His Speculations Cotton A Bombay friend of Damu Anna wrote to him that they should do some cotton speculation business in partnership which would bring them about two lacs of rupees as profit Damu Anna says in his statement made about the year to Mr B V Narasimha Swami that the proposal about speculating at Bombay in cotton was from a broker who was not to be a partner and that he Damu Anna was to be the sole adventurer vide P of the Devotees Experiences Part II The broker wrote that the business was good and involved no risks and that the opportunity should not be lost Damu Anna was oscillating in his mind He could not at once determine to venture in the speculation He thought about this and as he was a devotee of Baba he wrote a detailed letter to Shama giving all the facts and requested him to consult Baba and take His advice in the matter Shama got the letter next day and when he came with it at noon to the Masjid and placed it before Baba. He asked Shama what the matter was and what the paper letter was about. He replied that Damu Anna of Nagar wanted to consult Him about something. Then Baba said, "What does he write and what does he plan? It seems that he wants to catch the sky and that he is not content with what God has given him." Read his letter, Shama. Then said, "The letter contains what you have just said now. Oh Deva, you sit here calm and composed and agitate the devotees and when they get restless, you draw them here, some in person and others through letters. If you know the contents of the latter, why do you then press me to read it?" Baba said, "Oh Shama, read it please. I speak at random and who believes me?" Then Shama read the letter and Baba heard it attentively and said feelingly, "The Shet Damu Anna has gone mad. Write to him in reply that nothing is wanting in his house. Let him be content with the half loaf bread he has now and let him not bother himself about lacs." Shama sent the reply which Damu Anna was anxiously waiting for. Reading it, he found that all his hopes and prospects about lacs of rupees as profit were dashed to the ground. He thought that he had done a mistake in consulting Baba. But as Shama had hinted in the reply that there was always much difference in seeing and hearing and that therefore he should come to Shirdi personally and see Baba, He thought it advisable to go to Shirdi and consult Baba personally about the affair. So he went to Shirdi, saw Baba prostrated himself before Him and sat shampooing His legs. He had no courage to ask Baba openly about the speculation but he thought in his mind that it would be better if some share in the business should be assigned to Baba and said in his mind that if Baba were to help him in this transaction, he would surrender some share of profits to Him. Damu Anna was thus thinking secretly in his mind but nothing was veiled from Baba. Everything past, present and future were clear to Him as an Amalaka fruit in hand. A child wants sweets but its mother gives bitter pills; the former spoils its health while the latter improves it. So the mother, looking to the welfare of her infant, coaxes it and gives it bitter pills. Baba, kind mother as He was, knew the present and future prospects of His devotees and therefore, reading Damu Anna's mind, He openly spoke to him, "Bapu, I do not want to be entangled in any such wordly things, sharing profits." Seeing Baba's disapproval, Damu Anna dropped the enterprise Grain Dealing. Then he thought of trading in grain rice wheat and other groceries Baba read also this thought and said to him You will be buying at five seers and selling at seven seers a rupee So this business was also given up The rice in the prices of grains was kept up for some time and Baba s prophecy seemed to be falsified but in a month or two there was abundant rain everywhere and the prices suddenly fell down and therefore those who stored grains suffered a severe loss Damu Anna was saved from this fate Needless to say that the cotton speculation which was conducted by the broker with the help of another merchant also collapsed with a severe loss to the adventurers After seeing that Baba had saved him from two severe losses in cotton and grain speculations Damu Anna s faith in Baba grew strong and he remained a true devotee of Baba till His passing away and even now Amra Leela Mango miracle Once a parcel of about good mangoes was received at Shirdi It was sent from Goa by one Mamlatdar named Rale to Sai Baba in the name of Shama When it was opened all the mangoes were found to be in a good condition They were given in Shama s charge and only four were retained and placed in the kolamba pot by Baba He said that These four fruits are for Damu Anna let them lie there This Damu Anna had three wives According to his statement mentioned above he had not three but two wives only He had no issue He consulted many astrologers and himself studied astrology to some extent and found that as there was a papi inauspicious planet in his horoscope there was no prospect of any issue to him in this life But he had great faith in Baba When he went to Shirdi two hours after the receipt of the mango parcel for worshipping Baba He said Though other people are looking for the mangoes they are Dammya s He whose they are should eat and die Damu Anna on hearing these words was first shocked but on Mhalsapati a prominent Shirdi devotees explaining to him that death meant the death of the little self or egos and to have it at Baba s Feet was a blessing he said that he would accept the fruits and eat them But Baba said to him Do not eat yourself but give them to your junior wife This Amra Leela mango miracle of mangoes will give her four sons and four daughters This was done and ultimately in due course it was found Baba s words turned out true and not those of the astrologers Baba s speech established its efficacy or greatness while He was living in the flesh but wonder of wonders It did the same even after His passing away Baba said Believe Me though I pass away My bones in My tomb will give you hope and confidence Not only Myself but My tomb would be speaking moving and communicating with those who would surrender themselves whole heartedly to Me Do not be anxious that I would be absent from you You will hear My bones speaking and discussing your welfare But remember Me always believe in Me heart and soul and then you will be most benefited Prayer Hemadpant closes this Chapter with a prayer Oh Sai Sad guru the wish fulfilling tree of the Bhaktas Let us never forget and lose sight of Your Feet we have been troubled with the ins and outs births and deaths in this samsar now free us from this cycle of births and deaths Restrain us from the outgoing of our senses to their objects and introvert us and bring us face to face with the Atma Self As long as this outgoing tendency of the senses and the mind is not checked there is no prospect of self realisation Neither son nor wife nor friend will be of any use in the end It is only You Who will give us salvation and happiness Destroy completely our tendency for discussions and other evil matters let out tongue get a passion for chanting Your name Drive out our thoughts good or otherwise and make us forget our bodies and houses and do away with our egoism Make us ever remember Your name and forget all other things Remove the restlessness of our mind and make it steady and calm If you just clasp us the darkness of night of our ignorance will vanish and we shall live happily in Your light That You made us drink the nectar of Your Leelas and awakened us from our slumber is due to Your grace and our store of merits in past births Note In this connection the following extract from Damu Anna s statement mentioned above is worth perusal Page Once when I sat at His Feet along with many others I had two questions in my mind and He gave answers to both There are so many crowding to Sai Baba Do they all get benefit from Him To this He replied orally Look at the mango tree in blossom If all the flowers brought fruit what a splendid crop it would be But do they Most fall off either as flowers or as unripe fruits by wind etc Very few remain The second question was about myself If Baba were to pass away how hopelessly adrift I would be and how am I to fare then To this Baba answered that He would be with me when and wherever I thought of Him That promise He had kept up before and has been keeping up after He is still with me He is still guiding me This was about when brothers separated from me and my sister died and there was a theft and police enquiry all of which incidents upset me very much When my sister died my mind was much upset I did not care for life and enjoyments When I went to Baba He pacified me with His Upadesh and made me eat a feast of Pooran Poli at Appa Kulkarni s house and get pasted with sandal There was a theft in my house A thirty year s friend of mine stole my wife s jewel box including her auspicious Nathi nose ring I wept before Baba s photo The next day the man returned the jewel box and prayed for pardon Bow to Shri Sai Peace be to all

California is on the western coast of the United States. The state is approximately 1,400 miles km wide from its western beaches to its eastern deserts bordering the states of Nevada and Arizona. Wide variety of scenery and climates help to make California an immense place to visit. Few of them are San Francisco. This is the best city in the US and also one of the best in the world. San Francisco is definitely a great city for musicians and artists as it has much to offer them. It is located nearly 400 miles km to the north. This beautiful city hugs the slopes of a hilly peninsula on the shores of a vast blue bay amid the coastal mountains. Los Angeles. It would be impossible to understand California if one didn't spend some time in Los Angeles and the surrounding area. It has big and glamorous city Hollywood, luxurious of Rodeo Drive, the sunny beaches where girls do their tanning. It also has a lot of interesting museums, cultural events and art galleries. Disney Land. One of the most well known California destinations for the old and young alike is Disney Land. Everyone loves the Disney theme parks. Fun and entertainment on state of the art rides, interactions with everyone's favorite Disney characters, great food in themed restaurants and much much more make Disney Land favorite of all age group. Museum of Jurassic Technology. A collection both cryptic and illuminating dedicated to raising public appreciation of the Lower Jurassic. It's clever. Cryptic. Otherworldly. It may cause eye strain. And at some point as one move through the darkened rooms of the Museum of Jurassic Technology it can go wild. Museum of Death. Grisly romp through funeral customs, celebrity murders, freak animals and art of the condemned. Cathee and her husband James J D Healy owns the Museum of Death located along Hollywood Boulevard. Where the Stars End and the Darkness Begins as the slogan quips on the museum's glowing Death Clock. They collect everything and anything about death, everything from body bags, coffins, mortician instruments to execution devices to letters from murderers. The redwoods. Redwood National Park, trees the tallest in the world grow along the coast in a belt stretching all the way from Santa Cruz to southern Oregon Old growth redwoods are incredible but in a way that one can't really understand until they actually see them Napa and Sonoma Napa Valley Sonoma is internationally recognized as producing some very good wine These places of wine country Northern California are a fabulous area to visit From San Francisco the northern wine country is just a minute drive across the Golden Gate Bridge Death Valley Junction No trip to California is quite complete without at least seeing the vast desert that is Death Valley Death Valley Junction is the city closest to the National Park There are a few historic sites here as well mostly related to the railroad history of California Yosemite National Park The Yosemite Valley is surrounded by imposing Granite Mountains and beautiful waterfalls Yosemite offers joy by adventure sports Some of the key features of Yosemite National Park include El Capitan Half Dome Glacier Point Tuolumne Meadows Bridal Veil Falls Vernal Falls and Yosemite Falls

Musically the country has always had much to be proud of including composers Franz Liszt and Béla Bartók while in literature the Communist years produced some very powerful voices among them Tibor Déry and István Rékényi Otherwise the country is best known for its cuisine which incorporates a wide range of beers and meat based dishes such as goulash the latter invariably spiced with paprika the country's most famous export

Hungary History

In AD the Romans established the town of Aquincum near modern day Budapest and ruled the area corresponding roughly to Hungary then called Pannonia for three centuries The arrival of the Huns in the early 5th century led to the complete withdrawal of the Romans After the death of Attila the Hun in the area was ruled by the Goths the Longobards and the Avars The ancestors of the modern Hungarians the Magyars migrated from the Urals in under the leadership of Prince Árpád whose dynasty ruled until when King András III died without leaving an heir The throne then passed to a series of foreign kings including the French Angevins and the Lithuanian Jagielllos but the country flourished and during the reign of Mátyás Corvinus it became the greatest monarchy in Middle Europe Mátyás's marriage to Beatrice a Neapolitan princess saw the Renaissance blossom throughout Hungary but all was soon eclipsed by a series of Turkish invasions The Turks won a major victory at the Battle of Mohács in 1526 then they returned in to take Buda which became the capital of Ottoman Hungary To quell the Turkish advance the Austrians under Ferdinand of Habsburg occupied western or Royal Hungary while the central plains stayed under Ottoman control the eastern region including Transylvania now in Romania became a semi autonomous land feudally tied to the Turks Christian armies led by the Habsburgs fought to recapture Buda and finally defeated the Turks in 1686 prosperity came with Austrian rule but nationalism was cruelly suppressed culminating in a major uprising in 1848. After crushing the rebellion Emperor Franz Joseph I sought to unite the two nations and so created the Dual Monarchy of Austro Hungary in 1867. Following World War I the Habsburg Empire was dismantled and Hungary lost two thirds of its territory to the successor states of Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia and Romania. It was to regain these territories that Hungary backed Germany in World War II but in 1945 Budapest was taken by the Russians. The subsequent Communist rule was ruthlessly upheld most visibly in 1956 when demonstrations were crushed by Soviet tanks. Nevertheless free elections finally took place in 1989 resulting in victory for the democratic opposition. Since then the country has invested heavily in tourism which is now a major source of income.

Shopping in Canada offers more than the usual tourist fare of Mountie dolls and maple leaf T shirts. Visitors can choose from a wide range of products and buy everything from electronic equipment to clothes and jewelry. There is also a variety of goods unique to the country: maple syrup from Quebec, smoked salmon from British Columbia, and cowboy boots from Alberta, to name a few. Native art inspired by centuries old tradition includes carvings by west coast peoples and Inuit paintings and tapestries. In each major city there are covered malls, chainstores, specialty shops and galleries as well as street markets to explore. In country areas, beautifully made crafts by local people can be found. Be aware that sales taxes are added to the price of many items.

SHOPPING HOURS Store hours vary but in larger cities most stores are open by am and close between pm and pm. However, some grocery and variety stores are open hours a day and in major towns several pharmacies are also open for hours. In most towns stores have late closing until pm on Friday evening. However, in smaller towns and villages you should not expect any store, including the gas station, to be open after pm. Sunday openings are increasing; usually hours run from noon to pm but vary from province to province. Check first as many may be closed in rural areas.

HOW TO PAY Most Canadian stores accept all major credit cards, with VISA and Master Card being the most popular. Some stores require a minimum purchase in order to use the card. They may limit the use of cards during summer and winter sales. Direct payments or Switch transactions are also widely used, with point of sale terminals for bank cards available in most supermarkets and department stores. Travelers checks are readily accepted with proper identification; a valid passport or driver's license are the usually accepted forms. US dollars are the only non Canadian currency accepted in department stores. Bear in mind that the exchange rate is usually lower, sometimes as much as percent, than a bank will give. Large stores may offer money changing facilities within the store.

SALES TAXES Canadians love to curse the national Goods and Services Tax (GST) which currently runs at percent. It is added to most retail transactions; the major exception is basic food items. Visitors who are nonresident in Canada can apply for a GST rebate on most goods within days of purchase. This excludes restaurant bills, drinks, tobacco, or transportation expenses. Refund forms are available in airports, duty free stores, hotels and most Canadian Embassies Include original receipts when sending the application to Revenue Canada as photocopies are not accepted In addition to the GST most provinces add a provincial sales tax varying from percent on meals and store bought items Alberta the Yukon and the Northwest Territories do not impose this tax and Quebec Manitoba Nova Scotia and Newfoundland offer rebates to non residents

Sai Satcharitra Chapter Tested And Never Found Wanting Kaka Mahajani s Friend and Master Bandra Insomnia Case Bala Patil Newaskar This Chapter also continues the subject of the importance of the Udi it also gives two cases in which Baba was tested and not found wanting These cases will be taken up first Preliminary In spiritual matters or endeavours sectarianism is the greatest bar to our progress Those who believe the God is without form are heard saying that to believe the God is with the form is an illusion and that the Saints are only human beings Then why should they bend their heads before them and offer Dakshina Persons belonging to other sects will also raise objections and say Why should they bow and offer allegiance to other Saints leaving their Sadgurus Similar objections regarding Sai Baba were heard before and are heard even now Some said that when they went to Shirdi Baba asked for Dakshina from them Is it good that Saints should collect money in this fashion If they do so where is their Sainthood But there are many instances where men went to Shirdi to scoff but remained there to pray Two such instances are given below

Kaka Mahajani s Friend A friend of Kaka Mahajani was a worshipper of God without form and was averse to idolatry Out of curiosity he agreed to go to Shirdi with Kaka Mahajani on two conditions viz that he would neither bow to Baba nor pay Him any Dakshina Kaka agreed to these conditions and they both left Bombay on a Saturday night and reached Shirdi the next morning As soon as they put their feet on the steps of the Masjid Baba looking at the friend from a little distance addressed him in sweet words as follows Oh welcome sir The tone that uttered these words was a very peculiar one It exactly resembled the tone of the friend s father It reminded him of his departed father and sent a thrill of joy through his body What an enchanting power the tone had Being surprised the friend said This is no doubt the voice of my father Then he at once up and forgetting his resolution placed his head upon Baba's Feet Then Baba asked for Dakshina twice once in the morning and again at noon at the time of their taking leave but He asked it from Kaka only and not from the friend The latter whispered to Kaka Baba asked for Dakshina from you twice I am with you why does He omit me You ask Baba Himself was Kaka's reply Baba asked Kaka what his friend was whispering then the friend asked Baba himself whether he should pay any Dakshina Baba replied You had no mind to pay so you were not asked but if you want to pay now you may Then the friend paid Rs as Dakshina the same amount that Kaka paid Baba then addressed him a few words of advice You do away destroy the Teli's wall sense of difference between us so that we can see and meet each other face to face Then Baba allowed them to depart Thought the weather was cloudy and threatening Baba assured them of their safe journey and both of them reached Bombay safely When he reached home and opened the door and windows of his house he found two sparrows fallen dead on the ground and one just flying out through a window He thought that if he had left the windows open two sparrows would have been saved but thought again that they had met their lot and that Baba had sent him back soon just to save the third sparrow Kaka Mahajani's Master Kaka was the Manager in the firm of Thakkar Dharmasey Jethabhai a solicitor of Bombay Both the Master and the Manager were on intimate terms Mr Thakkar knew that Kaka was often going to Shirdi staying there for some days and returning when Baba permitted him Out of curiosity and just to test Baba Mr Thakkar decided to go to Shirdi with Kaka during Shimga holidays As Kaka's return was uncertain he took another man with him as an associate The three started together and Kaka bought two seers of raisins dried grapes with seed on the way for presentation to Baba They reached Shirdi in due time and went to the Masjid for darshan Then Babasaheb Tarkhad was there Mr Thakkar asked him why he came there For darshan Tarkhad replied Mr Thakkar asked if miracles took place there Tarkhad replied that it to see miracles was not his attitude but the earnest intentions of the Bhaktas were satisfied here Then Kaka prostrated himself before Baba and offered the raisins to Him Baba ordered them to be distributed Mr Thakkar got a few of them He did not like the raisins and he was advised by his doctor not to eat them without washing and cleaning them So he was in a fix He did not like to eat them nor could he reject them To keep up formalities he put them into his mouth but did not know what to do with the seeds He could not spit them out on the floor of the Masjid so he pocketed them against his wish He then said in his mind that if Baba was a Saint how could He be ignorant of his dislike for the raisins and could He force them on him When this thought arose in his mind Baba again gave him some more raisins He could not eat them but held them in his hand Then Baba asked him to eat them up He obeyed and found to his surprise that they were all seedless He wanted to see miracles and here was one He knew that Baba read his thought and as per his wish converted raisins with seeds into seedless grapes What a wonderful power Again to test further he asked Tarkhad who was sitting by and who also got some raisins What kind of grapes you got He replied They variety with seeds Mr Thakkar was still more surprised to hear this Then to confirm his growing faith Thakkar thought in his mind that if Baba was a real Saint the raisins should be now given to Kaka first Reading this thought also Baba ordered that distribution should be commenced from Kaka These proofs were sufficient for Thakkar Then Shama introduced Mr Thakkar as the master of Kaka upon which Baba said How could he be his master He has got a different Master altogether Kaka appreciated this reply Forgetting his resolve Thakkar saluted Baba and returned to the Wada After the noon Arati was over they all went to the Masjid for taking Baba s leave for their departure Sharma spoke for them Baba then spoke as follows There was a fickle minded gentleman He had health and wealth and was free from both physical and mental afflictions but he took on him needless anxieties and burdens and wandered hither and thither thus losing his peace of mind Sometimes he dropped the burdens and at other times carried them again His mind knew no steadiness Seeing his state I took pity on him and said Now please keep your faith on any one place point you like why roam like this Stick quietly to one place Thakkar at once came to know that that was an exact description of himself He wished that Kaka should also return with him but no one expected that Kaka would be allowed to leave Shirdi so soon Baba read also this thought to his and permitted Kaka to return with his master Thakkar got one more proof of Baba s capacity to read another s mind Then Baba asked Kaka for Rs as Dakshina and received it To Kaka He said If I take one rupee as Dakshina from anybody I have to return it tenfold to him I never take anything gratis I never ask any one indiscriminately I only ask and take from him whom the Fakir My Guru points out If any one is indebted formerly to the Fakir money is received from him The donor gives i e sows his seeds only to reap a rich harvest in future Wealth should be the means to work out Dharma If it is used for personal enjoyment it is wasted Unless you have given it before you do not get it now So the best way to receive is to give The giving of Dakshina advances Vairagya Non attachment and thereby Bhakti and Jnana Give one and receive tenfold On hearing these words Mr Thakkar himself gave Rs in Baba s hand forgetting his resolve not to do so He thought he did well in coming to Shirdi as all his doubts were solved and he learnt so much Baba s skill in handling such cases was unique Though He did all those things He was totally non attached to them Whether anybody saluted Him or not or whether anybody gave Him Dakshina or not it was the same to Him None He disrespected He felt no pleasure because He was worshipped and no pain because He was disregarded He transcended the pairs of opposites viz pleasure and pain etc

Insomnia Case A Kayastha Prabhu gentleman of Bandra suffered from Insomnia for long As soon as he laid himself down for sleep his departed father appeared to him in his dream and abused and scolded him severely This broke his sleep and made him restless the whole night Every night this went on and the man did not know what to do One day he consulted a devotee of Baba in this respect He recommended the Udi as the only infallible remedy he knew He gave him some Udi and asked him to apply a little of it to his forehead before going to bed and keep the Udi packet under the pillow He tried this remedy and found to his great surprise and joy that he got sound sleep and that there was no disturbance of any kind He continued the remedy and always remembered Sai Then he got a picture of Sai Baba which he hung on the wall near his pillow and started worshipping it daily and on Thursdays offering garland naivedya etc Then he got on well and forgot altogether his past trouble

Balaji Patil Newaskar This man was a great devotee of Baba He rendered most excellent and disinterested service Every day he swept and kept clean all the passages and streets in Shirdi through which Baba passed in His daily routine This work was after him equally well done by another female devotee named Rahda Krishna Mai and after her by Abdoola When Balaji reaped his corn every year he brought the whole quantity and presented it to Baba He returned with what Baba gave him and maintained himself and his family with it This course was followed by him for many years and after him by his son Power and Efficacy of Udi Once it happened that at Balaji s death anniversary day a certain number of guests were invited and the dinner was prepared for them But at the dinner time it was found that thrice the number of people invited had turned up Mrs Newaskar was in a fix She thought that the food would not suffice for the people assembled and that if it fell short the honour of the family would be at stake Her mother in law comforted her by saying Don t be afraid it is not ours but Sai s food cover every vessel with cloth putting some Udi in it and serve from the same without opening it Sai will save us from ignominy She did as she was advised and it was found to their surprise and joy that not only did the food suffice for all but plenty of it remained after serving As one feels intently so he realizes accordingly was proved in this case Sai Appearing as Serpent Once Raghu Patil of Shirdi went to Balaji Patil at Newase That evening he found that a serpent entered the cowshed hissing All the cattle were afraid and began to move The inmates of the house were frightened but Balaji thought that it was Sai Who appeared in his house as a serpent Without being afraid in the least he brought a cup of milk and placing it before the serpent said Baba why do you hiss and make noise Do you want to frighten us Take this cup of milk and drink it with a calm mind Saying this he sat close by unperturbed The other members were frightened and did not know what to do In a short time the serpent disappeared Nobody knew where it went It was not found though a search was made in the cowshed Balaji had two wives and some children They sometimes went to Shirdi from Newase for taking Baba s darshana Then Baba bought saris and other clothes which were given to them with His blessings Bow to Shri Sai peace be to all

Mount Hood Oregon is one of the most beautiful locations in the United States The history of the area is long and storied going back to the Gold Rush The scenery will take your inhale away and the fact that it is such a short push from the big city of Portland makes it the good spot for vacationers The reasons that people choose to visit Mount Hood are diverse Most people think of it as a ski or snowboard paradise but the fact is that it is a location that can be appreciated all year. There are several horse paths. The mountain climbing opportunities are some of the best in the region. Many people come just for the fly fishing, others for the plentiful deer and elk hunting. If four wheeling is your factor, path riding is extremely well known in Mount Hood. Some factor not to be missed in the course of your visit to Mount Hood is a ride on Mount Hood Railroad established in the earlier s. This trip through the Columbia Gorge and Hood river Valley is one of the most amazing train rides you will ever appreciate. If you have youngsters they will absolutely love this adventure. Be sure to ride in the dome car if you have kids as the view of the sky adds even more to the natural surroundings. It should definitely also be mentioned that Mount Hood is home to one of Oregon's largest ski resorts. Mount Hood Meadows sports elevations of more than feet and over acres of slopes. The elevation makes for some incredibly spectacular views while skiing or snowboarding. The good factor about Mount Hood no matter what time of year you are visit is that there is at all times some factor entertaining to do or see. It is truly one of the hidden gems of the Developed United States.

Sai Satcharitra Chapter Stories of V H Thakur Anantrao Patankar and Pandharpur Pleader In this Chapter Hemadpant relates the stories of Vinayak Harishchandra Thakur B A Anantrao Patankar of Poona and a pleader from Pandharpur. All these stories are very interesting which if very carefully read and grasped will lead the readers on to the spiritual path. Preliminary It is a general rule that it is our good luck in the form of accumulation of merits in past births that enables us to seek the company of Saints and profit thereby. In illustration of this rule Hemadpant gives his own instance. He was a resident Magistrate of Bandra, a suburb of Bombay for many years. A famous Mahomedan Saint named Pir Moulana was living there and many Hindus, Parsis and many others who followed different religion used to go to him and take his darshan. His Mujavar priest by name Inus pressed Hemadpant many a time night and day for going to see him but for some reason or other he was not able to see him. After many years his turn came and he was called to Shirdi where he was permanently enlisted in Sai Baba's Darbar. Unfortunate fellows do not get this contact of the Saints. It is only the fortunate ones that get it. Institution of Saints There have been institutions of Saints in this world from time immemorial Various Saints appear incarnate themselves in various places to carry out the missions allotted to them but though they work in different places they are as it were one They work in unison under the common authority of the Almighty Lord and know full well what each of them is doing in his place and supplement his work where necessary An instance illustrating this is given below Mr Thakur Mr V H Thakur B A was a clerk in the Revenue Department and he once came to a town named Vadgaum near Belgaum S M Country along with a Survey party There he saw a Kanarese Saint Appa and bowed before him The Saint was explaining a portion from the book Vichar Sagar of Nischaldas a standard work on Vedanta to the audience When Thakur was taking his leave to go he said to him you should study this book and if you do so your desires will be fulfilled and when you go to the North in the discharge of your duties in future you will come across a great Saint by your good luck and then he will show you the future path and give rest to your mind and make you happy Then he was transferred to Junnar where he had to go by crossing Nhane Ghat This Ghat was very steep and impassible and no other conveyance than a buffalo was of use in crossing it So he had to take a buffalo ride through the Ghat which inconvenienced and pained him much Thereafter he was transferred to Kalyan on higher post and there he became acquainted with Nanasaheb Chandorkar He heard much about Sai Baba from him and wished to see Him Next day Nanasaheb had to go to Shirdi and he asked Thakur to accompany him He could not do so as he had to attend the Thana Civil Court for a civil case So Nanasaheb went alone Thakur went to Thana but there the case was postponed Then he repented for not accompanying Nanasaheb Still he left for Shirdi and when he went there he found that Nanasaheb had left the place the previous day Some of his other friends whom he met there took him to Baba He saw Baba fell at His Feet and was overjoyed His eyes were full of tears of joy and his hair stood on end Then after a while the omniscient Baba said to him The path of this place is not so easy as the teaching of the Kanarese Saint Appa or even as the buffalo ride in the Nhane Ghat In this spiritual path you have to put in your best exertion as it is very difficult When Thakur heard these significant signs and words which none else than he knew he was overwhelmed with joy He came to know that the word of the

Kanarese Saint had turned true Then joining both hands and placing his head on Baba s Feet he prayed that he should be accepted and blessed Then Baba said What Appa told you was all right but these things have to be practised and lived Mere reading won t do You have to think and carry out what you read otherwise it is of no use Mere book learning without the grace of the Guru and self realization is of no avail The theoretical portion was read from the work Vichar Sagar by Thakur but the practical way was shown to him at Shirdi Another story given below will bring out this truth more forcibly Anantrao Patankar One gentleman from Poona by name Anantrao Patankar wished to see Baba He came to Shirdi and took Baba s darshan His eyes were appeased he was much pleased He fell at Baba s Feet and after performing proper worship said to Baba I have read a lot studied Vedas Vedants and Upanishads and heard all the Purnas but still I have not got any peace of mind so I think that all my reading was useless Simple ignorant devout persons are better than myself Unless the mind becomes calm all book learning is of no avail I have heard from many people that you easily give peace of mind to so many people by your mere glance and playful word so I have come here please take pity on me and bless me Then Baba told him a parable which was as follows Parable of Nine Balls of Stool Nava vidha Bhakti Once a Soudagar merchant came here Before him a mare passed her stool nine balls of stool The merchant intent on his quest spread the end of his dhotar and gathered all the nine balls in it and thus he got concentration peace of mind Mr Patankar could not make out the meaning of this story so he asked Ganesh Damodar alias Dada Kelkar What does Baba mean by this He replied I too do not know all that Baba says and means but at His inspiration I say what I come to know The mare is God s grace and the nine balls excreted are the nine forms or types of Bhakti viz Shravana Hearing Kirtana Praying Smarana Remembering Padasevana resorting to the feet Archana Worship Namaskara Bowing Dasya Service Sakhyatva Friendship Atmanivedana surrender of the self These are the nine types of Bhakti If any of these is faithfully followed Lord Hari will be pleased and manifest Himself in the home of the devotee All the sadhanas viz Japa vocal worship Tapa penance Yoga practice and studying the scriptures and expounding them are quite useless unless they are accompanied by Bhakti i e devotion Knowledge of the Vedas or fame as a great Jnani and mere formal Bhajan worship are of no avail What is wanted is Loving Devotion Consider yourself as the merchant or seeker after the truth and be anxious and eager like him to collect or cultivate the nine types of devotion Then you will attain stability and peace of mind Next day when Patankar went to Baba for saluation he was asked whether he collected the nine balls of stool Then he said that he being a poor fellow should first be graced by Baba and then they will be easily collected Then Baba blessed and comforted him saying that he would attain peace and welfare After hearing this Patankar became overjoyed and happy

The Pandharpur Pleader We shall close this Chapter with short story showing Baba s omniscience and His using it for correcting people and setting them on the right path Once a pleader from Pandharpur came to Shirdi went to the Masjid saw Sai Baba fell at His Feet and without being asked offered some Dakshina and sat in a corner eager to hear the talk that was going on Then Baba turned His face towards him and said How cunning the people are They fall at the feet offer Dakshina but inwardly give abuses behind the back Is not this wonderful This cap remark fitted the pleader and he had to wear take it None understood the remark The pleader grasped it but kept silent When they returned to the Wada the pleader said to Kakasaheb Dixit What Baba remarked was perfectly right The dart remark was aimed at me it was a hint to me that I should not indulge in reviling or scandalizing others calling by names When the subjudge or munsiff of Pandharpur Mr Noolkar came and stayed here for the improvement of his health a discussion about this matter was going on in the bar room at Pandharpur as it ever happens in many a bar room It was said or discussed there whether the ailments from which the sub judge suffered were ever likely to be got rid of without medicines by merely going after Sai Baba and whether it was proper for an educated man like the sub judge to have recourse to such methods The sub judge was taken to task i e he was ciritised as also Sai Baba I also took some part in this affair and now Sai Baba showed the impropriety of my conduct This is not a rebuke to me but a favour an advice that I should not indulge in any scandal or slander of others and not interfere unnecessarily in others affairs Shirdi is about Koss Koss miles distant from Pandharpur still Baba by His omniscience knew what transpired there in the bar room The intervening places rivers jungles and mountains were not a bar to His all perceiving sight and He could see or read the hearts of all There was nothing secret or veiled from Him Everything far or near was plain and clear to Him as broad as daylight Let a man be far or near he cannot avoid the all pervading gaze of Sai Baba From this incident the pleader took the lesson that he should never speak ill of others nor unnecessarily criticize them This his evil tendency was completely got rid of and he was set on the right path Though the story refers to a pleader still it is applicable to all All should therefore take this lesson to heart and profit thereby Sai Baba s greatness is unfathomable so are His wonderful Leelas His life is also such for He is Para Brahman Lord God incarnate Bow to Shri Sai Peace be to all

Satara Tour Surrounded by seven hills the city Satara in west Maharashtra is a natural gift near the confluence of River Krishna The one time capital of Marathas is encircled by Pune in the north Solapur in the east Sangli in the south and Ratnagiri from west Satara has diverse topography the Sahyadri and Mahadeo range stretches through the entire district The district has two main rivers namely Koyna and Krishna Krishna is one of the three largest sacred rivers of southern India which originates from the east crest of the Mahabaleshwar plateau and then divides into several tributaries Koyna is one of its tributaries and is the largest tributary of all Satara is a land of many renowned personalities Most notable among them are the fighter Zanshichi Rani Laxmibai freedom fighter Krantisinh Nana Patil the first lady teacher in India Savitribai Phule first Chief Minister of Maharashtra Yeshawantrao Chavan the great educationalist and founder of Rayat Shikshan Sanstha Dr Karmaveer Bhaurao Patil and Olympic Medal Winner Rajmata Sumitraraje Bhosale etc History The rich historical background of Satara district says that people believe Wai in Satara then known as Viratnagari provided temporary shelter to Pandavas in the 7th year of exile. Early North Satara was later renamed as Satara and the South Satara as Sangli. Climate: The temperature varies between minimum 15°C and maximum 35°C. With an average rainfall of 1200 mm, the distribution of rains is unequal like Mahabaleshwar receives heavy rains while Tehsil Man receives very less rains. Similar is the condition of distribution of vegetation: there are monsoon forests in the west, on the other hand there are scrub and poor grass in the east.

Tourist Attractions: The beautiful and cool hill stations Mahabaleshwar and Panchgani are the highlight of Satara district. Besides these, several attractions in Satara for visitors turn it out to be prime tourist destinations of the state. Some of the attractions for visitors include Kuraneshwar Temple or Khinditala Ganpati. Here you will find the temple of both Lord Ganesh and Lord Shiva back to back. This historical temple of Swyambhu Ganesh is the Gram daivat of Satara. Children enjoy gasping at playing rabbits and brightly coloured peacock. People of every age come here, some for praying, whereas some come to experience calmness in the nature's bounty.

Ajinkyatra Fort: The Ajinkyatara fort built by Bhojraj II is central to the city. The 1000 feet high beautiful fort can be seen from any part of city. Vis-a-vis it offers amazing view of the city. The high walls of the fort enclose many water tanks and temples of Devi Mangalai, Lord Shiva and Lord Hanuman in the north-east of fort. Historically, Ajinkyatara proved to be very important fort in Maharashtra as the erstwhile rulers used it to keep watch on entire South Maharashtra.

Thoseghar Water Fall: Thoseghar is a 100 feet high waterfall. This spot is a famous picnic place for people, especially in Rainy season. The natural beauty and pleasant climate compels you to visit Thoseghar during rains.

Chalkewadi: Hundreds of windmills spinning & producing thousands of megawatts electricity produce great sight at Chalkewadi. This place can rightly be quoted Garden of windmills.

Other main tourist attractions of Satara include Yevateshwar temple, Char Bhinti or Hutatma Smarak, Nataraj Temple, Kas Lake, Shivaji Museum, Shri Bhavani Museum, Anudh Siddhanath Temple, Mhaswad and Wai Ganpati Temple.

Sai Satcharitra Chapter Attending Mrs Deo s Udyapan Ceremony as a Sannyasi with two Others Trio and Hemadpant s House in the Form of His Picture In this chapter we give two stories How Baba attended the Udyapan ceremony of Mr B V Deo s mother at his house at Dahanu and How Baba attended the Shimga dinner party in Hemadpant s house at Bandra Preliminary Blessed is Shri Sai Samartha who gives instructions in both temporal and spiritual matters to His devotees and makes them happy by enabling them to achieve the goal of their life Sai He who when places His hand on their heads transfers His powers to them and thus destroying the sense of differentiation makes them attain the Unattainable Thing He who embraces the Bhaktas who prostrate themselves before Him with no sense of duality or difference He becomes one with the Bhaktas as the sea with the rivers when they meet it in the rainy season and gives them His power and position It follows from this that he who sings the Leelas of God s Bhaktas is equally or more dear to Him than one who sings the Leelas of God only Now to revert to the stories of this chapter Mrs Deo s Udyapan Ceremony Mr B V Deo was a Mamlatdar at Dahanu Thana District His mother had observed or different vows and a Udyapan concluding ceremony in connection therewith was to be performed This ceremony included the feeding of or Brahmins Mr Deo fixed a date for the ceremony and wrote a letter to Bapusaheb Jog asking him to request Sai Baba on his behalf to attend the dinner of the ceremony as without His attendance the ceremony would not be duly completed Bapusaheb Jog read out the letter to Baba Baba noted carefully the pure hearted invitation and said I always think of him who remembers Me I require no conveyance carriage tanga nor train nor aeroplane I run and manifest myself to him who lovingly calls me Write to him a pleasing reply that three of us the trio

Myself yourself and a third will go and attend it Mr Jog informed Mr Deo of what Baba said The latter was much pleased but he knew that Baba never went to any place except Rahata Rui and Nimgaon in person He also thought that nothing was impossible to Baba as He was all pervading and that He might suddenly come in any form He likes and fulfill His words A few days before this a Sannyasi with Bengali dress and professing to work for the cause of the protection of the cows came to the station master at Dahanu to collect subscriptions The latter told him to go into the town and see the Mamlatdar Mr Deo and with his help collect funds Just then the Mamlatdar happened to come there The station master then introduced the Sannyasi to him Both sat talking on the platform Mr Deo told him that a subscription list for some other charitable cause had already been opened by the leading citizen Rao Saheb Narottam Shetti and so it was not good to start another subscription list and that it would be better if he would visit the place after or months Hearing this the Sannyasi left the place About a month afterwards the Sannyasi came in a tanga and stopped in front of Mr Deo s house at about a m Deo thought that he came for subscriptions Seeing him busy with the preparations of the ceremony the Sannyasi said that he had come not for money but for meals Deo said Alright very glad you are welcome the house is yours The Sannyasi Two lads are with me Deo Well come with them As there was time hours for dinner Deo enquired where he should send for them He said that it was not necessary as he would come himself at the appointed time Deo asked him to come at noon Exactly at twelve noon the Trio came and joined the dinner party and after feeding themselves went away After the ceremony was finished Deo wrote a letter to Bapusaheb Jog complaining of Baba s breach of promise Jog went to Baba with the letter but before it was opened Baba spoke Ah he says that I promised him to come but deceived him Inform him that I did attend his dinner with two others but he failed to recognize Me Then why did he call me at all Tell him that he thought that the Sannyasi came to ask for subscription money did I not remove his doubt in that respect and did I not say that I would come with two others and did not the Trio come in time and take their meals See to keep My words I would sacrifice my life I would never be untrue to My words This reply gladdened Jog s heart and he communicated the whole of the reply to Deo As soon as he read it he burst into tears of joy but he took himself to task mentally for vainly blaming Baba. He wondered how he was deceived by the Sannyasi's prior visit and his coming to him for subscriptions how he also failed to catch the significance of the Sannyasi's words that he would come with two others for meals. This story clearly shows that when the devotees surrender themselves completely to their Sad guru. He sees that the religious functions in their houses are duly executed and complied with all the necessary formalities. Hemadpant's Shimga Dinner. Now let us take another story which shows how Baba appeared in the form of His picture and fulfilled the desire of His devotee. In on the full moon morning Hemadpant had a vision. Baba appeared to him in his dream in the form of a well dressed Sannyasi. He woke him up and said that He would come to him for meals that day. This awakening constituted a part of the dream. When he fully awoke he saw no Sai nor any Sannyasi. But when he began to recollect the dream he remembered each and every word the Sannyasi uttered in his dream. Though he was in contact with Baba for seven years and though he always meditated on Baba he never expected that Baba would come to his house for meals. However being much pleased with Baba's words he went to his wife and informed her that being the Holi day a Sannyasi guest was coming for meals and that some more rice should be prepared. She enquired about the guest who he was and whence he was coming. Then not to lead her astray and not to cause any misunderstanding he gave her the truth i.e. told her about the dream. She doubtingly asked whether it was possible that Baba should come there. Bandra from Shirdi leaving the dainty dishes there for accepting their coarse food. Hemadpant then assured her that Baba might not come in person but He might attend in the form of a guest and that they would lose nothing if they cooked some more rice. After this preparations for the dinner went on and it was quite ready at noon. The Holika worship was gone through and the leaves dishes were spread and arranged with Rangoli marks around them. Two rows were put up with a central seat between them for the guest. All the members of the family sons grandsons daughters and sons in law etc came and occupied their proper seats and the serving of the various articles commenced. While this was being done everybody was watching for the guest but none turned up though it was past noon. Then the door was closed and chained the

anna shuddhi ghee was served This was a signal to start eating Formal offering to the Vaishwadeva Fire and Naivedya to Shri Krishna were also over and the members were about to begin when foot steps in the staircase were distinctly heard Hemadpant went immediately and opened the door and saw two men there Ali Mahomed and Moulana Ismu Mujavar These two persons seeing that meals were ready and all the members were about to begin eating apologized to Hemadpant and requested him to excuse their interference They said You left your seat and came running to us others are waiting for you so please take this your Thing and I shall relate all the wonderful tale about it later on at your convenience So saying he took out from his arm pit a packet wrapped in an old newspaper cover and placed it on the table Hemadpant uncovered the packet and saw to his great wonder and surprise a big nice picture of Sai Baba Seeing it he was much moved tears ran from his eyes and hair stood on end all over his body and he bent and placed his head on the feet of Baba in the picture He thought that Baba had blessed him by this miracle or Leela Out of curiosity he asked Ali Mahomed whence he got this picture He said that he bought it from a shop and that he would give all the details about it some time afterwards and wished that as all the members were waiting for him he should go and join them Hemadpant thanked him bade them good bye and returned to the dinning hall The picture was placed on the central seat reserved for the guest and after the due offering of the Naivedya the whole party commenced eating and finished it in proper time Seeing the beautiful form in the picture everybody was extremely pleased and wondered how all this happened The is how Sai Baba kept up and fulfilled His words uttered by Him in the dream of Hemadpant The story of the picture with all its details viz how Ali Mahomed got it why he bought it and gave it to Hemadpant is reserved for the next chapter Bow to Shri Sai Peace be to all

in each season in Sydney are described

Buying Tickets

Some of the popular operas shows plays and ballets in Sydney are sold out months in advance While it is better to book ahead many theatres do set aside tickets to be sold at the door on the night You can buy tickets from the box office or by telephone Some orchestral performances do not admit children under seven so check with the box office before buying If you make a phone booking using a credit card the tickets can be mailed to you Alternatively tickets can be collected from the box office half an hour before the show The major agencies will take overseas bookings If you are desperate to see a sold out rock concert there may be touts selling tickets outside but often at hugely inflated prices If all else fails hotel concierges have a reputation for being able to secure hard to get tickets

Booking Agencies

Sydney has two main ticket agencies Ticketek and Ticketmaster They represent all major entertainment and sporting events Ticketek has more than outlets throughout the state open from am to pm Weekdays and Saturdays from noon to pm Telephone bookings can be made from am pm Monday to Saturday and am pm Sunday Overseas bookings can be faxed or booked online The Ticketmaster office is open Monday to Friday from am pm Other offices are open from am pm and can be found at the State Theatre Theatre Royal and the Capitol Theatre However you don t have to wait for a ticket office to open if you book via a website Ticket agencies usually accept traveler s cheques bank cheques cash VISA MasterCard Access and American Express However some agencies do not accept Diners Club A booking fee applies with postage and handling charge also added if tickets are mailed out There are generally no refunds unless a show is cancelled or exchanges available If one agency has sold out its allocation for a show it is worth checking to see if the other agency still has tickets

Discount Tickets

When a show isn t sold out Halftix offers half price tickets plus a small booking fee for the theatre concerts opera and ballet on the day of the performance only except for matin es and Sunday performances tickets to which can be bought the day before Bus tour theatre restaurant boat cruise art gallery and film tickets are also available at half price There is no limit on the number of tickets you can buy You can ring Halftix from am for recorded information on discounts available and the office is open from noon until pm Monday to Saturday Arrive early to avoid queues during the Sydney Festival Halfix is also a Ticketek agency for advance sales Mainstream cinemas sell a book of ten tickets at reduced rates as well as lower priced tickets on Tuesdays Some independent cinemas also have special mid week prices The Sydney Symphony Orchestra and Opera Australia offer a special Student Rush price to students under years old only when surplus tickets are available These can only be bought on the day of the performance A student card must be shown

Choosing Seats If booking in person at either the venue or the agency you will be able to look at a seating plan Be aware that in the State Theatre row A is the back row In Sydney there is little difference in price between stalls and dress circle If booking by phone with Ticketek you will only be able to get a rough idea of where your seats are The computer will pick the best tickets available

Disabled Visitors Many older venues were not designed with the disabled visitor in mind but this has been redressed in most new buildings It is best to phone the box office beforehand to request special requirements Ask about the best street entrance Sydney Town Hall has a wheelchair entrance in Druitt St and the Opera House has disabled parking wheelchair access and a loop system in the Concert Hall for the hearing impaired Ideas Incorporated has a list of Sydney s most wheelchair friendly venues

Sai Satcharitra Chapter Baba s Handi Disrespect of Shrine Kala or Hodge Podge Cup of Butter Milk In the last chapter we described Baba s Chavadi procession In this we take up Baba s Handi cooking pot and some other subjects Preliminary Oh blessed Sad guru Sai we bow to You Who have given happiness to the whole world accomplished the welfare of the devotees and have removed the affliction of those who have resorted to Your Feet Being very liberal and being the protector and saviour of the Bhaktas who surrender themselves to You You incarnate yourself in this world to oblige the people and do them good The liquid essence of Pure Self was poured into the mould of Brahma and out of this has come out the crest jewel of the saints Sai This Sai is Atmarama Himself He is the abode of perfect divine bliss Having Himself attained all objects of life He made His devotees desireless and free Baba's Handi Different sadhanas means of accomplishments are prescribed in our scriptures for different ages Tapa Penance is recommended for Krita age Jnana Knowledge for Treta age Yajna Sacrifice for Dwapara age and Dana Charity for Kali present age Of all the charities giving food is the best one We are much perturbed when we get no food at noon Other beings feel similarly under similar circumstances Knowing this he who gives food to the poor and hungry is the best donor or charitable person The Taittiriya Upanishad says that Food is Brahma from food all the creatures are born and having been born by food they live and having departed into food again they enter When an Atithi uninvited guest comes to our door at noon it is our bounden duty to welcome him by giving him food Other kinds of charities viz giving away wealth property and clothes etc require some discrimination but in the matter of food no such consideration is necessary Let anybody come to our door at noon he should be served forthwith and if lame crippled blind and diseased paupers come they should be fed first and the able bodied persons and our relations afterwards The merit of feeding the former is much greater than that of feeding the latter Other kinds of charities are imperfect without this Anna dana giving of food as stars are without the moon a necklace without its central medal a crown without pinnacle a tank without a lotus bhajan without love a married lady without the kumkum mark singing without a sweet voice or butter milk without salt Just as varan Pulse soup excels all other dishes Anna dana is the best of all merits Now let us see how Baba prepared food and distributed it It has been stated before that Baba required very little food for Himself and what little He wanted was obtained by begging from a few houses But when He took it into His mind to distribute food to all He made all preparations from beginning to end Himself He depended on nobody and troubled none in this matter First He went to the bazar and bought all the things corn flour spices etc for cash He did also the grinding In the open courtyard of the Masjid He arranged a big hearth and after lighting a fire underneath kept a Handi over it with a proper measure of water There were two kinds of Handi one small and the other big The former provided food for persons the later for Sometimes He cooked Mitthe Chaval sweet rice and at other times pulava with meat At times in the boiling varan soup He let in small balls of thick or flat breads of wheat flour He pounded the spices on a stone slab and put the thin pulverized spices into the cooking pot He took all the pains to make the dishes very palatable He prepared Ambil by boiling jawari flour in water and mixing it with butter milk With the food He distributed this Ambil to all alike To see whether the food was properly cooked or not Baba rolled up the sleeve of His Kafni and put His bare arm in the boiling cauldron without the least fear and churned moved the whole mass from side to side and up and down There was no mark of burn on His arm nor fear on His face When the cooking was over Baba got the pots in the Majid and had them duly consecrated by the moulvi First He sent part of the food as prasad to Mhalasapati and Tatya Patil and then He served the remaining contents with His own hand to all the poor and helpless people to their hearts content Really blessed and fortunate must be those people who got food prepared by Baba and served by Him Somebody may raise a doubt here and ask Did Baba distribute vegetable and animal food as prasad alike to all His devotees The answer is plain and simple Those who were accustomed to take animal food were given food from the Handi as prasad and those who were not so accustomed were not allowed to touch it He never created in them any wish or desire to indulge in this food There is a principle well established that when a Guru himself gives anything as prasad the disciple who thinks and doubts whether it is acceptable or otherwise goes to perdition In order to see how any disciple has imbibed this principle Baba at times proposed tests For instance on an Ekadashi day He gave some rupees to Dada Kelkar and asked him to go in person to Koralha to get mutton from there This Dada Kelkar was an orthodox Brahmin and kept all orthodox manners in his life He knew that offering wealth grain and clothes etc to a Sad guru was not enough but that implicit obedience to and prompt compliance with His order was the real Dakshina that pleased Him most So Dada Kelkar dressed himself and started for the place Then Baba called him back and said Don t go yourself but send somebody Then Dada sent servant Pandu for the purpose Seeing him starting Baba asked Dada to call him back and cancelled that programme On another occasion Baba asked Dada just to see how the saltish Pulava mutton dish was done The latter said casually and formally that it was alright Then Baba said to him Neither you have seen it with your eyes nor tasted in with your tongue then how could you say that it was good Just take out the lid and see Saying this Baba caught his arm and thrust it into the pot and added Draw out your arm and taking a ladle put some quantity in the dish without caring for your orthodoxy and without blustering When a wave of real love rises in a mother s mind she pinches her child with her hand and when it begins to cry and shout she hugs it close to her bosom Similarly Baba in a true motherly way pinched Dada Kelkar in this fashion Really no saint or guru will ever force his orthodox disciple to eat forbidden food and defile himself thereby The Handi business went on for some time till and was stopped thereafter As stated before Das Ganu spread the fame of Baba by his kirtans far and wide in the Bombay Presidency and people from that part of the country began to flock to Shirdi which became in a few days a place of pilgrimage The devotees brought with them various articles for presentation and offered various dishes of food as naivedya The quantity of naivedya offered by them was so much that the fakirs and paupers could feed themselves to their hearts content leaving some surplus behind Before stating how naivedya was distributed we shall refer to Nanasaheb Chandorkar s story showing Baba s regard and respect for local Shrines and deities Nanasaheb s Disrespect of a Shrine By drawing inferences or guessing in their own way some people said that Sai was a Brahmin and some that He was a Moslem Really He belonged to no caste No one knew definitely when He was born and in what community and who were His parents Then how could He be a Moslem or Brahmin If He were a Moslem how could He keep Dhuni fire ever burning in the Masjid how could there be a Tulsi Vrindavan there how could He allow the blowing of conches and ringing of bells and the playing of the musical instruments how could He allow all the different forms of

Hindu worship there Had He been a Moslem could He have pierced ears and could He have been spent money from His pocket for repairing Hindu temples On the contrary He never tolerated the slightest disrespect to Hindu Shrines and deities Once Nanasaheb Chandorkar came to Shirdi with his Sadu husband of his sister in law Mr Biniwalle When they went to the Masjid and sat before Baba talking the latter suddenly got angry with Nanasaheb and said You are so long in My company and how do you behave like this Nanasaheb then at first did not understand anything and humbly requested Baba to explain Baba asked him when he came to Kopergaon and how he came to Shirdi from thence Nanasaheb then at once realized his mistake He usually worshipped the Shrine of Datta on the banks of the Godavari at Kopergaon on his way to Shirdi but this time he dissuaded his relation who was a Datta Bhakta from going to that Shrine to avoid delay and drove straight He confessed all this to Baba and told Him that while bathing in the Godavari a big thorn went into his foot and gave him much trouble Baba said that that was the slight punishment be met and warned him to be more careful in future Kala hodge podge To revert to the distribution of the naivedya After the arati was over and after Baba sent away all the people with Udi and blessings He went inside and sat with his back to the Nimbar for meals with two rows of the Bhaktas one on each side The Bhaktas who brought naivedya thrust inside their dishes containing a variety of food such as Puris Mande Polis Basundi Sanza fine rice etc and kept waiting outside for prasad consecrated by Baba All the foods were mixed in a hotch potch and placed before Baba He offered it all to God and consecrated it Then portions of the same were given to the persons waiting outside and the rest was served to the inner party with Baba at the centre The Bhaktas sitting in two rows then dined to their hearts content Baba asked Shama and Nanasaheb Nimonkar daily to serve the consecrated food to all the persons sitting inside and look to their individual needs and comforts This they did very carefully and willingly Every morsel of the food thus partaken gave them nutrition and satisfaction Such sweet lovely and consecrated food it was Ever auspicious and every holy Cup of Butter Milk Once Hemadpant had eaten his full in this company when Baba offered him a cup of butter milk Its white appearance pleased him but he was afraid that there was no space inside for it He however took a sip which proved very tasty Seeing his faltering attitude Baba said Drink it all you won t get any such opportunity hereafter He drank it off then but found that Baba s words were prophetic for He passed away soon Now readers we have certainly to thank Hemadpant He drank the cup of butter milk but has supplied us with sufficient quantity of nectar in the form of Baba s Leelas Let us drink cups and cups of this nectar and be satisfied and happy Bow to Shri Sai Peace be to all

Navi Mumbai Tour Navi Mumbai is a sub urb of glamorous Mumbai city separated by Arabian Sea This beautiful city in Thane district was founded in The eminent city planners or architects saw an alternative of rapidly growing Mumbai city land limitation in the form of Navi Mumbai It is separated from Thane by the Thane creek Not many people are still interested in moving there With IT and ITES industries are gradually putting a firm foot and other businesses trying to gain momentum the scenario is soon expected to improve The twin city of Mumbai is the largest planned city in the world

The two areas viz Vashi and Nerul are popular as king and queen of Navi Mumbai respectively. Other regions of Navi Mumbai that are worth mentioning are Airoli, Kalamboli, and Taloja. The panoramic views of hills, gardens, waterfalls, and nearby popular hill stations Lonavala and Khandala magnetize visitors with its contemporary charms. Cricket is a popular sport in the city and finds its place in DY Patil stadium, which has been host to many International cricket contests including IPL T matches and the IPL T Cricket Final. Cricket enthusiasts rate it among one of the best grounds in India. City and Industrial Development Corporation (CIDCO) works responsibly towards the development of infrastructural needs of Navi Mumbai and thus is leaving no stone unturned to make it an independent, well-balanced, self-contained, and planned metro city. Navi Mumbai is a city of the 21st century which is indeed emerging as a new place for escape from the hustle and bustle of crowded Mumbai and a business and education destination. It is well connected with all parts of the country through a wide transportation network of Road, Rail, and Waterways. Climate: The city receives ample rains, so it doesn't see extremities of temperature. The wet sub-tropical humid or semi-arid climate is typically wet and dry. Temperature remains always fluctuating. During winter, temperature of Navi Mumbai varies between 15°C to 25°C while in summer, mercury reaches from 30°C to maximum 38°C. Annually, the average rainfall is 1200 mm and due to this, there is always humidity ranging around 60-80%. Places to see in Navi Mumbai: Beautiful Navi Mumbai or New Bombay is a booming satellite town about 25 kms to the northeast of Mumbai. In travel and tourism too, Kharghar Hills. The hills in Belapur are a cool place for hangout with friends on holiday and for a walk through in evenings and morning. Though being a must-visit place, avoid going to this fun-filled place during monsoon following the fear of landslide. Sarovar Vihar Garden: This garden situated nearby creek is a prominent retreat place, provides beautiful view of the sea. People relish spicy chat, watching variety of flora here. Thus, we may say that it is like a second marine drive. Pandavpada: Monsoon doubles the excitement cascading Pandavpada at Kharghar looks stunning during rains. Tourists see it as an ideal picnic spot. Rajiv Gandhi Maidan: Rain Tree, Marg temples of Balaji, Swaminarayan, Amritandamayi, and Narayanguru, Little Flower Church, Epsworth Methodist church, and Palm Beach are the other places that may interest people.

Qutub Minar is the pride of Delhi. The tall minaret was constructed by Qutab ud din Aibak and later completed by his successor Iltutmish. The soaring conical tower is an exquisite example of Indo-Islamic architecture. Qutub Minar is a World Heritage Site and has survived the ravages of time impressively. The Minar of Delhi is surrounded by a lush green garden which is an ideal leisurely place for visitors. Qutub Minar is the favourite destination of tourists. It is India's most visited monument attracting around million visitors every year. Each of the storeys and tower of Qutub Minar has unique designs. It was hit by lightning couple of times and was damaged. The subsequent rulers repaired it. Thus it is standing mightily as it was before till date. Qutub Minar is a great masterpiece of Mughal architecture. The base of the Qutub Minar measures meters and the top of the structure measures meters. The bird eye's view of Delhi city from the top is amazing. The base of first storey has alternate angular and circular flutings the second one is round. The third storey of the Qutub Minar has angular flutings. The balconies projecting out heighten the beauty of the Minar. The tower is so high that around steps are needed to be climbed to reach the top. Another taller tower adjacent to Qutub Minar is named Alai Minar which is somewhat tilted in one direction. The verses from the holy Qur'an are carved on sandstone walls of Qutub Minar. This monument serves the purpose of calling people for prayer in the Quwwat ul Islam mosque. This is a tower of victory, a monument that signifies the might of Islam or a tower for keeping a check for defense. Tourist attractions near Qutub Minar. Qutub Minar has some adjoining structures that lend shine to some of its fame. The Qutub complex houses the iron wonder nearby. The Iron Pillar is one of the metallurgical interests of the world. It is a thing to study as well as famous tourist destination. Traditionally people believe that if anyone standing in front of pillar with his back towards the column can encircle it with their arms, all his wishes will be fulfilled. Government has built a fence around it for safety. An earthquake damaged top two floors of the minar during the rule of Firoz Shah but was repaired by Firoz Shah himself. He built marble pavilions here. In the year earthquake again damaged it and was repaired by Sikandar Lodi. Once again the minar faced earthquake in the year then Major Smith refurbished the affected parts of the minar and replaced Firoz Shah s pavilion with his own pavilion This pavilion was again removed in the year by Lord Hardinge Now it can be seen lying between the Dak Bungalow and the Minar in the garden Many natural conditions weathered the minar but it is still standing with all the might owing to time to time renovations and reinstated and renovated by the respective rulers

Sai Satcharitra Chapter Favour Shown by Giving Bhagwat and Vishnu Sahasra Nam Dixit s Vitthal Vision Gita Rahasya Khapardes This Chapter describes how Sai Baba favoured His devotees by granting them religious books after he had touched and consecrated them for parayana reading regularly and certain other matters Preliminary When a man takes a plunge into the sea he gets the merit of bathing in all the Tirthas and sacred rivers Similarly when a man takes refuge at the feet of the Sad guru he gets the merit of bowing to the Trinity i e Brahma Vishnu and Mahesh and also Para Brahma Victory be unto Shri Sai the wish fulfilling tree and the ocean of knowledge who gives us self realisation Oh Sai create in us regard for Your stories Let the readers and audience devour them with the same relish with which the chatak bird drinks the water from the clouds and becomes happy While listening to Your stories let them and their families get all the sattwik emotions viz let their bodies perspire let their eyes be full of tears let their prana be steady let their minds be composed let their hair stand on end let them cry sob and shake let their hostilities and their distinctions great and small vanish If these things happen that is a sign of the grace of the Guru dawning upon them When these emotions develop in you the Guru is most pleased and will certainly lead you on to the goal of self realisation The best way therefore to get free from the shackles of Maya is our complete and whole hearted surrender to Baba The Vedas cannot take you across the ocean of Maya It is only the Sad guru who can do so and make you see the Lord in all creatures

Granting Consecrated Book The variety of imparting instructions followed by Baba has already been noticed in the previous Chapters In this we shall deal with one aspect of it It was the habit of some devotees to take some religious books of which they wanted to make a special study to Baba and to receive the same back from Him after they were touched and consecrated by Him While reading daily such books they felt that Baba was with them Once Kaka Mahajani came to Shirdi with a copy of Ekanathi Bhagwat Shama took that book to read and taking it with him went to the Masjid There Baba took it from him touched it and turning some pages here and there gave it back to Shama and asked him to keep it with him When Shama said that it belonged to Kaka and had to be returned to him No no said Baba As I have given it to you better keep it with you for safe custody it will be of use to you In this way many books were entrusted to Shama Kaka Mahajani after a some days came again with another copy of the same Bhagwat and gave it in Baba s hand Then Baba gave it back as Prasad and asked him to preserve it well and assured him that it would stand him in good stead Kaka accepted it with a bow Shama and Vishnu Sahasra Nam Shama was a very intimate devotee of Baba and Baba wanted to favour him in a particular way by giving him a copy of Vishnu Sahasra Nam as Prasad This was done in the following way Once a Ramadas follower of Saint Ramadas came to Shirdi and stayed for some time The routine he followed daily was as follows He got up early in the morning washed his face bathed and then after wearing saffron coloured clothes and besmearing himself with sacred ashes read Vishnu Sahasra Nam a book giving a thousand names in praise of Vishnu and held second in importance to Bhagwad Geeta and Adhyatma Ramayana Esoteric version of Rama s story with faith He read these books often and often and then after some days Baba thought of favouring and initiating Shama with Vishnu Sahasra Nam He therefore called the Ramadas to Him and said to him that He was suffering from intense stomach pain and unless He took Senna pods Sona mukhi a mild purgative drug the pain would not stop so he should please go to the bazar and bring the drug The Ramadas closed his reading and went to the bazar Then Baba descended from His seat came to the Ramadas's place of reading took out the copy of Vishnu Sahasra Nam and coming to His seat said to Shama Oh Shama this book is very valuable and efficacious so I present it to you you read it Once I suffered intensely and My heart began to palpitate and My life was in danger At that critical time I hugged this book to My heart and then Shama what a relief it gave me I thought that Allah Himself came down and saved Me So I give this to you read it slowly little by little read daily one name at least and it will do you good Shama replied that he did not want it and that the owner of it the Ramadas who was a mad obstinate and irritable fellow would certainly pick up a quarrel with him besides being a rustic himself he could not read distinctly the Sanskrit Devanagari letters of the book Shama thought that Baba wanted to set him up against the Ramadas by this act of His but he had no idea of what Baba felt for him Baba must have thought to tie this necklace of Vishnu Sahasra Nam round the neck of Shama as he was an intimate devotee though a rustic and thus save him from the miseries of the worldly existence The efficacy of God's Name is well known It saves us from all sins and bad tendencies frees us from the cycle of births and deaths There is no easier sadhana than this It is the best purifier of our mind It requires no paraphernalia and no restrictions It is so easy and so effective This sadhana Baba wanted Shama to practise though he did not crave for it So Baba forced this on him It is also reported that long ago Eknath Maharaj similarly forced this Vishnu Sahasra Nam on a poor Brahmin neighbour and thus saved him The reading and study of this Vishnu Sahasra Nam is a broad open way of purifying the mind and hence Baba thrust this on His Shama The Ramadas returned soon with the Senna pods Anna Chinchaniakar who was then present and who wanted to play the part of Narada the Celestial Rishi who was well known for setting up quarrels between Gods and demons and vice versa informed him of what had happened The Ramadas at once flared up He came down at once on Shama with all fury He said that it was Shama who set Baba to send him away under the pretext of stomach ache for bringing the medicine and thus got the book He began to scold and abuse Shama and remarked that if the book be not returned he would dash his head before him Shama calmly remonstrated with him but in vain Then Baba spoke kindly to him as follows Oh Ramadasi what is the matter with you Why are you so turbulent Is not Shama our boy Why do you scold him unnecessarily How is it that you are so quarrelsome Can you not speak soft and sweet words You read daily these sacred books and still your mind is impure and your passions uncontrolled What sort of a Ramadasi you are You ought to be indifferent to all things Is it not strange that you should covet this book so strongly A true Ramadasi should have no mamata attachment but have samata equality towards all You are now quarrelling with the boy Shama for a mere book Go take your seat books can be had in plenty for money but not men think well and be considerate What worth is your book Shama had no concern with it I took it up Myself and gave it to him You know it by heart I thought Shama might read it and profit thereby and so I gave to it him How sweet were these words of Baba soft tender and nectar like Their effect was wonderful The Ramadasi calmed down and said to Shama that he would take Panch ratni Geeta in return Shama was much pleased and said Why one I shall give ten copies in return So the matter was ultimately compromised The question for consideration is Why should the Ramadasi press for Pancha ratni Geeta the God in which he never cared to know and why should he who daily read religious books in the Masjid in front of Baba quarrel with Shama before Him We do not know how to apportion the blame and whom to blame We only say that had this procedure been not gone through the importance of the subject the efficacy of God s name and the study of Vishnu Sahasra Nam would not have been brought home to Shama So we see that Baba s method of teaching and initiating was unique In this cases Shama did gradually study the book and mastered its contents to such an extent that he was able to explain it to Professor G G Narke M A of the College of Engineering Poona the son in law of Shriman Booty and a devotee of Baba Vitthal Vision One day while Kakasaheb Dixit was in mediation after his morning bath in his Wada at Shirdi he saw a vision of

Vitthal When he went to see Baba afterwards Baba asked him Did vitthal Patil come did you not see Him He is very elusive hold Him fast otherwise He will give you the slip and run away Then at noon a certain hawker came there with or pictures of Vitthal of Pandharpur for sale Mr Dixit was surprised to see that the form of Vithal he saw in his mediation exactly tallied with that in the picture and he was also reminded of Baba s words He therefore bought one picture most willingly and kept it in his shrine for worship Geeta Rahasya Baba always loved those who studied Brahma vidya metaphysics and encouraged them To give an instance Once Bapusaheb Jog received a post parcel It contained a copy of Geeta Rahasya by Lokamanya Tilak Taking it under his armpit he came to the Masjid and prostrated himself before Baba when the parcel fell at Baba s Feet Baba enquired what it was It was opened then and there and the book was placed in Baba s hand He turned some pages here and there for a few minutes and took out a rupee from His pocket placed it on the book and handed the same with the rupee to Jog and said to him Read this completely and you will be benefited Mr and Mrs Khaparde Let us close this Chapter with a description of the Khapardes Once Dadasaheb Khaparde came with his family and lived in Shirdi for some months The diary of his stay has been published in English in the Shri Sai Leela Magazine first Volume Dadasaheb was not an ordinary man He was the richest and the most famous advocate of Amraoti Berar and was a member of the Council of State Delhi He was very intelligent and a very good speaker Still he dared not open his mouth before Baba Most devotees spoke and argued with Baba off and on but only three viz Khaparde Noolkar and Booty kept always silent They were meek modest humble and goodnatured Dadasaheb who was able to expound Panchadashi A well known Sanskrit treatise on the Adwaita Philosophy by the famous Vidyaranya to others said nothing or uttered no word when he came to the Masjid before Baba Really a man however learned he may be even in Vedas fades away before one who was realised Brahman and become one with it Learning cannot shine before Self realisation Dadasaheb stayed for four months but Mrs Khaparde stayed for seven Both were highly pleased with their Shirdi stay Mrs Khaparde was faithful and devout and loved Baba deeply Every noon she brought naivedya herself to the Masjid and after it was accepted by Baba she used to return and take her meals Seeing her steady and firm devotion Baba wanted to exhibit it to others One noon she brought a dish containing Sanza wheat pudding purees rice soup and kheer sweet rice and other sundry articles to the Masjid Baba who usually waited for hours got up at once went up to His dining seat and removing the outer covering from the dish began to partake of the things zealously Shama then asked Him Why this partiality You throw away dishes of others and do not care to look at them but this You draw to You earnestly and do justice to it Why is the dish of this woman so sweet This is a problem to us Baba then explained This food is really extra ordinary In former birth this lady was a merchant s fat cow yielding much milk Then she disappeared and took birth in a gardener s family then in a Kshatriya family and married a merchant Then she was born in a Brahmin family I saw her after a very long time let Me take some sweet morsels of love from her dish Saying this Baba did full justice to her dish washed his mouth and hands gave out some belches as a mark of satisfaction and resumed His seat Then she made a bow and began to shampoo Baba s legs and Baba began to talk with her and knead her arms which were shampooing His Legs On seeing this reciprocal service Shama began to joke and said It is going on well it is a wonderful sight to see God and His Bhakta serving each other After being pleased with her sincere service Baba asked her in low and fascinating tone to chant Rajarama Rajarama then and always and said If you do this your life s object will be gained your mind will attain peace and you will be immensely benefited To persons unfamiliar with spiritual matters this might appear as affair but really it was not so It was a case of what is technically called Shakti pat i e transference of power from the Guru to the disciple How forcible and effective were Baba s words In an instant they pierced her heart and found lodgement there This case illustrates the nature of the relations that should subsist between the Guru and the disciple Both should love and serve each other as One There is no distinction nor any difference between them Both are One and one cannot live without the other The disciple placing his head on the Guru s feet is a gross or outward vision really and internally they are both one and the same Those who see any difference between them are yet unripe and not perfect Bow to Shri Sai Peace be to all

Queen s Park Despite being ringed by a road that links two of downtown s busiest streets Queen s Park is a peaceful and pleasant grassy space perfect for catching your breath when visiting the closely packed sights in the surrounding area The park is fringed to the west by the th century buildings of the University while the Royal Ontario Museum and the George R Gardiner Museum of Ceramic Art lie to the north Since the Legislative Buildings lie right in the middle of the park its tranquility is occasionally broken by political protesters and special interest groups loudly proclaiming their displeasure with the provincial government Ontario Place This excellent theme park will appeal to families with young children Built over Lake Ontario on three artificial islets the clean and fairly tame fun is largely waterbased with paddle boats log flumes water slides and splash ponds The atmosphere changes at night when large pop concerts are staged at the Molson Amphitheatre The globular Cinesphere houses the first ever permanent IMAX Theater This large format cinema technology was developed in Toronto by the IMAX Corporation in The Toronto Islands In Lake Ontario just offshore from the city the three lowlying Toronto Islands connected by footbridges shelter Toronto s harbor and provide easy going recreation in a carfree environment Here amid the cool lake breezes visitors can escape the extremes of the summer heat which can reach up to C F In good weather there are views of the top of the CN Tower It takes about half an hour to walk from one end of the islands to the other In the east is Ward s Island a sleepy residential area with parkland and wilderness Centre Island home to the Centreville Amusement Park for children is in the middle and to the west lies the isle of Hanlan s Point with the Islands best beach The Beaches and Scarborough Bluffs The Beaches is one of Toronto s most beguiling neighborhoods its narrow leafy streets running up from the lakeshore and lined by attractive brick houses with verandas The area lies to the east of downtown between Woodbine Avenue and Victoria Park Avenue Queen Street East the main thoroughfare is liberally sprinkled with excellent cafés and designer clothes shops. Until very recently the Beaches was a restrained and quiet neighborhood but its long sandy beach and boardwalk have made it extremely fashionable. Real estate prices have risen dramatically in recent years. Rollerblading and cycling are popular here. A 10 km path travels through the area and is very busy in summer as is the large public swimming pool. The polluted waters of Lake Ontario are not ideal for swimming but many take the risk and windsurfing boards can be rented easily. At its eastern end the Beaches borders Scarborough, the large suburb whose principal attraction is also along the rocky lakeshore. Here the striking Scarborough Bluffs outcrops of rock made from ancient sands and clay track along Lake Ontario for 10 km. A series of parks provides access. Scarborough Bluffs and the Cathedral Bluffs parks offer great views of jagged cliffs and Bluffers Park is ideal for picnics and beach trips. Layers of sediment from five different geological periods can be seen in the rocks around the park. Toronto Zoo Toronto can claim to have one of the world's best zoos. It occupies a large slice of the Rouge River Valley and is easily accessible by public transportation and car. The animals are grouped according to their natural habitats both outside amid the mixed forest and flatlands of the river valley and inside within a series of large climate controlled pavilions. Visitors can tour the zoo by choosing one of the carefully marked trails or hop aboard the Zoomobile, a minute ride with commentary which gives an excellent overview. It takes about four hours to see a good selection of animals including such Canadian species as moose, caribou and grizzly bear. Splash Island provides a spot for young visitors to cool off in the water amid walrus and beaver sculptures.

Sai Satcharitra Chapter Drawn To Shirdi Kakaji Vaidya of Vani Punjabi Ramalal of Bombay In this Chapter the story of two more devotees that were drawn to Shirdi is narrated Preliminary Bow to the Kind Sai Who is the Abode of Mercy and Who is affectionate towards His devotees By His mere darshan He does away with their fear of this bhava samsar and destroys their calamities He was first Nirgun formless but on account of the devotion of His Bhaktas He was obliged to take a form To give liberation self realisation to the Bhaktas is the mission of the saints and for Sai the Chief of them that mission is inevitable Those who take refuge in His Feet have all their sins destroyed and their progress is certain Remembering His Feet Brahmins from holy places come to Him and read scriptures and chant the Gayatri mantra in His presence We who are weak and without any merits do not know what Bhakti is but we know this much that though all others may leave us Sai won't forsake us Those whom He favours get enormous strength discrimination between the Unreal and the Real and knowledge Sai knows fully the desire of His devotees and fulfills the same Hence they get what they want and are grateful So we invoke Him and prostrate ourselves before Him Forgetting all our faults let Him free us from all anxieties He who being overcome with calamities remembers and prays Sai thus will get his mind calmed and pacified through His grace This Sai the ocean of mercy says Hemadpant favoured him and the result of this is the present work Sai Satcharia Otherwise what qualifications had he and who would undertake this enterprise But as Sai took all the responsibility Hemadpant felt no burden nor any care about this When the powerful Light of knowledge was there to inspire his speech and pen why should he entertain any doubt or feel any anxiety Sai got the service in the form of this book done by him this is due to the accumulation of his merits in the past births and therefore he thinks himself fortunate and blessed The following story is not a mere tale but pure nectar He who drinks it will realise Sai's greatness and all pervasiveness Those who want to argue and criticise should not go in for these stories What is wanted here is not discussion but unlimited love and devotion Learned devout and faithful believers or those who consider themselves as servants of the Saints will like and appreciate these stories others will take them to be fables The fortunate Bhaktas of Sai will find the Sai leelas as the Kalpataru Wish fulfilling Tree Drinking this nectar of Sai leelas will give liberation to the ignorant Jivas satisfaction to the house holders and a sadhana to the aspirants Now to the story of this Chapter Kakaji Vaidya There lived in Vani Nasik District a man named Kakaji Vaidya He was the priest of the Goodness Sapta

Shringi there He was so much overwhelmed with adverse circumstances and calamities that he lost peace of mind and became quite restless Under such circumstances one evening he went into the temple of the Goodess and prayed unto Her from the bottom of his heart and invoked Her aid to free him from anxeity The Goddess was pleased with his devotion and the same night appeared to him in his dream and said to him You go to Baba and then your mind will become calm and composed Kakaji was anxious to know from Her who that Baba was but before he could get any explanation he was awakened Then he began to think as to who might be that Baba to whom the Goodess has asked him to go After some thinking he resolved that this Baba might be Tryambakeshwar Lord Shiva So he went to the holy place Tryambak Nasik District and stayed there for ten days During this period he bathed early in the morning chanted the Rudra hymns did the Abhishekam pouring unceasingly fresh cold water over the Pindi and did other religious rites but with all that he was as restless as before Then he returned to his place and again invoked the Goddess most pitifully They night She again appeared in his dream and said Why did you go to Tryambakeshwar in vain I mean by Baba Shri Sai Samarth of Shirdi The question before Kakaji now was How and when to go to Shirdi and how to see Baba If anybody is in real earnest to see a Saint not only the Saint but God also fulfills his wish In fact the Sant Saint and the Anant God are one and the same there is not the least difference between them If anybody thinks that he will go himself and see a Saint that will be a mere boast Unless the Saint wills it who is able to go and see him Even the leaf of the tree won t move without his bidding The more anxious a Bhakta is for the saint s visit the more devout anf faithful he is the more speedily and effectively is his wish satisfied to his heart s content He who invites anybody for a visit also arranges everything for his reception and so it happened with Kakaji Shama s Vows When Kakaji was thinking his visit to Shirdi a guest came to him at his place to take him to Shirdi He was no other than Shama a very close and intimate devotee of Baba How he came to Vani at this juncture we shall just see Shama was severely ill when he was very young and his mother had taken a vow to her family Goddess Sapta Shringi at Vani that if the son got well she would bring and dedicate him at Her feet Then after some years the mother herself suffered much from ring worms on her breasts At that time she again took another vow to her Deity that if she got all right she would offer Her two silver breasts These two vows remained unfulfilled At her death bed she called her son Shama to her and drew his attention to the vows and after taking a promise from him that he would fulfill them she breathed her last After some time Shama quite forgot about these vows and thus years elapsed About this time a famous astrologer had come to Shirdi and stayed there for a month His predictions in the case of Shriman Booty and others came true and everybody was satisfied Shama s younger brother Bapaji consulted him and was told that his mother s vows which his elder brother promised to fulfill at her death bed were not yet fulfilled hence the Goddess was displeased with them and bringing troubles on them Bapaji told this to his brother Shama who was then reminded of the unfulfilled vows Thinking that any further delay would be dangerous he called a goldsmith and got a pair of silver breast prepared Then he went to the Masjid prostrated himself before Baba and placing before Him the two silver breast requested Him to accept them and free him from the vows as He was to him his Sapta Shringi Goddess Then Baba insisted upon him to go himself to the temple of Sapta Shringi and offer them in person at the feet of the Goddess Then after taking Baba s permission and Udi he left for Vani and searching for the priest came to Kakaji s house Kakaji was then very anxious to visit Baba and Shama went there to see him at that very time What a wonderful coincidence is this Kakaji asked him who he was and whence he had come and on learning that he came from Shirdi he at once embraced him So overpowered was he with love Then they talked about Sai leelas and after finishing the rites of Shama s vows they both started for Shirdi On reaching the place Kakaji went to the Masjid and fell at Baba s Feet His eyes were soon bedewed with tears and his mind attained calmness According to the vision of the Goddess no sooner did he see Baba that his mind lost all its restlessness and it became calm and composed Kakaji began to think in his mind What a wonderful power is this Baba spoke nothing there was no question and answer no benediction pronounced the mere darshana itself was so conducive to happiness the restlessness of my mind disappeared by His mere darshan consciousness of joy came upon me this is what is called the greatness of darshan His vision was fixed on Sai's feet and he could utter no word. Hearing Baba's Leelas his joy knew no bounds. He surrendered himself completely to Baba, forgot his anxiety and cares and got undiluted happiness. He lived happily there for twelve days and after taking Baba's leave, Udi and blessings returned home. Khushalchand of Rahata. It is said that a dream which we get in the small hours of the morning generally comes out true in the waking state. This may be so but regarding Baba's dreams there is no restriction of time. To quote an instance, Baba told Kakasaheb Dixit one afternoon to go to Rahata and fetch Khushalchand to Shirdi as He had not seen him since long. Kakasaheb accordingly took a tanga and went to Rahata. He saw Khushalchand and gave him Baba's message. Hearing it, Khushalchand was surprised and said that he was taking a noon nap after meals when Baba appeared in his dream and asked him to come to Shirdi immediately and that he was anxious to go. As he had no horse of his own nearby, he had sent his son to inform Baba when his son was just out of the village border. Dixit's tanga turned up. Dixit then said that he was sent specially to bring him. Then they both went in the tanga back to Shirdi. Khushalchand saw Baba and all were pleased. Seeing this Leela of Baba, Khushalchand was much moved. Punjabi Ramalal of Bombay. Once a Punjabi Brahmin of Bombay named Ramalal got a dream in which Baba appeared and asked him to come to Shirdi. Baba appeared to him as a Mahant Saint but he did not know His whereabouts. He thought that he should go and see Him but as he knew not His address, he did not know what to do. But He Who calls anybody for an interview makes the necessary arrangements for the same. The same happened in this case. The same afternoon when he was strolling in the streets, he saw a picture of Baba in a shop. The features of the Mahant he saw in the dream exactly tallied with those of the picture. Then making enquiries, he came to know that the picture was of Sai Baba of Shirdi. He then went soon after to Shirdi and stayed there till his death. In this way, Baba brought His devotees to Shirdi for darshan and satisfied their wants, material as well as spiritual. Bow to Shri Sai. Peace be to all.

the mausoleum of Aurangzeb's queen is the main tourist attraction of Aurangabad. A small archeological museum is located behind the mausoleum. The city is properly connected with other parts of state via government buses and private cabs. The best time to visit Aurangabad is winter, September to March.

History The city was founded in A.D. by Malik Amber, the Prime Minister of Murtaza Nizam Shah of Ahmednagar, on the site of the village called Khirki. He made it his Capital and the men of his army raised their dwellings around it. Within a decade, Khirki grew into a populous and imposing city. However, it was ravaged and burnt down by the imperial troops under Shah Jahan. Fateh Khan, son of Malik Amber, changed the name of Khirki to Fatehnagar. In 1651, when Prince Aurangzeb was appointed the Viceroy of the Deccan for the second time, he made Fatehnagar his Capital and called it Aurangabad.

History of this dates back to the second century B.C. which indicates that it was located on ancient trade route from Ujjaini North to Pratishthana (Paithan), Capital of Satavahana, and the Tagare (Modern Ter in South). The district of Aurangabad had attained high level of prosperity during these days. It contained Pratishthana, Capital of Satavahanas, as the centre of trade. In addition to North-South trade links, it had also trade links with Nasik, Kalyan, Shapur and Baruchha in West.

Bibi ka Maqbara The Bibi ka Maqbara is a tomb built in memory of Aurangzeb's wife Rabia ud Daurani Begum. The tomb bears some resemblance with the Taj Mahal and hence known as Poor Man's Taj Mahal. This Maqbara attracts the tourists due to its wonderful architecture and historical importance.

Aurangabad Caves The Aurangabad Caves were built during the 2nd and 3rd centuries. The walls of the caves have interesting illustrations from the Jataka stories. There are about 10 Buddhist caves dating back to the 1st century A.D. These caves, ten in number, are divided into two separate locations: Western Group Caves having 5 caves and Eastern Group Caves having 5 caves, located 2 km apart. The designing and image is molded by Tantric Hinduism. Cave from Western Group group is the oldest cave. The remaining four Western caves are viharas depicting an early type of Buddhist monastery. Cave which belongs to the Eastern Group has a large statue of Buddha supported with a form of Ganesh and Cave has forms of women which are barely clad and bejeweled. Panchakki The mill used to grind grains for the pilgrims. It was so designed that it generated energy through water which was brought from a spring on a mountain. These pipes are lined up at particular distances. To allow the water to flow through the pumps, masonry pillars are erected. Water through the pipes flows with a force and it rises to a huge raised masonry pillar and from there it falls to make an attractive water fall. Shirdi Shirdi It is situated about 16 km from Aurangabad and is considered a religious site famous for the Shrine of Sai Baba. This place is easily accessible from nearby towns and is one of the most important tourist attractions in Aurangabad city. Daulatabad Fort It is just 10 km from Aurangabad and was built in the 13th Century AD. This fort was earlier known as Devgiri and was built by king Bhillama of Yadav dynasty. The name was changed to Daulatabad by Md Bin Tughlaq. Ajanta Caves The Ajanta caves in Aurangabad date back to the second century BC and contain sculptures and paintings depicted from Buddhist, Hindu, and Jain religious art. Ajanta has a total of 30 caves and is one among the UNESCO World Heritage list. Ellora Caves These caves were built by the rulers of the Rashtrakuta Dynasty and are located just 12 km from Aurangabad and were built in the 7th century AD. Cave which is known as the Kailashnath Temple is a masterpiece art at Ellora. The temple is a splendid achievement of the Dravidian style of art and was started by King Krishna of the Rashtrakuta dynasty that ruled Manyakheta. It took around 60 years to complete this cave. There are other caves here which depict the tradition and Philosophy of the Buddhist and Jain art and architecture. Fairs and Festivals Mahashivratri is devotedly celebrated in the temple of Ghrishneshwara during February and March. This temple is situated near Ellora. Touristplacesinindia.com is an international travel site and a repository of useful information about Aurangabad and on other related information on the city. How to Reach Aurangabad By Air The Airport is about 16 km east on the Jalna road. By Rail There are direct trains daily to from Mumbai. Sai Satcharitra Chapter More Sai Leelas Diseases Cured bhimaji Patil Bala Shimpi Bapusaheb Booty Alandi Swami Kaka Mahajani Dastopant of Harda The Inscrutable Power of Maya Baba s words were always short pithy deep full of meaning efficient and well balanced He was ever content and never cared for anything He said Though I have become a Fakir have no house or wife and though leaving off all cares I have stayed at one place the inevitable Maya teases Me often Though I forgot Myself I cannot forget Her She always envelops Me This Maya illusive power of the Lord Shri Hari teases God Brahma and others then what to speak of a poor Fakir like Me Those who take refuge in the Lord will be freed from Her clutches with his grace In such terms Baba spoke about the power of Maya Lord Shri Krishna has said to Uddhava in the Bhagwat that the Saints are His living forms and see what Baba had said for the welfare of His devotees Those who are fortunate and whose demerits have vanished take to My worship If you always say Sai Sai I shall take you over the seven seas believe in these words and you will be certainly benefited I do not need any paraphernalia of worship either eight fold or sixteen fold I rest there where there is full devotion Now read what Sai the friend of those who surrendered themselves to Him did for their welfare Bhimaji Patil One Bhimaji Patil of Narayanagaon Taluka Junnar Dist Poona suffered in the year A D from a severe and chronic chest disease which ultimately developed into Tuberculosis He tried all sorts of pathos remedies but to no effect Losing all hopes he ultimately prayed to God Oh Lord Narayana help me now It is a well known fact that when our circumstances are well off we do not remember God but when calamities and adversities overtake us we are reminded of Him So Bhimaji now turned to God It occurred to him that he should consult Mr Nanasaheb Chandorkar a great devotee of Baba in this respect So he wrote to him a letter giving all details of his malady and asking for his opinion In reply Mr Nanasaheb wrote to him that there was only one remedy left and that was to have recourse to Baba s Feet Relying on Mr Nanasaheb s advice he made preparations for going to Shirdi He was brought to Shirdi and taken to the Masjid and placed before Baba Mr Nanasaheb and Shama Madhavrao Deshpande were then present Baba pointed out that the disease was due to the previous evil karma and was not at first disposed to interfere But the patient cried out in despair that he was helpless and sought refuge in Him as He was his last hope and prayed for mercy Then Baba s heart melted an He said Stay cast off your anxiety your sufferings have come to an end However oppressed and troubled one may be as soon as he steps into the Masjid he is on the pathway to happiness The Fakir here is very kind and He will cure the disease and protect all with love and kindness The patient vomitted blood every five minutes but there wa no vomiting in the presence of Baba From the time Baba uttered the words of hope and mercy the malady took a favourable turn Baba asked him to stay in Bhimabai s house which was not a convenient and healthy place but Baba s order had to be obeyed While he was staying there Baba cured him by two dreams In the first dream he saw himself as a boy suffering the severe pain of a flogging which he received for not reciting his Swami poetry lesson before his class master In the second dream some one caused him intense pain and torture by rolling a stone up and down over his chest With the pain thus suffered in dream his cure was complete and he went home He then often came to Shirdi gratefully remembering what Baba did for him and prostrated before Him Baba also did not expect anything from devotees but grateful remembrance unchanging faith and devotion People in the Maharashtra always celebrate Satya Narayana Puja in their homes every fortnight or month But it was this Bhimaji Patil who started a new Sai Satya vrata Puja instead of Satya Narayana vrata Puja in his house when he returned to his village Bala Ganpat Shimpi Another devotee of Baba by name Bala

Ganapat Shimpi suffered much from a malignant type of Malaria he tried all sorts of medicines and decoctions but in vain The fever did not abate a jot and so he ran to Shirdi and fell on Baba s Feet Baba gave him a strage recipe in this case as follows Give a black dog some morsels of rice mixed with curds in front of the Laxmi temple Bala Shimpi did not know how to execute this recipe but no sonner he went home then he found rice and curds After mixing them together he brought the mixture near the Laxmi temple when he found the a black dog waving its tail He placed the curds and rice before the dog The dog ate it and strange to say Bala got rid of his Malaria Bapusaheb Booty Shriman Bapusaheb Booty suffered once from dysentery and vomitting His cupboard was full of patent drugs and medicines but none of them had any effect Bapusaheb got very weak on account of purgings and vomittings and therefore was not able to go to the Masjid for Baba s darshana Baba then sent for him and made him sit before Him and said Now take care you should not purge any more and waving His index finger The vomiting must also stop Now look at the force of Baba s words Both the maladies took to their heels disappeared and Booty felt well On another occasion he had an attack of Cholera and suffered from severe thirst Dr Pillai tried all sorts of remedies but could give him no relief Then he went to Baba and consulted Him as what to drink that would allay his thirst and cure the disease Baba prescribed an infusion of almonds walnuts pistachio a kind of dry fruit boiled in sugared milk This would be considered as a fatal aggravation of the disease by any other doctor or physician but in implicit obedience to Baba s order the infusion was administered and strange to say the disease was cured Alandi Swami A Swami from Alandi wishing to take Baba s darshana came to Shirdi He suffered form a severe pain in his ear which prevented him from getting the sleep He was operated for this but it served no purpose The pain was severe and he did not know what to do While he was returning he came to take Baba s leave when Shama Madhavrao Deshpande requested Baba to do something for the pain in the Swami s ear Baba comforted him saying Alla Accha Karega God will do good The Swami then returned to Poona and after a week sent a letter to Shirdi stating that the pain in his ear had subsided though the swelling was there and in order to get the swelling removed he went to Bombay for operation but the surgeon on examining the ear said that no operation was then necessary Such was the wonderful effect of Baba s words Kaka Mahajani Another devotee named Kaka Mahajani suffered once from diarrhea In order that there should be no break in his services to Baba Kaka kept a tambya pot with water in some corner of the Masjid and whenever there was a call he would go out As Sai Baba knew everything Kaka did not inform Him of his disease thinking that Baba would of His own cure it soon The work of constructing the pavement in front of the Masjid was permitted by Baba but when the actual work was begun Baba got wild and shouted out loudly Everybody ran away and as Kaka was also doing the same Baba caught hold of him and made him sit there In the confusion that followed somebody left the a small bag of groundnuts Baba took a handful of groundnuts rubbed them in His hands blew away the skins and gave the clean nuts to Kaka and made him eat them Scolding and cleaning the nuts and making Kaka eat them went on simultaneously Baba Himself ate some of them Then when the bag was finished Baba asked him to fetch water as He felt thirsty Kaka brought a pitcher full of water Then Baba drank some water and made Kaka also drink it Baba then said Now your diarrhea has stopped and you may attend to the work of the pavement In the meanwhile other persons who had run away returned and started the work and Kaka whose motions had stopped also joined them Are groundnuts medicine for diarrhea According to current medical opinion groundnuts would aggravate the disease and not cure it The true medicine in this as in other cases was Baba s word Dattopant of Harda A gentleman from Harda by name Dattopant suffered form stomach ache for fourteen yeas None of the remedies gave him any relief Then hearing of Baba s fame that He cures diseases by sight he ran to Shirdi and fell at Baba s Feet Baba looked at him kindly and gave him blessings When Baba placed His hand on his head and when he got Baba s Udi with blessing he felt relieved and there was no further trouble about the malady Towards the end ot his Chapter three cases are cited in footnotes Madhavrao Deshpande suffered from Piles Baba gave him decoction of Sonamukhi senna pods This relieved him Then after two years the trouble again recurred and Mahdavrao took the same decoction without consulting Baba The result was that the disease aggravated but later on it was cured by Baba s grace Kaka Mahajani s elder brother Gangadharant suffered for many years from stomach pain Hearing Baba s fame he came to Shirdi and requested Baba to cure him Baba touched his belly and said God will cure From that time there was no stomach pain and he was completely cured Nanasaheb Chandorkar also once suffered from intense stomach pain he was restless the whole day and night Doctors administered syringes which produced no effect Then he approached Baba who told him to eat Burfi a kind of sweetmeat mixed with ghee This recipe gave him complete relief All these stories go to show that the real medicine that cured the various diseases permanently was Baba s word and grace and not any medicines or drugs Bow to Shri Sai Peace be to all

Sai Satcharitra Chapter Stories of Kakasaheb Dixit Shri Tembye Swami Balaram Dhurandhar Chapter of the original Satcharita has been incorporated in Chapter as it dealt with the same subject matter Now Chapter of the Satcharita has been treated here as Chapter This Chapter gives the stories of Kakasaheb Dixit Shri Tembye Swami Balaram Dhurandhar Preliminary Victory be unto Sai Who is the main stay of the Bhaktas Who is our Sadguru Who expounds the meaning of the Gita and Who gives us all powers Oh Sai look favourably on us and bless us all The sandal wood trees grow on the Malaya mountains and ward off heat The clouds pour their rain water and thereby cool and refresh all the people The flowers blossom in the spring and enable us to worship God therewith So the stories of Sai Baba come forth in order to give solace and comfort to the readers Both those who tell and those who hear the stories of Baba are blessed and holy as also the mouths of the former and the ears of the latter It is well established fact that though we try hundreds of means or sadhanas we do not attain the spiritual goal of life unless a Sadguru blesses us with his grace Hear the following story in illustration of this statement Kakasaheb Dixit Mr Hari Sitaram alias Kakasaheb Dixit was born in A D in a Vадnagara Nagar Brahmin family at Khandwa C P His primary education was done at Khandwa Hinganghat and secondary education at Nagpur He came to Bombay for higher education and studied first in the Wilson College and then in the Elphinstone College After graduation in A D he passed his LL B and solicitor s examination and then served in the firm of the Govt Solicitors Messrs Little and Co and then after sometime started a solicitors firm of his own Before A D Sai Baba s name was not familiar to Kakasaheb but after that he soon becomes His great devotees While he was staying at Lonavla he happened to see his old friend Mr Nanasaheb

Chandorkar Both spent some time in talking about many things Kakasaheb described to him how when he was boarding a train in London he met with an accident in which his foot slipped and was injured Hundreds of remedies gave him no relief Nanasaheb then told him that if he wished to get rid of the pain and lameness of his leg he should go to his Sadguru Sai Baba He also gave him all the particulars of Sai Baba and mentioned to him Sai Baba's dictum I draw to Me My man from far off or even across the seven seas like a sparrow with a string fastened to its feet He also made it clear to him that if he be not Baba's man he would not be attracted to Him and given a darshan Kakasaheb was pleased to hear all this and said to Nanasaheb that he would go to Baba see Him and pray to Him to cure not so much his lame leg but bring round his lame fickle mind and give him eternal Bliss Some time after Kakasaheb went to Ahmednagar and stayed with sirdar Kakasaheb Mirikar in connection with securing votes for a seat in the Bombay Legislative Council Mr Balasaheb Mirikar son of Kakasaheb Mirikar who was a Mamalatdar of Kopergaon also came at that time to Ahmednagar in connection with a Horse Exhibition there After the election business was over Kakasaheb Dixit wanted to go to Shirdi and both the Mirikars father and son were also thinking in their house about a fit and proper person as a guide with whom he should be sent there There Sai Baba was arranging things for his reception Shama got a telegram from his father in law at Ahmednagar stating that his wife was seriously ill and that he should come to see her with his wife Shama with Baba's permission went there and saw his mother in law and found her improving and better Nanasaheb Panshe and Appasaheb Gadre happened to see Shama on their way to the Exhibition Dixit there and take him to Shirdi along with him Kakasaheb Dixit and the Mirikars were also informed of Shama's arrival In the evening Shama came to Mirikars who introduced him to Kakasaheb They arranged that Shama should leave for Kopergaon with Kakasaheb by the O Clock night train After this was settled a curious thing happened Balasaheb Mirikar threw aside the veil or covering on Baba's big portrait and showed the same to Kakasaheb He was surprised to see that He Whom he was going to meet at Shirdi was already there in the form of His portrait to greet him at this juncture He was much moved and made his prostration before the portrait This portrait belonged to Megha The glass over it was broken and it was sent to Mirikars for repairs The necessary repairs had been already made and it was decided to return the portarit with Kakasaheb and Shama Before ten O Clock they went to the station and booked their passage but when the train arrived they found that the second class was overcrowded and then there was no room for them Fortunately the guard of the train turned out to be an acquaintance of Kakasaheb and he put them up in the first class Thus they travelled comfortably and alighted at Kopergaon Their joy knew no bounds when they saw there Nanasaheb Chandorkar who was also bound for Shirdi Kakasaheb and Nanasaheb embraced each other and then after bathing in the sacred Godavari river they started for Shirdi After coming there and getting Baba s darshan Kakasaheb s mind was melted his eyes were full of tears and he was overflowing with joy Baba said to him that he also was waiting for him and had sent Shama ahead to receive him Kakasaheb then passed many happy years in Baba s company He built a Wada in Shirdi which he made as his more or less permanent home The experiences he got from Baba are so manifold that it is not possible to relate them all here The readers are advised to read a special Kakasaheb Dixit No of Shri Sai Leela magazine Vol No we close this account with the mention of one fact only Baba had comforted hi by saying that in the end He will take him in air coach Viman i e secure him a happy death This came out true On the th of July A D he was travelling in the train with Hemadpant and talking about Sai Baba He seemed deeply engrossed in Sai Baba All of a sudden he threw his neck on Hemadpant s shoulder and breathed his last with no trace of pain and uneasiness Shri Tembye Swami We come to the next story which shows how Saints love each other with fraternal affection Once Shri Vasudevanand Saraswati known as Shri Tembye Swami encamped at Rajamahendri Andhra Country on the banks of Godavari He was a devout orthodox Jnani and Yogi Bhakta of the God Dattatreya One Mr Pundalikrao pleader of Nanded Nizam State went to see him with some friends While they were talking with him the names of Shirdi and Sai Baba were casually mentioned Hearing Baba s name the Swami bowed with his hands and taking a coconut gave it to Pundalikrao and said to him Offer this to my brother Sai with my pranam and request Him not to forget me but ever love me He also added that the Swamis do not generally bow to others but in this case an exception had to be made Mr Pundalikrao consented to take the fruit and his message to Baba The Swami was right in calling Baba a brother for as he maintained an Agnihotra Sacred fire day and night in his orthodox fashion Baba too kept His Agnihotra i e Dhuni ever burning in the Masjid After one month Pundalikrao and others left for Shirdi with the coconut and reached Manmad and as they felt thirsty they went to a rivulet for drinking water As water should not be drunk on an empty stomach they took out some refreshments i e Chivda flattened rice mixed with spice The Chivda tasted pungent and in order to soften it some one suggested and broke the coconut and mixed its scrapings with it Thusthey made the Chivda mare tasty and palatable Unfortunately the fruit broken turned out to be the same that was entrusted to Pundalikrao As they neared Shirdi Pundalikrao remembered the trust i e the coconut and was very sorry to learn that it was broken and utilized Fearing and trembling he came to Shirdi and saw Baba Baba had already received a wireless message regarding the coconut from the Tembye Swami ad Himself asked Pundalikrao first to give the things sent by His brother He held fast Baba s Feet confessed his guilt and negligence repented and asked for Baba s pardon He offered to give another fruit as a substitute but Baba refused to accept it saying that the worth of that coconut was by far many times more than an ordinary one and that it could not be replaced by another one Baba also added Now you need not worry yourself any more about the matter It was on account of my wish that the coconut was entrusted to you and ultimately broken on the way why should you take the responsibility of the actions on you Do not entertain the sense of doership in doing good as well as for bad deeds be entirely prideless and egoless in all things and thus your spiritual progress will be rapid What a beautiful spiritual instruction Baba gave Balaram Dhurandhar Mr Balaram Dhurandhar belonged to the Pathare Prabhu community of Santacruz Bombay He was an advocate of the Bombay High Court and sometime Principal of the Governament Law School Bombay The whole Dhurandhar family was pious and religious Mr Balaram served his community and wrote and published an account of it He then turned his attention to spiritual and religious matters He studied carefully Gita and its commentary Jnaneshwari and other philosiphical and other metaphysical works He was a devotee of Vithoba of Pandharpur he came in contact with Sai Baba in A D Six months previous his brothers Babulji and Vamanrao came to Shirdi and took Baba s darshan They returned home and mentioned their sweet experiences to Balaram and other members Then they all decided to see Sai Baba Before they came to Shirdi Baba declared openly that To day many of my Darbar people are coming The Dhurandhar brothers were astonished to hear this remark of Baba from others as they had not given any previous intimation of their trip All the other people prostrated themselves before Baba and sat talking to Him Baba said to them These are my Darbar people to whom I referred before and said to the Dhurandhar brothers We are acquainted with each other for the last sixty generations All the brothers were meek and modest they stood with joined hands staring at Baba s Feet All the Sattwic emotions such as tears horripilation choking etc moved them and they were all happy Then they went to their lodging took their meals and after taking a little rest again came to the Masjid Balaram sat near Baba messaging His Legs Baba Who was smoking a chillam advanced it towards him and beckoned him to smoke it Balaram was not accustomed to smoking still he accepted the pipe smoked it with great difficulty and returned it reverentially with a bow This was the most auspicious moment for Balaram He was suffering from Asthma for six years This smoke completely cured him of the disease which never troubled him again Some six years later on a particular day he again got an attack of Asthma This was precisely the time when Baba took his Mahasamadhi The day of this visit was a Thursday and the Dhurandhar brothers had the good fortune of witnessing the Chavadi Balaram saw the lusture of pandurang on Baba s face and next morning at the Kakad Arti time the same phenomenon the same lusture of his Beloved Deity Pandurang was visible again on Baba s face Mr Balaram Dhurandhar wrote in Marathi the life of the Maharashtra Saint Tukaram but did not survive to see its publication It was published later on by his brothers in In a short note on Balaram s life given in the beginning of the book the above account of Balaram s visit has been fully corroborated therein Vide page of the book Bow to Shri Sai Peace be to all

The best way to see Sydney s many sights and attractions is on foot coupled with use of the public transport system Buses and trains will take visitors to within easy walking distance of anywhere in the inner city They also serve the suburbs and outlying areas Passenger ferries provide a fast and scenic means of travel between the city and the many harbor side suburbs Of the many composite and multiride tickets available most visitors will find it best to invest in one that includes all three modes of public transport DRIVING IN SYDNEY Driving is not the ideal way to get around Sydney the city road network is confusing traffic is congested and parking can be expensive If using a car it is best to avoid the peak hours about am and pm Overseas visitors can use their usual driving licenses to drive in Sydney but must have proof that they are simply visiting and keep the license with them when driving Parking in Sydney is strictly regulated with fines for any infringements Vehicles can be towed away if parked illegally Contact the Transport Management Centre if this happens There are many car parks in and around the city Also look for blue and white P signs or metered parking zones many of which apply seven days a week but it varies from council to council TAXIS Taxis are plentiful in the city there are many taxi ranks and taxis are often found outside the large city hotels Meters indicate the fare plus any extras such as booking fees and waiting time It is customary to round the fare up to the next dollar SYDNEY BY BICYCLE While cycling is permitted on all city and suburban roads visitors are advised to stay within designated cycling tracks or areas with light motor traffic Centennial Park is a popular cycling spot Helmets are compulsory by law Those who wish to take advantage of Sydney s undulating terrain can seek advice from Bicycle New South Wales Bicycles are permitted on CityRail trains but you may have to pay an extra fare TRAMS IN Sydney reintroduced trams to its transport system after an absence of years A fleet of seven trams travels around the downtown area from Central Station to Lilyfield via Pymont taking in a large proportion of the area's sights. Tickets can be purchased at Central Station. COMPOSITE TICKETS Sydney's transport is good value particularly with one of the composite tickets available from State Transit Information and Ticket Kiosks or railway stations. Travel Ten tickets as the name suggests entitle you to make ten bus journeys. Travel Passes allow unlimited seven day travel on Sydney's buses, trains and ferries within stipulated zones. The Sydney Pass allows three, five or seven days travel in any seven day period on buses and ferries. A Bus Tripper allows one day's unlimited travel on all buses. Day Passes allow one day's unlimited travel on both buses and ferries.

Bangladesh is mainly flat besides for few hill channels in Bangladesh that make the geography of the country more interesting. It is located adjacent to Sweden and Myanmar surrounded by Bay of Bengal. Even although Bangladesh is one of the over crowded places in the world it still has a very peaceful ambience because of its citizens living quietly in their homes and becoming busy with their daily tasks. For that reason this country is very attractive for people who want to spend their summer vacations serenely and of study course inexpensively. Most of the villages and towns located in Bangladesh have been current for more than years ago. The ancient buildings reveal a entirely various and very rich history of the South Asia that only few people know of. The summer vacations experience that you will have over here will surely be incredible and unforgettable. The small country has a lot to offer the beaches Cox Bazaar, the rivers and the Hill channels in Bangladesh will keep you so much occupied that you will find the trip advantageous. When you take a look at this country the most acceptable places to stay are Dhaka, Chittagong or Khulna. At these places you will find well established hotels to stay and restaurants to dine. The South Asian Cuisines will absolutely give a boost to your urge for food. The fair to Bangladesh is cost effective and you will find really good deals over the internet. The overall travelling costs in Bangladesh are also low. For that reason foreigners are encouraged to give tips to the native people who help them in their journey because for most natives it is daily wages. The Bay of Bengal beach is the longest unbroken beach in the world Boating is very popular in this country however now some beach resorts offer other water activities also that will interest the tourists Main hill channels in Bangladesh As Bangladesh is among the South Asian Countries that still need to be found it has hidden beauties and rich flora and fauna Lots of meandering rivers and lakes surrounded by lush green hills are what make Bangladesh impressive Besides that dark rain forests that look wonderful and are homes to Bengal Tigers Gibbons Monkeys birds and other animals The hill channels are Situated on the northern side of Bangladesh Some hills are small and some are high They are surrounded by green dense jungles and contain four valleys formed by Feni Matamuhur Karnapuli and Shangu rivers Kaptai Lake located near Rangamati River is the main tourist attraction Not only does it look peaceful and magnificent but the fishes found here are very healthy and delicious Sylhet and Srimangal Situated in the north of Bangladesh also offer great views of tea and the fruit gardens Risi Hill has surrounding covered with snow the temperature around in this area is low so it also has a foggy cloudy and chilly environment Sunset is the best sight to see from the hill channels in Bangladesh The view will melt your heart and preserve a memory in your mind that you will cherish for your whole life Although the current major religion of Bangladesh is Islam but Buddhism was the prehistoric religion of this country hence you will find temples palaces and monasteries on the hill tracks that will make your journey more delightful

Control Language C AutoEventWireup true CodeFile senate house ascx cs Inherits Andhra Senate House Chennai Senate House Chennai is certainly one worth watching monument in Tamil Nadu It is located on the campus of the University of Madras near the Marina beach It s really an architectural marvel built under the supervision of one of the greatest architects of the 19th century Robert Fellowes Chisholm The base of this monument was created in 1847 and was completed by year 1853 rd Senate House was once the hallmark of the ancient city of Madras Its structure is a creative and harmonious blend of Indo Saracenic style with Byzantine architectural features The central area of the chamber is enormous in extent and is supported by six stone pillars on either side of a mammoth The building is surrounded by four towers sprouting flanked by exquisite domes painted in different colors This adds to the magnanimity and grandeur of the monument Beyond that there is an entrance to the north leading to the auditorium The south entrance is connected to the chambers of the south wing On the other hand there are two entries in the east and west side of the Senate The front of these entries are marked by elegant arcades At the corner of the door a small domed structure that adds to the beauty of the provision The Senate was very helpful when as has been home to some university departments and offices of the Vice Chancellor and the Registrar Over time this magnificent building was withering and losing its charm Ignorance and the fury of nature are responsible for their state of disrepair However there have been efforts to restore the original beauty with the help of renewal But to avoid any effort to tamper with its original structure the university is taking seriously He has studied the issue and appealed to the elderly art lovers philanthropists public and private organizations to submit to safeguard the vast Senate Chamber India Cities information Read more

Amsterdam Derived from the name Amstelledam the capital city of Netherlands Amsterdam holds the pride of recognizing itself as the largest city of Netherlands too History The history of its foundation dates back to 13th century when it was located on the shores of river Amstel With the passing time as the result of its innovative policies Amsterdam emerged as one of the leading ports of the world during the Dutch Golden Age At that time it was one of the leading hubs for finance and diamonds The period from 17th to 18th century proved as landmark in the history of Amsterdam when the geographical area of city widened and many new areas were developed as the suburb parts of the city The city is financial and cultural point of the Netherlands Many bigwigs like Philips and INF have their headquarters in the city The Amsterdam Stock Exchange is recognized as world's old stock exchange Tourist attractions The major attractions of Amsterdam are its historic canals the Rijks museum the Van Gogh Museum Stedelijk Museum Hermitage Amsterdam Anne Frank House its red light district and many cannabis coffee shops where more than visitors come every year The end of 17th century is remembered as the Golden Period in the history of Netherlands It was the period when many new museums railway stations Concertgebouw were constructed in the city The Amsterdam Rhine canal was dug thus adjoining Amsterdam directly to the shores of River Rhine on the other side North Sea Canal was constructed to shorten the distance from North Sea to port that improved trade with other countries The city of Amsterdam suffered a lot during the First World War due to food shortage and fuel availability This resulted in civil riots in which thousands of people were killed These riots are also called as Aardappeloproer riots i.e Potato riots in the history of Netherlands Later in Germany established its dominance on the Netherlands The Second World War added as fuel in the fire in the political and economical situation of the country The country's communication with rest of the world broke down on the other side scarcity of food and fuel raised the problem of the ruling government The people have to depend on dogs cats raw sugar beets and tulip bulbs to meet their food needs the wood from trees was carved out for the use of fuel However the Second World War positively impacted the economy of the Netherlands Many new suburbs such as Osdorp Slotervaart Slotermeer and Geuzenveld emerged as upcoming cities In other words the Second World War indirectly rejuvenated the Netherlands. The new suburbs were facilitated with the better infrastructural facilities like vast public parks, well equipped new buildings, gardens. The changing scenario had its influence on every aspect of economy and society. With the expanding boundaries, need for new offices and roads were felt. As the result of this, a metro was started in between the routes of Bilmer and the centre of Amsterdam. More plans were developed to construct new highways to connect the city with the other parts of the nation.

Distinguished Points Kalbarri National Park. The magnificent landscape of Kalbarri National Park includes stunning coastal scenery and beautiful inland gorges lining the Murchison River. The park has a number of coastal and river walking trails which lead to breathtaking views and fascinating rock formations. The trails vary in length from brief two hour strolls to four day hikes. Highlights of the park include Hawks Head, a picnic area with views of the gorge; Nature's Window, where a rock formation frames a view of the river; and Ross Graham Lookout, where visitors can bathe in the river pools. By the ocean, Pot Alley provides awesome views of the rugged coastal cliffs and Rainbow Valley, which is made up of layers of multi coloured rocks. The access town for the park, Kalbarri, is situated on the coast and provides good tourist facilities and a base for tours into the park. The park's roads are accessible to most vehicles but are unsuitable for caravans or trailers. The best time to visit is from July to October when the weather is dry and the temperatures are not prohibitive. In summer, they can soar to C F.

Carnarvon The town of Carnarvon, standing at the mouth of the Gascoyne River, acts as the commercial and administrative centre for the surrounding Gascoyne region, the gateway to Western Australia's north. Tropical fruit plantations, including bananas, melons and mangoes, line the river for km miles, some offering tours and selling produce. In Carnarvon itself, One Mile Jetty on Babbage Island is a popular place for fishing and Jubilee Hall, built in 1903, houses a fine arts and crafts centre. Carnarvon is also home to a busy prawn and scallop processing industry.

ENVIRONS About km miles north of Carnarvon lie the Blowholes, a spectacular coastal rock formation where air and spray is forced through holes in the rocks in violent spurts up to m ft high.

Introduction to Tirupati Venkateswara Temple Tirumala

The Tirupati Venkateswara Temple is one of the most important pilgrim sites for Hindus. It is visited by a large number of devotees every year. Located on the seventh peak of the Tirupati Hill, this ancient temple is a must see for all tourists. It is emblematic of wonderful architecture. One can also get an idea of the tremendous faith that people have in this deity when they visit the temple. Individuals willingly stand in long queues just to get a glimpse of the lord housed in the richest temple. A visit to the temple is like a spiritual sojourn that simply overwhelms the senses.

Description of Tirupati Venkateswara Temple Tirumala

The outer Gopuram of the temple is inscribed with figures of Vaishnava gods. You will surely be impressed by the architectural brilliance of these craftsmen. There are several Mandapams in the temple. The Ranga Mandapam reflects the Vijaynagara style of architecture and was constructed between 1513 and 1565 A.D. It is believed that when Srirangam was occupied by the Muslim rulers, the idol of Lord Ranganatha was kept here. The Tirumala Raya Mandapam is a spacious complex of pavilions. The Dhvajasthamba Mandapam is a complex with a large number of pillars. You will simply be fascinated to see the remarkable sculptures that are there in this Mandapam. The central pillar of this Mandapam is surrounded by several small pillars. Strike one of these pillars with a small stone and you will surely be amazed to find that they emit musical sounds. Bronze statues also adorn this Mandapam. The Aina Mahal is rightly named because there are a large number of ainas or mirrors which reflect images on its walls. It consists of two parts. There is an open Mandapam with a total of 100 pillars and a shrine consisting of an Antarala and Garbhagriha. The portals of the temples are adorned with statues of Krishnadevaraya and his consorts which were installed by Krishnadevaraya himself. The Maratha general Rajhoji Bhonsle gifted valuable jewels and that included emeralds which have been retained to this day.

Landscapes of Europe A wide range of climatic and geological conditions has forged an impressive variety of landscapes in Europe Although the appearance of much of the land has changed dramatically since mankind began to cultivate it around years ago there are still many remote and wild regions such as the spectacular peaks of the Alps and the Pyrenees As well as being simply beautiful in their own right Europe s diverse landscapes offer endless opportunities for outdoor activities Norway Indenting the country s west coast the wild and rugged Norwegian fjords are a truly spectacular sight offering some of the most breathtaking scenery in Scandinavia Great Britain Dartmoor in southwest England is a wilderness of great natural beauty The windswept open moorland at the area s bleak and isolated heart has inspired many romantic tales France The wine producing regions of France such as Champagne boast lush fertile vegetation with row upon row of neatly planted vines Portugal The interior of southern Portugal is largely characterized by parched plains dotted with cork oaks and olive trees and vast dusty wheat fields stretching uninterrupted to the horizon Hungary North of the Hungarian capital the Danube flows through a verdant landscape of vineyards orchards and thickly wooded hills Known as the Danube Bend this is one of the river s most beautiful stretches Switzerland Switzerland s landscape is dominated by the Alps Europe s highest mountain range Dramatic snow covered peaks stunning vistas and a range of first class winter sports facilities draw millions of visitors to this part of Europe every year

Sai Satcharitra Chapter Stories of Madrasi Bhajani Mela Tendulkars Father and son Dr Captain Hate Waman Narvekar This Chapter described other interesting and wonderful stories of Sai Baba Madrasi Bhajani Mela It was in the year that a Madrasi Bhajani Mela Party of the Ramadasa Panth started on a Pilgrimage to the holy city of Banaras The Party consisted of a man his wife daughter and sister in law Unfortunately their names are not mentioned On their way the party heard that there lived at Shirdi in Kopergaon Taluka Ahmednagar District a great sage named Sai Baba who was calm and composed and who was very liberal and who distributed money every day to His Bhaktas and to skilful persons who went and showed their skill there A lot of money in the form of Dakshina was collected daily by Sai Baba and out of this amount He gave daily one rupee to a three year old girl Amani the daughter of a Bhakta Kondaji and Rs to to some Rs to Jamali the mother of

Amani and Rs to and even Rs to other Bhaktas as He pleased On hearing all this the party came to Shirdi and stayed there The Mela did very good bhajan and sang very good songs but inwardly they craved for money Three of the party were full of avarice but the chief lady or mistress was of a very different nature She had a regard and love for Baba Once it so happened that when the noon day Arati was going on Baba was much pleased with her faith and devotion and was pleased to give her darshan of her Ishtam Beloved Deity To her Baba appeared as Sitanath Rama while to all the others the usual Sainath On seeing her beloved Deity she was very much moved Tears began to flow from her eyes and she clapped her hands in joy The people began to wonder at her joyful mood but were not able to guess its cause Late in the afternoon she disclosed everything to her husband She told him how she saw Shri Rama in Sai Baba He thought that she was very simple and devout and her seeing Rama might be a hallucination of her mind He poohpoohed her saying that it was not possible that she alone should see Rama while they all saw Sai Baba She did not resent this remark as she was fortunate enough to get Ramadarshan now and then when her mind was calm and composed and free from avarice Wonderful Vision Things were going on like this when the husband got a wonderful vision in his dream one night as follows He was in a big city the police there had arrested him tied his hands with a rope and put him up in a cage lock up As the police were tightening the grip he saw Sai Baba standing quiet outside near the cage On seeing Baba so near he said in a plaintive tone Hearing Your fame I came to Your Feet and why should a calamity befall me when You are standing here in person Baba said You must suffer the consequences of your action He said I have not done anything in this life which would bring such a misfortune on me Baba said If not in this life you must have committed some sin in your past life He replied I do not know anything of my past life but assuming that I did commit some sin then why should it not be burnt and destroyed in Your presence as dry grass before fire Baba Have you got such faith He Yes Baba then asked him to close his eyes No sooner did he shut them than he heard a thumping sound of something falling down and opening his eyes he saw that he was free and the police had fallen down bleeding Being much frightened he began to look at Baba who said Now you are well caught officers will now come and arrest you Then he begged There is no other saviour except You save me anyhow Then Baba again asked him to close his eyes He did so and when he opened them he saw that he was free out of the cage and that Baba was by his side He then fell at Baba s Feet Baba then asked him Is there any difference between this namaskar and your previous ones Think well and reply He said There is a lot of difference my former namaskaras were offered with the object of getting money from You but the present namaskar is one offered to You as God besides formerly I thought resentfully that you being a Mahomendan were spoiling us the Hindus Baba Do you not believe in your mind in Mahomendan Gods He said No Then Baba said Have you not got a Panja Emblem of Hand in your house and do you not worship the same in Tabut i e Moharum festival Also there is in your house another Mahomedan Deity by name Kadbibi whom you propitiate and appease on your marriage and other festivals Is it not so He admitted all this Then Baba said What more do you want Then a desire arose in his mind to get the darshan of his Guru Ramdas when Baba asked him to turn back and see And when he turned lo Ramadas was in front of him No sooner did he begin to fall at His Feet Ramadas vanished Then he inquisitively asked Baba You look old Do You know Your age Baba What Do you say I am old just run a race with Me and see Saying this Baba began to run and he too followed Baba disappeared in the dust raised by His foot steps while running and the man was awakened After awakening he began to think seriously about the dream vision His mental attitude was completely changed and he realised the greatness of Baba After this his grabbing and doubting tendencies disappeared and true devotion to Baba s Feet sprang in his mind The vision was a mere dream but the questions and answers therein were most significant and interesting Next morning when all the persons assembled in the Masjid for the Arati Baba gave him as prasad two rupees worth sweetmeats and also two rupees from His pocket and blessed him He made him stay there for a few more days and gave him His blessing saying Allah God will give you plenty and He will do you all good He did not get more money there but he got far better things viz Baba s blessing which stood him in good stead all along The party got plenty of money afterwards and their pilgrimage was successful as they had not to suffer any trouble or inconvenience during their journey They all returned home safe and sound thinking of Baba's words and blessings and the Anand Bliss they experienced by His grace This story illustrates one of the methods which Baba followed and is following even now in some cases to improve and reform His devotees Tendulkar family There lived in Bandra a suburb of Bombay a Tendulkar family all the members of which were devoted to Baba Mrs Savitribai Tendulkar has published a Marathi book named Shri Sainath Bhajan Mala containing abhangas and padas describing the Leelas of Baba It is a book worth reading by those who are interested in Baba The son Babu Tendulkar was studying hard day and night and wanted to appear for the medical examination He consulted some astrologers Examining his horoscope they told him that the stars were not favourable that year and that he should appear for the examination next year when he would be certainly successful This cast a gloom over him and made him restless A few days afterwards his mother went to Shirdi and saw Baba Amongst other things she mentioned the gloomy and morose condition of her son who was to appear for the examination in a few days Hearing this Baba said to her Tell your son to believe in Me to throw aside horoscopes and predictions of astrologers and palmists and go on with his studies Let him appear for the examination with a calm mind he is sure to pass this year Ask him to trust in Me and not to get disappointed The mother returned home and communicated Baba's message to her son Then he studied hard and in due course appeared for the examination In the written papers he did well but being overwhelmed by doubts he thought that he would not secure sufficient marks for passing So he did not care to appear for the oral examination But the examiner was after him He sent word through a fellow student stating that he had passed in the written examination and that he should appear for the oral The son being thus encouraged appeared for the oral examination and was successful in both Thus he got through the examination that year successfully by Baba's grace though the stars were against him It is to be noted here that doubts and difficulties surround us just to move us and confirm our faith We are tested as it were If we only hold on steadily to Baba with full faith and continue our endeavours our efforts will be ultimately crowned with success The father of this boy Raghunathrao was serving in some foreign mercantile firm in Bombay As he grew old he was not able to attend to his work properly and so he had to take leave and rest As he did not improve during the period of leave a further extension of leave or retirement from service was inevitable The Chief Manager of the firm decided to retire him on pension as he was an old and a reliable servant The question regarding the amount of pension to be given was under consideration He was getting Rs p m and his pension i e half the amount viz Rs would not be enough to meet the expenses of the family So they were all anxious about this matter Fifteen days before the final settlement Baba appeared to Mrs Tendulkar in her dream and said I wish that Rs should be paid settled as pension will this satisfy you She replied Baba why ask me this We fully trust in You Though Baba said Rs still he was given ten Rupees more i e Rs as a special case Such wonderful love and care did Baba exhibit for His Bhaktas Captain Hate Captain Hate who was staying in Bikaner was a great devotee of Baba Once Baba appeared to him in his dream and said Did you forget Me Hate then immediately held Baba s Feet and replied If a child forgets his mother how could it be saved Then Hate went into the garden and took out fresh walpapadi vegetables and arranging shidha ghee wheat flour and dal etc and Dakshina was about to offer all this to Baba when he was awakened and came to know that the whole thing was a dream Then he decided to send all these things to Baba at Shirdi When he came to Gwalior some days afterwards he sent Rs by money order to a friend with instructions that Rs should be spent in buying shidha articles and walpapadi vegetables and those should be offered to Baba with Rs as Dakshina The friend went to Shirdi and purchased the things mentioned but walpapadi was not available In a short time a woman turned up with a basket on her head which curiously enough contained the vegetables It was purchased and then all the things were offered to Baba on behalf of Captain hate Mr Nimonkar prepared the naivedya rice and walpapadi vegetables next day and offered the same to Baba All the people were surprised to see that Baba while dining took and ate walpapadi and did not touch rice and other things Hate s joy knew no bounds when he heard of this from his friend Consecrated Rupee At another time Captain Hate wished that he should have in his house a coin of rupee consecrated by Baba with His touch He came across a friend who was bound for Shirdi With him Hate sent his rupee The friend went to Shirdi and after the usual salutation gave first his Dakshina which Baba pocketed Then he gave Hate s rupee which Baba took in His hand and began to stare at it He held it in front tossed it up with His right thumb and played with it Then He said to the friend Return this to its owner with the Prasad of Udi tell him that I want nothing from him ask him to live in peace and contentment The friend returned to Gwalior handed over the consecrated rupee to Hate and told him all the h appened at Shirdi This time Hate was much pleased and realised that Baba always encouraged good thoughts and as he wished intently Baba fulfilled the same accordingly Waman Narvekar Now let the readers hear a different story A gentleman named Waman Narvekar loved Baba very much He once brought a rupee On one said obverse of it were engraved the figures of Rama Laxman and Sita and on the other reverse side was engraved the figure of Maruti with folded hands He offered it to Baba with a hope that He should consecrate it with His touch and return it to him with Udi But Baba immediately pocketed it Then Shama spoke to Baba regarding Womanrao s intention and requested Him to return it Then Baba spoke in the presence of Wamanrao as follows Why should it be returned to him We should keep it ourselves If he gives Rs for it it will be returned Then for the sake of that rupee Wamanrao collected Rs and placed them before Baba Then Baba said The value of that rupee far exceeds Rupees Shama take this rupee let us have it in our store keep this in your shrine and worship it No one had the courage to ask Baba why He followed this particular action He only knows what is best and most suitable to each and all Bow to Shri Sai Peace be to all

Rue Dalhousie Tel Top contemporary Canadian architect Moshe Safdie designed this modern limestone and glass building in Basse Ville to house Quebec's museum of history and culture. Although highly up to date in feel, the construction has won several prizes for blending in well with its historic surroundings. Three heritage buildings are part of the museum's structure, including Maison d'Estève, an 18th-century merchant's house. The museum also uses another nearby 18th-century house, Maison Chevalier, for displaying Quebec architecture and furniture in period setting. Museum exhibits include Encounters with the First Nations and the remains of a 17th-century French flat-bottomed boat. Many exhibits are hands-on, and during workshops for families, participants are encouraged to try on costumes from different eras.

Rue du Petit Champlain Below Dufferin Terrace in Old City Tel The aptly named Escalier Casse-Cou or Breakneck Stairs descends from Haute-Ville past several levels of gift shops to end on this narrow little walkway in the oldest part of the town. French artisans built homes here as early as the 17th century, and Irish dockworkers moved to the area in the 19th century. Much of the historic architecture remained, but the area fell into decline early in the 20th century. The workers' homes have been transformed into art and speciality shops and restaurants, and the short pedestrian walkway has become one of the liveliest spots in old Quebec City. While often crowded, some interesting boutiques can be found.

Rue du Trésor off Place d'Armes This tiny alley just across rue de Buade from Holy Trinity cathedral is something of a Quebecois institution. Closed to cars, the little street is packed in summer with visitors eager to have their portraits drawn, painted, or caricatured by the dozens of street artists who gather here. Browsing for sketches and watercolors of Quebec scenes can be fun.

<http://www.southgoa.net/dona-paula-beach.aspx> Dona Paula Beach is a strong point where two rivers meet. Go and celebrate the Arabian Sea in this secluded bay of Dona Paula with a beautiful view. Marmagao Harbour is 10 km from Panjim, located on the south side of the rocky hammer-shaped tip that divides Zuari and Mandovi estuaries. This former fishing village is now a commercialized resort. It is an idyllic place to relax and sunbathe. Waterscooter and fishing facilities are also available here. The official residence of the Governor of Goa, known as Cabo Raj Bhavan, is situated at the western tip of Dona Paula. Along the road, there is the ruin of the small British military cemetery built at the end of the occupation of the Cabo to discourage the French from invading Goa. Sai Satcharitra Chapter Effect of compliance and Non compliance with Baba s Orders at the Time of Taking Leave A few Instances Mendicancy and Its Necessity Devotees Tarkhad family s Experiences Baba fed sumptuously How At the end of the last chapter it was barely stated that the Bhaktas who obeyed Baba s orders at the time of taking leave fared well and those who disobeyed them suffered many a mishap This statement will be amplified and illustrated with a few striking instances and by other matters dealt with in this Chapter Characteristic of Shirdi Pilgrimage One special peculiarity of Shirdi pilgrimage was this that none could leave Shirdi without Baba s permission and if he did he invited untold sufferings but if any one was asked to quit Shirdi he could stay there no longer Baba gave certain suggestions or hints when Bhaktas went to bid good bye and take leave These suggestions had to be followed If they were not followed or were departed from accidents were sure to befall them who acted contrary to Baba s directions We give below a few instances Tatya Kote Patil Tatya Kote was once going in a tanga to Kopargaon bazar He came in haste to the Masjid saluted Baba and said that he would go to Kopargtaon bazar Baba said Don t make haste stop a little let go the bazar don t go out of the village On seeing has anxiety to go Baba asked him to take Shama Madhavrao Deshpande at least with him Not minding this direction Tatya Kote immediately drove his tanga Of the two horses one which cost Rs was very active and restless After passing Sawul well it began to run rashly got a sprain in its waist and fell down Tatya was not much hurt but was reminded of Mother Sai s direction On another occasion while proceeding to Kolhar village he disregarded Baba s direction and drove in a tanga which met with a similiar accident European Gentleman One European gentleman of Bombay once came to Shirdi with an introductory note from Nanasaheb Chandorkar and with some object in view He was comfortably accommodated in a tent He wanted to kneel before Baba and kiss His hand Therefore he tried thrice to step into the Masjid but Baba prevented him from doing so He was asked to sit in the open court yard below and take Baba s darshan from there Not pleased with this reception he got he wanted to leave Shirdi at once and came to bid good bye Baba asked him to go the next day and not to hurry People also requested him to abide by Baba s direction Not listening to all this he left Shirdi in a tanga The horses ran at first all right but when Sawul well was passed a bicycle came in front seeing which the horses were frightened and ran fast The tanga was turned topsy turvy and the gentleman fell down and was dragged some distance He was immediately released but had to go and lie in Kopargaon hospital for the treatment of the injuries Because of such experiences all people learnt the lesson that those who disobeyed Baba s instruction met with accidents in one way or the other and those who obeyed them were safe and happy

The Necessity of Mendicancy

Now to return to the question of mendicancy A question may arise in the minds of some that if Baba was such a great personage God in fact why should He have recourse to the begging bowl all His lifetime This question may be considered and replied from two standpoints Who are the fit persons who have a right to live by the begging bowl Our Shastras say that those persons who getting rid of or becoming free from the three main Desires viz for progeny for wealth for fame accept Sannyas are the fit persons to live by begging alms They cannot make cooking arrangements and dine at home The duty of feeding them rests on the shoulders of house holders Sai Baba was neither a house holder nor Vanaprastha He was a celibate sannyasi i e sannyasi from boyhood His firm conviction was that the universe was His home He was the Lord Vasudeo the Supporter of the universe and the Imperishable Brahman So He had the full right to have recourse to the begging bowl Now from the standpoint of Pancha soon five sins and their atonement We all know that in order to prepare food stuffs and meals the householders have to go through five actions or processes viz Kandani Pounding Peshani Grinding Udakumbhi Washing pots Marjani Sweeping and cleaning Chulli Lighting hearths These processes involve destruction of a lot of small insects and creatures and thus the householders incur a lot of sin In order to atone for this sin our Shastras prescribe five kinds of sacrifices viz Brahma Yajna vedadhyayan offerings to Brahman or the study of the Vedas Pitra Yajna offerings to the ancestors Deva Yajna offerings to the Gods Bhoota Yajna offerings to the beings Manushya Atithi Yajna offerings to men or uninvited guests If these sacrifices enjoined by the Shastras are duly performed the purification of their minds is effected and this helps them to get knowledge and self realization Baba in going from house to house reminded the inmates of their sacred duty and fortunate were the people who got the lesson at their homes from Baba Devotee s Experiences Now to return to the other more interesting subject Lord Krishna has said in the Bhagawadgeeta Whosoever devoutly offers to me a leaf a flower or a fruit or water of that pure hearted man I accept that pious offering In the case of Sai Baba if a devotee really longed to offer anything to Sai Baba and if he afterwards forgot to offer the same Baba reminded him or his friend about the offering and made him present it to Him and then accepted it and blessed the devotee A few instances are given below Tarkhad Family father and son Mr Ramachandra Atmaran alias Babasaheb Tarkhad formerly a Prarthana Samajist was a staunch devotee of Sai Baba His wife and son loved Baba equally or perhaps more It was once proposed that Master Tarkhad should go with his mother to Shirdi and spend his May vacation there but the son was unwilling to go as he thought that in case he left his home at Bandra the worship of Sai Baba in the house would not be properly attended to as his father being a Prarthana Samajist would not care to worship Sai Baba s enlarged portrait However on his father s giving an assurance of oath that he would perform the worship exactly as the son was doing the mother and the son left for Shirdi on one Friday night Next day Saturday Mr Tarkhad got up early took his bath and before proceeding with the Puja prostrated himself before the Shrine and said Baba I am going to perform the Puja exactly as my son has been doing but please let it not be a formal drill After he performed the Puja he offered a few pieces of lump sugar as naivedya offering which were distributed at the time of the lunch That evening and on Sunday everything went on well The following Monday was a working day and it also passed well Mr Tarkhad who had never performed Puja like this in all his life felt great confidence within himself that every thing was passing on quite satisfactorily according to the promise given to his son On Tuesday he performed the morning Puja as usual and left for his work Coming home at noon he found that there was no Prasad sugar to partake of when the meal was served He asked the servant cook who told him that there was no offering made that morning and that he had completely forgotten then to perform that part of the Puja offering naivedya After hearing that he left his seat and prostrated himself before the Shrine expressed his regret at the same time chiding Baba for the want of guidance in making the whole affair a matter of mere drill Then he wrote a letter to his son stating the facts and requested him to lay it before Baba s feet and ask His pardon for his neglect This happened in Bandra at Tuesday noon At about the same time when the noon Arati was just about to commence in Shirdi Baba said to Mrs Tarkhad Mother I had been to your house in Bandra with a view to having something to eat I found the door locked I somehow got an entrance inside and found to My regret that Bhau Mr Tarkhad had left nothing for Me to eat so I have returned from there without eating anything The lady could not understand anything but the son who was close by understood that there was something wrong with the Puja in Bandra and he therefore requested Baba to permit him to go home Baba refused the permission but allowed him to perform Puja there Then the son wrote a letter to his father stating all that took place at Shirdi and implored his father not to neglect the Puja at home Both these letters crossed each other and were delivered to the respective parties the next day Is this not astonishing Mrs Tarkhad Let us now take up the case of

Mrs Tarkhad herself She offered three things viz Bharit roasted brinjal egg plant mixed curds and spice Kacharya circular pieces of brinjal fried in ghee Peda sweetmeat ball Let us see how Baba accepted them Once Mr Raghuvir Bhaskar Purandare of Bandra a great devotee of Baba started for Shirdi with his family Mrs Tarkhad went to Mrs Purandare and gave her two brinjals and requested her to prepare Bharit of one bringal and Kacharya of the other when she went to Shirdi and serve Baba with them After reaching Shirdi Mrs Purandare went with her dish of Bharit to the Masjid when Baba was just about to start his meals Baba found the Bharit very tasty So He distributed it to all and said that He wanted Kacharyas now A word was sent to Radha Krishna Mai that Baba wanted Kacharyas She was in a fix as that was no season of brinjals How to get brinjals was the question When an enquiry was made as to who brought the Bharit it was found that Mrs Purandare was also entrusted with the duty of serving Kacharyas Everybody then came to know the significance of Baba s enquiry regarding Kacharyas and was wonderstruck at Baba s all pervasive knowledge In December A D one Govind Balaram Mankar wanted to go to Shirdi to perfrom the obsequies of his father Before he left he came to see Mr Tarkhad Then Mrs Tarkhad wanted to send something with him to Baba She searched the whole house but found nothing except a Peda which had already been offered as naivedya Mr Mankar was in mourning Still out of great devotion to Baba she sent the Peda with him hoping that Baba would accept and eat it Govind went to Shirdi and saw Baba but forgot to take the Peda with him Baba simply waited When again he went to Baba in the afternoon he went empty handed without the Peda Baba could wait no longer and therefore asked him straight What did you bring for me Nothing was the reply Baba asked him again The same reply came forth again Then Baba asked him the leading question Did not the mother Mrs Tarkhad give some sweetmeat to you for Me at the time of your starting The boy then remembered the whole thing He felt abashed asked Baba s pardon ran to his lodging brought the Peda and gave it to Baba As soon as Baba got it in His hand He put it into His mouth and gulped it down Thus the devotion of Mrs Tarkhad was recognized and accepted As men believe in Me so do I accept them Gita was proved in this case Baba Fed Sumptuously How Once Mrs Tarkhad was staying in a certain house in Shirdi

At noon meals were ready and dishes were being served when a hungry dog turned up there and began to cry Mrs Tarkhad got up at once and threw a piece of bread which the dog gulped with great relish In the afternoon when she went to the Masjid and sat at some distance Sai Baba said to her Mother you have fed Me sumptuously up to my throat My afflicted pranas life forces have been satisfied always act like this and this will stand you in good stead Sitting in this Masjid I shall never never speak untruth Take pity on Me like this First give bread to the hungry and then eat yourself Note this well She could not at first understand the meaning of what Baba said So she replied Baba how could I feed You I am myself dependent on others and take my food from them on payment Then Baba replied Eating that lovely bread I am heartily contented and I am still belching The dog which you saw before meals and to which you gave the piece of bread is one with Me so also other creatures cats pigs flies cows etc are one with Me I am roaming in their forms He who sees Me in all these creatures is My beloved So abandon the sense of duality and distinction and serve Me as you did today Drinking these nectar like words she was moved her eyes were filled with tears her throat was choked and her joy knew no bounds Moral See God in all beings is the moral of this chapter The Upanishads the Geeta and the Bhagwat all exhort us to perceive God or Divinity in all the creatures By the instance given at the end of this Chapter and others too numerous to mention Sai Baba has practically demonstrated to us how to put the Upanishadic teachings into practice In this way Sai Baba stands as the best Exponent or Teacher of the Upanishadic doctrines Bow to Shri Sai Peace be to all

Sai Satcharitra Chapter Stories of Shevade and Sapatneker At the commencement of this chapter some one asked Hemadpant whether Sai Baba was a Guru or Sad guru In order to answer the question Hemadpant describes the signs or marks of a Sad guru as follows Signs of Sad guru He who teaches us Veda and Vedanta or the six Shastras systems he who controls the breath or brands his body with Mudras metallic marks of Vishnu s weapons or gives pleasing discourses regarding Brahma he who gives mantras sacred syllables to the disciples and orders them to chant the same a certain number of times but does not assure them any result in a definite time he who by his spacious wordy knowledge explains beautifully the Ultimate Principle but has himself got no experience or self realization is not a Sad guru But he who by his discourse creates in us a distaste for the enjoyments of this world and the next and gives us a taste of self realization who is well versed in both the theoretical and practical knowledge self realization deserves to be called a Sad guru How can he who is himself devoid of self realization give it to the disciples A Sad guru does not even in his dream expect any service or profit from his disciples On the contrary he wishes to serve them He does not think that he is great and the disciple small Not only he loves him as his son but regards him as equal to himself or as Brahma The main characteristic of a Sad guru is that he is the

abode of peace He is never restless nor ruffled He has no pride of his learning The poor and the rich the small and the great are the same to him Hemadpant thinks that on account of the store or accumulation of merits in his past births he had the good fortune of meeting and being blessed by such a Sad guru as Sai Baba Even in full youth He hoarded nothing except perhaps chillim He had no family no friend no home nor any support Since He was eighteen His control of mind was perfect and extra ordinary He lived then fearless in a secluded place and always abided in His Self Seeing the pure attachment of His devotees He always acted in their interests and hence He was in a way dependent on them What experiences He gave to His devotees while he was living in flesh are even to day after His Mahasamadhi obtained now by those who attach themselves to Him What the devotees have to do is this They have to trim their heart lamp of faith and devotion and burn in it wicks of love and when this is done the flame of knowledge self realization will be lit up and shine brighter Mere knowledge without love is dry nobody wants such knowledge Without love there is no contentment so we should have unbroken and unbounded love How can we praise love Everything is insignificant before it Without love our reading hearing and the study are of no avail In the wake of love follow devotion dispassion peace and liberation with all their treasures We do not get love for anything unless we feel earnestly about it So where there is real yearning and feeling God manifests Himself It includes love and is the means of liberation Now let us revert to the main story of this chapter Let a man go to a true saint with a pure mind otherwise fraudulently and hold his feet ultimately he is sure to be saved This is illustrated by the following stories Mr Shevade Mr Sapatneker of Akkalkot Sholapur District was studying for law A co student Mr Shevade met him Other fellow students also gathered together and compared notes of their study It was found by the questions and answers amongst themselves that Mr Shevade was the least prepared of all for the examination and therefore all the students derided him But he said that though he was not prepared he was sure to pass the examination as his Sai Baba was there to get him through it successfully Mr Sapatnekar was surprised at this remark He took Mr Shevade aside and asked him who this Sai Baba was whom he extolled so high He replied There lives in a Masjid in Shirdi Ahmednagar District

a fakir He is a great Sat purusha There may be other saints but this is unique Unless there is a great store of merits on one's account one can't see Him I fully believe in Him and what He says will be never untrue He has assured me that I will pass definitely next year and I am confident that I will get through the final examination also with His grace Mr Sapatnekar laughed at his friend's confidence and jeered at him and Baba Sapatnekar's Mr Sapatnekar passed his examination settled at Akkalkot and practised as a pleader there Ten years after this i.e. in he lost his only son on account of a throat disease This broke his heart He sought relief by making a pilgrimage to Pandharpur Ganagapur and other holy places He got no peace of mind Then he read Vedanta which also did not help him In the meanwhile he remembered Mr Shevade's remarks and his faith in Baba and he thought that he too should go to Shirdi and see Baba He went to Shirdi with his younger brother Panditrao and was much pleased to see Baba from a distance When he went near and prostrated himself and placed a coconut before Baba with pure feeling devotion the latter at once cried out Get away Sapatnekar hung down his head moved back and sat aside He wanted to consult somebody who would advise him how to proceed Somebody mentioned Bala Shimpi's name Sapatnekar saw him and sought his help They bought Baba's photos and came with them to the Masjid Baba Shimpi took a photo in his hand gave it to Baba and asked him whose photo it was Baba said that this photo was the Yara Lover of him pointing to Sapatnekar Saying this Baba laughed and all others joined Bala asked Baba the significance of the laugh and beckoned Sapatnekar to come forward and take darshan When Sapatnekar began to prostrate himself Baba again cried Get out Sapatnekar did not know what to do Then they both joined their hands and sat before Baba praying Baba finally ordered sapatnekar to clear out immediately Both were sad and dejected As Baba's order had to be obeyed Sapatnekar left Shirdi with a heavy heart praying that he should be allowed to take darshan next time Mrs Sapatnekar One year elapsed Still his mind was not at peace He went to Gangapur where he felt more restless Then he went to Madhegaon for rest and finally decided to go to Kashi Two days before starting his wife got a vision In her dream she was going with a pitcher to Lakadsha's well There a fakir with a piece of cloth round his head who was sitting at the foot of the Neem tree came close to her and said My dear lassie why get exhausted for nothing I get your pitcher filled with pure water She was afraid of the fakir and hastened back with the empty pitcher The fakir followed her At this she was awakened and opened her eyes She told this vision to her husband They thought that this was an auspicious sign and they both left for Shirdi When they reached the Masjid Baba was absent He had gone to Lendi They waited till His return When He returned she was surprised to see that the fakir she saw in her vision resembled exactly Baba She reverentially prostrated herself before Baba and sat looking at him Seeing her humility Baba was much pleased and began to tell a story in his peculiar characteristic fashion to a third party He said My arms abdomen and waist are paining for a long time I took many medicines the pains did not abate I got sick of the medicines as they gave me no relief but I am surprised to see now that all the pains have disappeared at once Though no name was mentioned it was the story of Mrs Sapatnekar herself Her pains as described by Baba left her soon and she was happy Then Mr Sapatnekar went ahead to take darshan He was again welcomed with the former Get out This time he was more penitent and persevering He said that Baba s displeasure was due to his past deeds and resolved to make amends for the same He determined to see Baba alone and ask his pardon for his past actions This he did He placed his head on Baba s feet and Baba placed His hand on it and Sapatnekar sat stroking Baba s leg Then a shepherdess came and sat massaging Baba s waist Baba in his characteristic way began to tell the story of a bania He related the various vicissitudes of all his life including the death of his only son Sapatnekar was surprised to see that the story which Baba related was his own and he wondered how Baba knew every detail of it He came to know that He was omniscient and knew the hearts of all When this thought crossed his mind Baba still addressing the shepherdess and pointing to Sapatnekar said This fellow blames Me and charges Me with killing his son Do I kill people s children Why does this fellow come to the Masjid and cry Now I will do this I will again bring that very child back in his wife s womb With these words He placed His blessing and on his head and comforted him saying These feet are old and holy you are care free now place entire faith in Me and you will soon get your object Sapatnekar was much moved with emotion he bathed Baba's feet with his tears and then returned to his residence. Then he made preparations of worship and naivedya and came with his wife to the Masjid. He offered all this to Baba daily and accepted prasada from Him. There was a crowd in the Masjid and Sapatnekar went there and saluted Baba again and again. Seeing heads clashing against heads, Baba said to Sapatnekar, "Oh, why do you prostrate yourself now and then? The one Namaskar offered with love and humility is enough." Then Sapatnekar witnessed that night the chavadi procession described before. In that procession, Baba looked like a veritable Pandurang Vithal. At parting next day, Sapatnekar thought that he should first pay one rupee as dakshina and if Baba asked again instead of saying no, he should pay one more, reserving with him sufficient amount as expenses for the journey. When he went to the Masjid and offered one rupee, Baba asked for another as per his intention and when it was paid, Baba blessed him, saying, "Take the coconut, put it in your wife's oti (upper fold of her sari) and go away at ease without the least anxiety." He did so and within a year a son was born to him and with an infant of months, the pair came to Shirdi, placed it at Baba's feet and prayed thus: "Oh Sainath, we do not know how to redeem Your obligations; therefore we prostrate ourselves before You, bless us poor helpless fellows; henceforth let Your holy feet be our sole refuge. Many thoughts and ideas trouble us in waking and dream states, so turn away our minds from them to Your bhajan and bless us." The son was named Murlidhar. Two others, Bhaskar and Dinkar, were born afterwards. The Sapatnekar pair thus realized that Baba's words were never untrue and unfulfilled but turned out literally true. Bow to Shri Sai. Peace be to all.

Sai Satcharitra Epilogue We have done with Chapter and now we come to the last Chapter No in the original In this Hemadpant gave his concluding remarks and promised to give an index giving the contents of all the Chapters in verse as is given in Marathi sacred books but unfortunately that index was not found in Hemabdpant s papers It was therefore composed and supplied by an able and worthy devotee of Sai Baba Mr B V Deo Retired Mamlatdar of Thana As we give in English books an index in the beginning and contents of each Chapter at its top we need not consider the last index Chapter here and so we consider this Chapter as the Epilogue Unfortunately Hemadpant did not survive to revise the manuscript of this Chapter and made it ready for the press When it was sent to the press Mr Deo found it to be incomplete and unintelligible in certain places but it had to be published as it was found The chief topics dealt therein are briefly given below Greatness of Sad guru Sai We prostrate ourselves before and take refuge in that Sai Samarth Who besets all animate and inanimate things in the universe from a post to God Brahma pots houses mansions and even sky Who pervades all creatures equally without any differentiation to Whom all devotees are alike and Who knows not honour and dishonour like or dislike If we remember Him and surrender to Him He fulfills all our desires and makes us attain the goal of life This ocean of mundane existence is very hard to cross Waves of infatuation beat high there against the bank of bad thoughts and break down trees of fortitude The breeze of egoism blows forcibly and makes the ocean rough and agitated Crocodiles in the form of anger and hatred move there fearlessly Eddies in the form of the idea I and Mine and other doubts whirl there incessantly and innumerable fishes in the form of censure hate and jealousy play there Though this ocean is so fierce and terrible Sad guru Sai is its Agasti Destroyer and the devotees of Sai have not the least to fear of it Our Sadguru is the boat which will safely take us across this ocean Prayer Now we fall flat before Sai Baba and holding His Feet make the following prayer for the public Let not our mind wander and desire anything except Thee Let this work Satcharita be in every house and let it be studied daily Ward off the calamities of those who study it regularly Fala Shruti Reward of Study Now a few words about the reward you get from a study of this work After bathing in the sacred Godavari and after taking the darshan of the Samadhi in the Samadhi mandir in Shirdi you should read or hear the Satcharita If you do this all your threefold afflictions will vanish Casually thinking about the stories of Sai you will get unconsciously interested in spiritual life and if you then go on through the work with love all your sins will be destroyed If you wish to get rid of the cycle of births and deaths read Sai's stories and remember Him always and get yourself attached devoted to His Feet If you dive into the sea of Sai's stories and then give them out to others you will get an ever new flavour of them and save the hearers from perdition If you go on meditating on Sai's Form it will in course of time disappear and lead you into self realization It is very hard to know or realize the nature of Self or Brahma but if you approach through the Sugun Brahma Sai's Form your progress will be easy If the devotee completely surrenders himself to Him he will lose his individuality and be merged in Him and be one with Him as the river in the sea If you thus become merged with Him in any of the three states viz waking dream and sleep you get rid of the bond of samsara If anybody after bathing reads this with love and faith and completes it within a week his calamities will disappear or if he hears or reads it daily and regularly all his dangers will be warded off By its study a man wishing for wealth will get it and a pure trader success in his life He will get the reward according to his faith and devotion Without these there will be no experience of any kind If you read this respectfully Sai will be pleased and removing your ignorance and poverty He will give you knowledge wealth and prosperity With concentrated mind if you read a Chapter daily it will give you unbounded happiness One who has his welfare at heart should study it carefully and then he will ever remember Sai gratefully and joyfully in birth after birth This work should be read at home specially on Guru Pournima Ashadha full moon day Gokul Ashtami Rama Navami and Dasara Baba s anniversary day If you study this one book carefully all your desires will be satisfied and if you always remember Sai s Feet in your heart you will easily cross the Bhava Samsar sagar By its study the diseased and sick will get health the poor wealth the mean and afflicted prosperity and the mind will get rid of all ideas and get steadiness Dear good and devoted readers and listeners we also make our bow to you all and make you a special request Never forget Him whose stories you have read day by day or month by month The more fervently you read or listen to these stories the more encouragement Sai gives us to serve you and be of use to you Both the author and the readers must co operate in this work help each other and be happy Prasad Yachana We close the with prayer to the Almighty for the following Prasad of favour May the readers and devotees get complete and whole hearted devotion to Sai s Feet May His Form be ever fixed in their eyes and may they see Sai the Lord in all beings amen Bow to Shri Sai Peace be to all

Exploring Czech Republic The Czech Republic is one of Europe s youngest states In the years after World War II foreign visitors to what was then Czechoslovakia rarely ventured farther than the capital Prague Today the country s beautifully preserved medieval towns and castles are attracting an ever increasing number of tourists The Czech Republic is divided into two regions Bohemia and Moravia Rolling plains and lush pine clad mountains dotted with medieval chateaux and th century spa resorts characterize the landscape of southern and western Bohemia In spite of the recent influx of tourists life here still proceeds at a gentle relaxed pace In contrast much of northern Bohemia has been given over to mining and other heavy industry with devastating effects on the local environment Moravia has orchards and vineyards in the south and a broad industrial belt in the north of the region Bohemia s largest city and the capital of the Czech Republic Prague is a thriving cultural and commercial center that bears little relation to most people s expectations of an Eastern European city Its wealth of magnificent architecture spanning over a thousand years has withstood

two world wars in the last century Since the early s the Czech Republic has emerged as a relatively healthy democratic state Its economy has been boosted by tourism and the country is now a member of both NATO and the EU HISTORY From BC the area now known as the Czech Republic was settled by Celtic tribes who were later joined by Germanic peoples The first Slavs the forefathers of the Czechs came to the region around AD Struggles for supremacy led to the emergence of a ruling dynasty the Premyslids at the start of the th century The Premyslids were involved in many bloody family feuds In Prince Wenceslas was murdered by his brother Boleslav Later canonized Wenceslas became Bohemia s best known patron saint The reign of Holy Roman Emperor Charles IV in the th century heralded a Golden Age for Bohemia Charles chose Prague as his imperial residence and founded many prestigious institutions there including central Europe s first university In the early th century central Europe shook in fear of an incredible fighting force the Hussites followers of the reformer Jan Hus who preached in Prague and attacked the corrupt practices of the Catholic Church His execution for heresy in led to the Hussite wars The radical wing of the Hussites the Taborites were finally defeated at the Battle of Lipany in At the start of the th century the Austrian Habsburgs took over beginning a period of rule that would last for almost years Religious turmoil led in to the Protestant revolt and the Years War The end of the war ushered in a period of persecution of all non Catholics and a systematic Germanization of the country s institutions The th century saw a period of Czech national revival and the burgeoning of civic pride But a foreign power still ruled and it was not until and the collapse of the Habsburg Empire that the independent republic of Czechoslovakia was declared World War II brought German occupation followed by four decades of Communism In a program of liberal reforms was introduced known as the Prague Spring the reforms were swiftly quashed by Soviet leaders who sent in troops to occupy the country The overthrow of Communism did not come until years later in November a protest rally in Prague against police brutality led to the Velvet Revolution a series of mass demonstrations and strikes that resulted in the resignation of the existing regime The most recent chapter in Czech history was closed in with the peaceful division of Czechoslovakia into two independent states

Sai Satcharitra Chapter Stories of Hari Kanoba Somadeva Swami Nanasaheb Chandorkar

Preliminary The Vedas and the Puranas cannot sufficiently praise describe Brahma or Sad guru then how can we who are ignorant describe our Sad guru Shri Sai Baba We think that it is better for us to keep quiet in this matter In reality the observance of the vow of silence is the best way of praising the Sad guru but the good qualities of Sai Baba make us forget our vow of silence and inspire us to open our mouth Good dishes taste flat if there be no company of friends and relations to partake of the dishes with us but when they join us the dishes acquire additional flavour The same is the case with the Sai Leelamrit the nectar in the form of Sai s leelas This nectar we cannot partake alone Friends and brothers have to join us the more the better It is Sai Baba Himself that inspires these stories and gets them written as He desires Our duty is to surrender completely to Him and meditate on Him Practising penance is better than pilgrimage vow sacrifice and charity Worshipping Hari Lord is better than penance and meditation on the Sad guru is the best of all We have therefore to chant Sai s name by mouth think over His sayings in our mind meditate on His form feel real love for Him in our heart and do all our actions for His sake There is no better means than this for snapping the bondage of samsar If we can do our duty on our part as stated above Sai is bound to help and liberate us Now we revert to the stories of this chapter Hari Kanoba A gentleman of Bombay named Hari Kanoba heard from his friends and relations many Leelas of Baba He did not believe in them as he was a doubting Thomas He wanted to test Baba himself So he came to Shirdi with some Bombay friends He wore a lace bordered turban on his head and a new pair of sandals on his feet Seeing Baba from a distance he thought of going to Him and prostrating himself before Him He did not know what to do with his new sandals Still going to some corner outside in the open courtyard he placed them there and went in the Masjid and took Baba s darshan He made a reverential bow to Baba took udi and prasad from Baba and returned When he reached the corner he found that his sandals had disappeared He searched for them in vain and returned to his lodging very much dejected He bathed offered worship and naivedya and sat for meals but all the while he was thinking about nothing but his sandals After finishing his meals he came out to wash his hands when he saw a Maratha boy coming towards him He had in his hand a stick on the top of which was suspended a pair of new sandals He said to the men who had come out to wash their hands that Baba sent him with this stick in hand and asked him to go on the streets crying Hari Ka Beta Jari Ka Pheta and told him that If anybody claims these sandals first assure yourself that his name is Hari and that he is the son of Ka i e Kanoba and that he wears a lace bordered turban and then give them to him Hearing this Hari Kanoba was pleasantly surprised He went ahead to the boy and claimed the sandals as his own He said to the boy that his name was Hari and that he was the son of Ka Kanoba and showed him his lace bordered turban The boy was satisfied and returned the sandals to him Hari Kanoba wondered in his mind saying that his lace bordered turban was visible to all and Baba might have seen it but how could he know his name Hari and that he was the son of Kanoba as this was his first trip to Shirdi He came there with the sole object of testing Baba and with no other motive He came to know by this incident that Baba was a great Satpurush He got what he wanted and returned home well pleased Somadeva Swami

Now hear the story of another man who came to try Baba Bhaiji brother of Kakasaheb Dixit was staying at Nagpur When he had gone to the Himalayas in A D he made an acquaintance with one Somadeva Swami of Haradwar at Uttarkashi down the Gangotri valley Both took down each other s names in their diaries Five years afterwards Somadeva Swami came to Nagpur and was Bhaiji s guest There he was pleased to hear the Leelas of Baba and a strong desire arose in his mind to go to Shirdi and see Him He got a letter of introduction from Bhaiji and left for Shirdi After passing Manmad and Kopergaon he took a tanga and drove to Shirdi As he came near Shirdi he saw two high flags floating over the Masjid in Shirdi Generally we find different ways of behaviour different modes of living and different outward paraphernalia with different saints But these outward signs should never be our standards to judge the worth of the saints But with Somadeva Swami it was different As soon as he saw the flags flying he thought Why should a saint take a liking for the flags does this denote sainthood It implies the saint s hankering after fame Thinking thus he wished to cancel his Shirdi trip and said to his fellow travellers that he would go back. They said to him, "Then why did you come so long? If your mind gets restless by the sight of the flags, how much more agitated would you be on seeing in Shirdi the Ratha, car, the palanquin, the horse and all other paraphernalia." The Swami got more confounded and said, "Not a few such Sadhus with horses, palanquins and tom-toms have I seen and it is better for me to return than see such Sadhus." Saying this, he started to return. The fellow travellers pressed him not to do so but to proceed. They asked him to stop his crooked way of thinking and told him that the Sadhu, i.e. Baba, did not care a bit for the flags and other paraphernalia nor for fame. It was the people, His devotees, that kept up all this paraphernalia out of love and devotion to Him. Finally, he was persuaded to continue his journey go to Shirdi and see Baba. When he went and saw Baba from the courtyard, he was melted; inside his eyes were full of tears, his throat was choked and all his evil and crooked thoughts vanished. He remembered his Guru's saying that that is our abode and place of rest where the mind is most pleased and charmed. He wished to roll himself in the dust of Baba's Feet and when he approached Baba, the latter got wild and cried aloud, "Let all our humbug paraphernalia be with us; you go back to your home, beware if you come back to this Masjid. Why take the darshan of one who flies a flag over his Masjid? Is this a sign of sainthood? Remain here, not a moment." The Swami was taken aback by surprise. He realized that Baba read his heart and spoke it out. How omniscient He was! He knew that he was least intelligent and that Baba was noble and pure. He saw Baba embracing somebody, touching someone with his hand, comforting others, staring kindly at some, laughing at others, giving udi prasad to some and thus pleasing and satisfying all. Why should he alone be dealt with so harshly? Thinking seriously, he came to realize that Baba's conduct responded exactly to his inner thought and that he should take a lesson from this and improve and that Baba's wrath was a blessing in disguise. It is needless to say that later on his faith in Baba was confirmed and he became a staunch devotee of Baba Nanasaheb Chandorkar. Hemadpant concludes this chapter with a story of Nanasaheb Chandorkar. When Nanasaheb was once sitting in the Masjid with Mhalasapati and others, a Mahomedan gentleman from Bijapur came with his family to see Baba. Seeing gosha veiled ladies with him Nanasaheb wanted to go away but Baba prevented him from doing so The ladies came and took the darshan of Baba When one of the ladies removed her veil in saluting Baba's feet and then resumed it again Nanasaheb who saw her face was so much smitten with her rare beauty that he wished to see her face again Knowing Nana's restlessness of mind Baba spoke to him after the lady had left the place as follows Nana why are you getting agitated in vain Let the senses do their allotted work or duty we should not meddle with their work God has created this beautiful world and it is our duty to appreciate its beauty The mind will get steady and calm slowly and gradually When the front door was open why go by the back one When the heart is pure there is no difficulty whatsoever Why should one be afraid of any one if there be no evil thought in us The eyes may do their work why should you feel shy and tottering Shama was there and he could not follow the meaning of what Baba said So he asked Nana about this on their way home Nana told him about his restlessness at the sight of the beautiful lady how Baba knew it and advised him about it Nana explained Baba's meaning as follows That our mind is fickle by nature it should not be allowed to get wild The senses may get restless the body however should be held in check and not allowed to be impatient Senses run after objects but we should not follow them and crave for their objects By slow and gradual practice restlessness can be conquered We should not be swayed by the senses but they cannot be completely controlled We should curb them rightly and properly according to the need of the occasion Beauty is the subject of sight we should fearlessly look at the beauty of objects There is no room for shyness or fear Only we should never entertain evil thoughts Making the mind desireless observe God's works of beauty In this way the senses will be easily and naturally controlled and even in enjoying objects you will be reminded of God If the outer senses are not held in check and if the mind be allowed to run after objects and be attached to them our cycle of births and deaths will not come to an end Objects of sense are things harmful With Viveka discrimination as our charioteer we will control the mind and will not allow the senses to go astray With such a charioteer we reach the Vishnu pada the final abode our real Home from which there is no return Bow to Shri Sai Peace be to all

State transit's Sydney buses provide a punctual service that links up conveniently with the city's rail and ferry systems. As well as covering city and suburban areas there are two Airport Express services and two excellent sightseeing buses the Sydney Explorer and the Bondi Explorer. The Transport Infoline can advise you on routes, fares and journey times for all Sydney buses. Armed with the map on the inside back cover of this book and a composite ticket you can avoid the difficulties and expense of city parking. Using Sydney Buses, Route numbers and journey destinations are displayed on the front, back and left side of all State Transit buses. An X in front of the number means that it is an express bus. Only single journey tickets can be purchased on board regular buses. Single fares are bought from the driver. Try to have coins ready as drivers are not always able to change large notes. You will be given a ticket valid for that journey only if you change buses you will have to pay again. If using a TravelTen ticket or TravelPass you must insert it in the automatic stamping machine as you board. Make sure that the arrow is facing towards you and pointing downwards. If sharing a TravelTen ticket insert it into the machine once for each person traveling. Front seats must be given up to elderly or disabled passengers. Eating, drinking, smoking and playing music are prohibited on buses. To signal that you wish to alight press one of the stop buttons they are mounted on the vertical handrails on each seat well before the bus reaches your stop. The doors are electronic and can only be opened by the bus drivers. Bus Stops Bus stops are indicated by yellow and black signs displaying a profile of a bus. Below this symbol the numbers of all buses along the route are clearly listed. Timetables are usually found at main bus stops. Public holidays follow the Sunday timetable. While bus stop timetables are kept as up to date as possible it is best to carry a current timetable with you. They are available from State Transit Information and Ticket Kiosks as well as some tourist information facilities. Sightseeing By Bus Two Sydney bus services the red Sydney Explorer and the blue Bondi Explorer offer flexible sightseeing with commentaries. The Sydney Explorer covers a 100 km mile circuit and stops at 16 of the city's most popular attractions. The Bondi Explorer travels through a number of Sydney's eastern suburbs taking in much of the area's coastal scenery The red buses run daily every minutes the blue every minutes The great advantage of these services is that you can explore at will getting on and off the buses as often as you wish in the course of a day The best way to make the most of your journey is to choose the sights you most want to see and plan a basic itinerary Be sure to note the various opening times of museums art galleries and shops the bus drivers can often advise you about these Explorer bus stops are clearly marked by the colors of the bus red or blue Tickets for both Explorers buses can be bought when boarding and are available from State Transit Information and Ticket Kiosks

Sai Satcharitra Chapter In this chapter Hemadpant after making some preliminary observations on some points of Vedanta describes the Chavadi procession Preliminary Blessed is Sai s life blessed is His daily routine His ways and actions are indescribable Sometimes He was intoxicated with Brahmanand divine joy and at other times content with Self knowledge Doing so many things sometimes He was unconcerned with them Though He seemed at times quite actionless doing nothing He was not idle or dozing He always abided in His own Self Though He looked calm and quiet as the placid sea He was deep and unfathomable Who can describe His ineffable nature He regarded men as brothers women as sisters and mothers He was a perfect and perpetual celibate as everybody knows May the understanding knowledge we got in His company last long unto death Let us ever serve Him with whole hearted devotion to His feet Let us see Him God in all beings and let us ever love His name Hemadpant after making some lengthy dissertations on some topics of Vedanta which he himself considers as a digression goes on to describe the Chavadi procession Chavadi Procession Baba s dormitory has been already described One day He slept in the Masjid and on the next in the Chavadi a small building containing a room or two near the Masjid This alternate sleeping in both these buildings went on till Baba s Mahasamadhi From th December devotees began to offer regular worship to Baba in the Chavadi This we will now describe with His grace When the turn of retiring to the Chavadi came people flocked to the Masjid and made bhajan in the mandap courtyard for a few hours Behind them was a beautiful Ratha small car to the right a Tulsi vrindavan and in front Baba and between these the devotees fond of bhajan Men and women who had a liking for the bhajan came in time Some took Tal Chiplis and Kartal Mridang Khanjiri and Ghol all musical instruments in their hands and conducted the bhajan Sai Baba was the Magnet Who drew all the devotees to Him there Outside in the open some trimmed their divatyas torches some decorated the palanquin some stood with cane sticks in their hands and uttered cries of victory to Baba The corner was decorated with buntings Round about the Masjid rows of burning lamps shed their light Baba s horse Shyamakarna stood fully decorated outside Then Tatya Patil came with a party of men to Baba and asked Him to be ready Baba sat quiet in his place till Tatya came and helped Him to get up by putting his arm under Baba s arm pit Tatya called Baba by the name of Mama Really their relationship was extremely intimate Baba wore on his body the usual kafni took His satka short stick under His arm pit and after taking His chilim tobacco pipe and tobacco and placing a cloth over His shoulder became ready to start Then Tatya threw a golden embroidered beautiful Shela Shawl over His body After this Baba moving a little the bundle of fuel sticks lying behind with His right toe and then extinguishing the burning lamp with His right hand started for the Chavadi Then all sorts of musical instruments tashe band and horns and mridang gave out their different sounds and fire works exhibited their different and various coloured views Men and women singing Baba s name started walking making bhajan to the accompaniment of mridang and veena Some danced with joy and some carried various flags and standards The Bhaldars announced Baba s name when He came on the steps of the Masjid On the two sides of Baba stood persons who held chavaris and others who fanned Baba On the way were spread folds of cloth on which Baba walked on being supported by devotees hands Tatyaba held the left hand and Mhalasapati the right and Bapusaheb Jog held the chhatra umbrella over His head In this fashion Baba marched on to the Chavadi The fully decorated red horse named Shyamakarna led the way and behind him were all the carriers waiters musical players and the crowd of devotees Hari nama the name of the Lord chanted to the accompaniment of music rent the skies as also the name of Sai In this manner the procession reached the corner when all the persons that joined this party seemed well pleased and delighted On coming to this corner Baba stood facing the Chavadi and shone with a peculiar lustre It seemed as if the face of Baba glittered like dawn or like the glory of the rising sun Baba stood there with a concentrated mind facing the north as if He was calling somebody All the instruments played their music while Baba moved His right arm up and down for some time Kakasaheb Dixit at this time came forward with a silver plate containing flowers besmeared with gulal red powder and threw them on Baba's body off and on. The musical instruments played their best at this juncture and Baba's face beamed with steady and added radiance and beauty and all the persons drank this lustre to their hearts' content. Words fail to describe the scene and splendour of this occasion. Some times Mhalasapati began to dance being possessed or obsessed by some deity but all were surprised to see that Baba's concentration was not in the least disturbed. With a lantern in his hand Tatya Patil walked on Baba's left side and Bhagat Mhalasapati on the right holding with his hand the hem of Baba's garment. What a beautiful procession and what an expression of devotion. To witness this men and women poor and rich flocked together there. Baba walked very slow. Bhaktas followed on both sides with love and devotion. With joy pervading the whole atmosphere of the place the procession reached the Chavadi. That scene and those days are gone now. Nobody can see them now or in the future still remembering and visualising that scene and sight we can bring solace and comfort to our minds. The Chavadi was also fully decorated with a good white ceiling, mirrors and many sorts of lamps. On reaching it Tatya went ahead and spread an asan and placing a bolster made Baba sit there and made Him wear good angaraksha coat. Then the devotees worshipped Him in various ways. They put on His head a mugut crown with a tuft above placed garlands of flowers and jewels round His neck and marking His forehead with musk mixed vertical lines and a dot as Vaishnava devotees do they started at Him for long to their hearts' content. They changed His head dress now and then and held it aloft on the head fearing that Baba might throw it away. Baba knew the heart of them all and meekly submitted to all their methods without objection. With these decorations He looked wonderfully beautiful. Nanasaheb Nimonkar held the Chhatra umbrella with its beautiful pendants which moved in a circle with its supporting stick. Bapusaheb Jog washed the feet of Baba in a silver dish and offered arghya and worship with due formalities then besmeared His arms with sandal paste and offered tambul, betel leaves. Baba sat on the asan gadi while Tatya and others kept standing and falling at His feet. When Baba sat on the gadi supporting Himself against the bolster devotees on both sides waved chamars and fans. Shama then prepared the chillim and handed it over to Tatyaba who drew a flame out of it by his breath and then gave it to Baba. After Baba had His smoke, it was given to Bhagat Mhalasapati and then it was passed round to all. Blessed was the inanimate chillim. It had first to undergo many ordeals of penance such as being treated by pot makers, dried in the open sun and burnt in fire, and then it had the good fortune to get the contact of Baba's hand and His kiss. After this function was over, devotees put garlands of flowers on His neck and gave Him nose gays and bunches of flowers for smelling. Baba, who was dispassion or non-attachment incarnate, cared a fig for all these necklaces of jewels and garlands of flowers and other decorations but, out of real love to His devotees, He allowed them to have their own way and to please themselves. Finally Bapusaheb Jog waved the arati over Baba, observing all formalities, the musical instruments playing their auspicious tunes. When this arati was over, the devotees returned home one by one, saluting Baba and taking His leave. When Tatyapa Patil, after offering chillim, attar, scent and rose water, rose to depart, Baba said to him lovingly, "Guard Me, go if you like, but return sometimes at night and enquire after Me." Replying in the affirmative, Tatyapa left the Chhavadi and went home. Then Baba Himself prepared His bed. He arranged or white chadders one upon another and thus making His bed, went to rest. We shall also now take rest and close this chapter with a request to the readers that they should remember Sai Baba and His Chhavadi procession daily before they retire and go to bed. Bow to Shri Sai. Peace be to all.

Anzac Square of Queensland All Australian cities commemorate those who have given their life for their country Brisbane s war memorial is centered on Anzac Square an attractive park planted with among other flora rare boab baobab trees The Eternal Flame burns in a Greek revival cenotaph at the Ann Street entrance to the park Beneath the cenotaph is the Shrine of Memories containing various tributes and wall plaques to those who gave their lives in war Old Windmill Built in the Old Windmill is one of two buildings still standing in Brisbane from convict days the old Commissariat Stores being the other survivor Originally the colony s first industrial building it proved unworkable without the availability of trained operators so it was equipped with treadmills to punish recalcitrant convicts. It later served as a time signal with a gun fired and a ball dropped each day at exactly pm. The picturesque mill was also chosen as the first television image in Australia in the s. The windmill is not open to the public but it makes a striking photograph. Fortitude Valley and Chinatown. The Ship Fortitude sailed from England and up the Brisbane River in with settlers on board and the name stuck to the valley where they disembarked. For a time the area was the trading centre of the city and some impressive buildings were erected during the s and s. It then degenerated into one of Brisbane's seedier areas. In the s the city council began to revive the district. It is now the bohemian centre of Brisbane with some of the city's best restaurants. McWhirter's Emporium, an Art Deco landmark, is home to a popular indoor clothes market. On Saturday mornings there is also a busy outdoor market in Brunswick Street. The area should be avoided at night. Also within the valley is Brisbane's Chinatown, a bustling area of Asian restaurants, supermarkets, cinemas and martial arts centers. The lions at the entrance to the area were turned around when a feng shui expert considered their original position to be bad for business.

Sai Satcharitra Chapter This Chapter describes Shama s strip to Kashi Prayag and Gaya and how Baba in the Form of His portrait was there ahead of him it also describes Baba s reminiscences of the past birth of two goats Preliminary Blessed Oh Sai are Your Feet blessed is Your remembrance and blessed is Your darshana which frees us from the bond of Karma Though Your Form is invisible to us now still if the devotees believe in You they get living experiences from You By an invisible and subtle thread You draw Your devotees from far and near to Your Feet and embrace them like a kind and loving mother The devotees do not know where You are but You so skillfully pull the wires that they ultimately realize that You are at their back to help and support them The intelligent wise and learned folk fall into the pit of the samsar on account of their egoism but You save by Your power the poor simple and devout persons Inwardly and invisibly you play all the game but show that you are not concerned with it You do things and pose yourself as a non doer Nobody ever knows Your life The best course therefore for us is to surrender our body speech and mind to Your Feet and always chant Your name for destroying our sins You fulfill the wishes of the devotees and to those who are without any desire You give bliss supreme Chanting Your sweet name is the easiest sadhan for devotees By this sadhan means our sins Rajas and Tamas qualities will vanish the Sattwa qualities and righteousness will gain predominance and along with this discrimination dispassion and knowledge will follow Then we shall abide in our Self and our Guru who are one and the same This is what is called complete surrender to the Guru The only sure sign of this is that our mind gets calm and peaceful The greatness of this surrender devotion and knowledge is unique for peace non attachment fame and salvation etc come in its train If Baba accepts a devotee He follows him and stands by him day and night at his home or abroad Let the devotee go anywhere he likes Baba is there ahead of him in some form in an inconceivable manner The following story illustrates this Sometime after Kakasaheb Dixit was introduced to Sai Baba he decided to perform the thread Upanayan ceremony of his eldest son Babu at Nagpur At about the same time Nanasaheb Chandorkar decided to perform the marriage ceremony of his eldest son at Gwalior Both Dixit and Chandorkar came to shirdi and lovingly invited Baba for these functions Baba asked them to take Shama as His representative When He was pressed to come in person Baba told them to take Shama with them and that after doing Banares and Prayag He would be ahead of Shama Now mark these words for they show Baba s all pervasiveness Taking the permission of Baba Shama decided to go to Nagpur and Gwalior for these functions and ceremonies and thence to Kashi Prayag and Gaya Appa Kote made up his mind to accompany him They both went first to Nagpur for the thread ceremony Kakasaheb Dixit gave Shama Rs for his expenses Then they went to Gwalior for the marriage ceremony There Nanasaheb Chandorkar gave Shama Rs and his Vyahi relation Mr Jather gave him also Rs Then Shama went to Kashi and then to Ayodhya where he was well received in

Jathar's beautiful temple of Laxmi Narayan at Kashi Varanasi or Banares and in the Rama Mandir at Ayodhya by Jathar's manager. They Shama and Kote stayed for days in Ayodhya and two months in Kashi Banares. Then they left for Gaya. In the train they felt a little uneasy on hearing that plague was prevailing in Gaya. At night they alighted at Gaya station and stayed in the Dharmashala. In the morning the Gayawala, the Priest who arranges and provides for the lodging and boarding of the pilgrims, came there and said, "The pilgrims have already started, you better make haste." Shama casually asked him whether there was plague in Gaya. No, said the Gayawala. Please come without any fear or anxiety and see yourself. Then they went with him and stayed in his house, which was a big and commodious Wada. Shama was pleased with the accommodation provided for him, but what pleased him most was the beautiful big portrait of Baba fixed in the central and front portion of the building. Seeing this portrait, Shama was overwhelmed with emotion. He remembered Baba's words viz. After doing Kashi and Prayag, He would be ahead of Shama and burst into tears. His hairs stood on end, his throat was choked, and he began to sob. The Gayawala thought that he was afraid of plague prevailing there and therefore was crying. But Shama enquired of him whence he got Baba's portrait there. He replied that he had his agents working at Manmad and Punatambe for looking to the convenience of the pilgrims to Gaya, and from them he heard about Baba's fame. Then about years ago he went to Shirdi and took Baba's darshana. There he wanted Baba's portrait hung in Shama's house, and with Baba's permission, Shama gave it to him. This was the same portrait. Shama then remembered this former incident. The Gayawala's joy knew no bounds when he learnt that the same Shama who obliged him before was his guest then. Then they both exchanged love and service and were most delighted and happy. The Gayawala gave him a right royal welcome. He was a very rich man. He sat in a palanquin and made Shama ride an elephant and attended to all his comforts and conveniences. The moral of the story is this: That Baba's words came out true to the letter and unbounded was His love towards the devotees. But leave this aside. He also loved all creatures equally for He felt that He was one with them. The following story will illustrate this. Two Goats. Baba was once returning from Lendi when He saw a flock of goats. Two of them attracted His attention He went to them caressed and fondled them and bought them for Rs The devotees were surprised at this conduct of Baba They thought that Baba was duped in this bargain as the goats would fetch Rs two each at the most Rs or each i e Rs for both They began to take Baba to task for this but Baba kept calm and cool Shama and Tatya Kote asked Baba for an explanation He said He should not store money as He had no home and any family to look after He asked them to purchase at His cost seers of dal lentil and feed the goats After this was done Baba returned the goats to the owner of the flock and gave out of the following reminiscences and story of the goats Oh Shama and Tatya you think that I have been deceived in this bargain No Listen to their story In their former birth they were human beings and had the good fortune to be My companions and sit by My side They were uterine brothers loving each other at first but later on they became enemies The elder brother was an idle fellow while the younger one was an active chap and earned a lot of money The former became greedy and jealous and wanted to kill his brother and take away his money They forgot thier fraternal relations and began to quarrel with each other The elder brother resorted to many devices to kill his younger brother but all of his attempts failed Thus they became deadly enemies and finally on one occasion the elder gave a deadly blow with a big stick on the latter s head while the latter struck the former with an axe with the result that both fell dead on the spot As the result of their actions they were both born as goats As they passed by me I at once recognized them I remembered their past history Taking pity on them I wanted to feed them and give them rest and comfort and for this reason I spent all the money for which you reprove me As you did not like My bargain I sent them back to their shepherd Such was Sai s love for the goats Bow to Shri Sai Peace be to all

Grand Canyon The Grand Canyon is miles long ranges in width from to miles and about a mile deep
The major attraction of the Grand Canyon is extra ordinary size and the colourful landscape Grand Canyon is a deep turn in the Colorado plateau that exposes uplifted Proterozoic and Paleozoic strata and is one of the six distinct physiographic sections of the Colorado Plateau province Geologically its importance is because of the thick sequence of ancient rocks that are beautifully preserved and exposed in the walls of the canyon These rock layers record much of the early geologic history of the North American continent Grand Canyon provides many heart capturing and visually overwhelming landscapes

Sai Satcharitra Chapter Kakasaheb's Doubt and Anandrao's Vision Wooden Plank Baba's bedstead and not Bhagat's Preliminary We have described in the last three chapters Baba's Passing away His physical or finite form has no doubt disappeared from our view but the infinite or spiritual form Spirit of Baba ever lives The Leelas which occurred during His lifetime have been dwelt upon at great length up till now Ever since His passing away fresh Leelas have taken place and are even now happening This clearly shows that Baba is ever living and helping His devotees as before The people who got the contact of Baba when He was living were indeed very fortunate but if any of them did not get a dispassion for the things and enjoyments of the world and had not their minds turned to the Lord it was sheerly their ill luck What was then wanted and is now wanted is the whole hearted devotion to Baba All our senses organs and mind should co operate in worshipping and serving Baba It is no use in engaging some organs in the worship and deflecting others If a thing like worship or meditation is to be done it ought to be done with all our mind and soul The love that a

chaste woman bears to her husband is sometimes compared to that which a disciple bears to his master Guru Yet the former falls far short of the latter which is incomparable No one whether he be father mother brother or any other relation comes to our aid in attaining the goal of life self realization We have to chalk out and traverse the path of self realization ourselves We have to discriminate between the Unreal and the Real renounce the things and enjoyments of this world and the next control our senses and mind and aspire for liberation only Instead of depending upon others we should have full faith in ourselves When we begin to practice discrimination we come to know that the world is transient and unreal and our passion for worldly things becomes less and less and ultimately we get dispassion or non attachment for them Then we know that the Brahma which is no other than our Guru is the sole reality and as It transcends and besets the seeming universe we begin to worship It in all creatures This is the unitive Bhajan or worship When we thus worship the Brahma or Guru whole heartedly we become one with Him and attain self realization In short always chanting the name of the Guru and meditating on Him enables us to see Him in all beings and confers eternal bliss on us The following story will illustrate this Kakasaheb s Doubt and Anandrao s Vision It is well known that Sai Baba had enjoined Kakasaheb Dixit to read daily two works of Shri Ekanath Bhagawat and Bhawartha Ramayan Kakasaheb read these daily while Baba was living and he followed the practice even after Baba s passing away Once in Kaka Mahajani s house in Choupati Bombay Kakasaheb was reading Ekanathi Bhagawat in the morning Madhavarao Deshpande alias Shama and Kaka Mahajani were then present and listened attentively to the portion read viz the 10th Chapter 10th skandha of the book Therein the nine Nathas or Siddhas of the Rishabha family viz Kavi Hari Antariksha Prabuddha Pippalayan Avirhotra Drumil Chamas and Karabhajan expounded the principles of the Bhagawat Dharma to King Janak The latter asked all the nine Nathas most important questions and each of them answered them satisfactorily The first i.e Kavi explained what is Bhagawat Dharma Hari the characteristics of a Bhakta devotee Antariksha what is Maya Prabuddha how to cross Maya Pippalayan what is Para Brahma Avirhotra what is Karma Drumil the incarnations of God and their deeds Chamas how a non devotee fares after death

Karabhajan the different modes of worship of God in different ages The substance of all the exposition was that in this Kali age the only means of liberation was the remembrance of Hari s Lord s or Guru s feet After the reading was over Kakasaheb said in a despondent tone to Madhavarao and others How wonderful is the discourse of the nine Nathas on Bhakti or devotion But at the same time how difficult it is to put it into practice The Nathas were perfect but is it possible for fools like us to attain the devotion as delineated by them we won t get it even after several births then how are we to get salvation It seems that there is no hope for us Madhavarao did not like this pessimistic attitude of Kakasaheb He said It is a pity that one who by his good luck got such a jewel Guru as Baba should cry out so disparagingly If he has unwavering faith in Baba why should he feel restless The Bhakti of the Nathas may be strong and wonderful but is not ours loving and affectionate And has not Baba told us authoritatively that remembering and chanting Hari s and Guru s name confers salvation Then where is the cause for fear and anxiety Kakasaheb was not satisfied with Madhavarao s explanation He continued to be anxious and restless the whole day thinking and brooding over how to get the powerful Bhakti of the Nathas Next morning the following miracle took place One gentleman named Anandrao Pakhade came there in search of Madhavarao The reading of the Bhagawat was then going on Mr Pakhade sat near Madhavarao and was whispering something to him He was mentioning in low tone his dream vision As there was some interruption in the reading by this whispering Kakasaheb stopped the reading and asked Madhavarao what the matter was The latter said Yesterday you expressed your doubt now here is the explanation of it hear Mr Pakhade s vision which Baba gave him explaining the characteristic of saving devotion and showing that the devotion in the form of bow to or worship of Guru s feet is sufficient All were anxious to hear the vision specially Kakasaheb At their suggestion Mr Pakhade began to relate the vision as follows I was standing in a deep sea in waist deep water There I saw Sai Baba all of a sudden He was sitting on a beautiful throne studded with diamonds with His Feet in water I was most pleased and satisfied with the Form of Baba The vision was so realistic that I never thought that it was a dream Curiously enough Madhavarao was also standing there He said to me feelingly

Anandrao fall at Baba s Feet I rejoined I also wish to do so but His Feet are in water how can I place my head on them I am helpless Hearing this he said to Baba Oh Deva take out Your Feet which are under water Then Baba immediately took out His feet I caught them without delay and bowed to them On seeing this Baba blessed me saying Go now you will attain your welfare there is no cause for fear and anxiety He also added Give a silk bordered dhotar to my Shama you will profit thereby In compliance with Baba s order Mr Pakhade brought the dhotar and requested Kakasaheb to hand it over to Madhavarao but the latter refused to accept it saying that unless Baba gave a hint or suggestion for acceptance he would not accept it Then after some discussion Kakasaheb decided to cast lots It was the invariable practice of Kakasaheb to cast lots in all dubious matters and to abide by the decision as shown by the picked up chit or lot In this particular case two chits on one of which was written To accept and on another To reject were placed at the feet of Baba s picture and an infant was asked to pick one of them The To accept chit was picked up and the dhotar was handed over to and accepted by Madhavarao In this way both Anandrao and Madhavarao were satisfied and Kakasaheb s difficulty was solved This story exhorts us to give respect to the words of other saints but at the same time asks us to have full faith in our Mother i e the Guru and abide by His instructions for he knows our welfare better than any other person Carve out on your heart the following words of Baba There are innumerable saints in this world but Our father Guru is the Father Real Guru Others might say many good things but we should never forget our Guru s words In short love your Guru whole heartedly surrender to Him completely and prostrate yourselves before Him reverentially and then you will see that there is no sea of the mundane existence before you to cross there is no darkness before the sun Wooden plank Baba s Bed Stead and not Bhagat s In His earlier days Baba slept on a wooden plank arms in length and only a span in breadth with panatis earthen lamps burning at the four corners Later on He broke the plank into pieces and threw it away Vide Chapter X Once Baba was describing the greatness or importance of this plank to Kakasaheb Hearing this the latter said to Baba If You still love the wooden plank I will again suspend or hang up one in the Masjid again for You to sleep at ease Baba replied I won t like to sleep up leaving

Mhalasapati down on the ground Then Kakasaheb said I will provide another plank for Mhalasapati Baba How can he sleep on the plank It is not easy to sleep up on the plank He who has many good qualities in him can do so He who can sleep with his eyes wide open can effect that When I go to sleep I ask often Mhalasapati to sit by My side place his hand on My heart and watch the chanting of the Lord s name there and if he finds Me sleepy wake Me up He can t do even this He himself gets drowsy and begins to nod his head When I feel his hand heavy as a stone on My heart and cry out Oh Bhagat he moves and opens his eyes How can he who can t sit and sleep well on the ground and whose asana posture is not steady and who is a slave to sleep sleep high up on a plank On many other occasions Baba said out of love for His devotees What whether good or bad is ours is with us and what is another s is with him Bow to Shri Sai Peace be to all

Rialto Towers Rialto Towers is the tallest office building in the southern hemisphere with floors above street level and below From street level up it measures m ft The structure was built in by Australian developer Bruno Grollo who was also responsible for the city s new casino on the Yarra River An observation deck was opened on the th floor in and now draws visitors a day to see panoramic views of the city There is also a half hourly screening of a minute film introducing visitors to the sights of Melbourne The lift travels from the ground floor to the th floor in seconds and is one of the fastest in the world Royal Mint This Former Mint built between and contains two courts which were until recently used to cope with the overflow from the Supreme Court The building replaced

Melbourne's first Exhibition Building erected in and subsequently destroyed by fire. When the mint opened in it processed finds from the Victoria gold fields and was a branch of the Royal Mint of London. The actual coining processes took place in an area now occupied by the car park. After the Commonwealth of Australia was founded in new silver coinage was designed which the mint produced from to the mid s. The Melbourne site ceased production in when the Royal Mint was relocated to Canberra. Although the Royal Mint building is now closed to the general public visitors can still take in its imposing structure from the outside.

Sai Satcharitra Chapter Naradiya Kirtan Paddhati Mr Cholkar's Sugarless Tea Two Lizards. The readers may remember that mention was made in the th Chapter regarding the Rama Navami Festival in Shirdi how the festival originated and how in the early years there was a great difficulty in getting a good Hardidas for performing Kirtan on that occasion and how Baba permanently entrusted this function Kirtan to Dasganu permanently. Now in this Chapter we shall describe the manner in which Dasganu was performing the Kirtan Naradiya Kirtan Paddhati. Generally our Haridasas while performing the Kirtan wear a gala and full dress. They put on a head dress either a pheta or a turban, a long flowing coat with a shirt inside, an uparane short dhotar on the shoulders and the usual long dhotar from the waist below. Dressed in this fashion for some Kirtan in the Shirdi village Dasganu once went to bow to Baba. Baba asked him, 'Well bridegroom, where are you going dressed so beautifully like this?' For performing a Kirtan was the reply. Then Baba said, 'Why do you want all this paraphernalia: coat, uparani and pheta etc.?' 'Doff all that before Me, why wear them on the body?' Dasganu immediately took them off and placed them at the Baba's Feet. From that time Dasganu never wore these things while performing the Kirtan. He was always bare from waist upwards, a pair of chiplis was in his hand and a garland round his neck. This is not in consonance with the practice generally followed by all the Hardidasas but this is the best and the purest method. The sage Narada from whom the Kirtan Paddhati originated wore nothing on his trunk and head. He carried a veena in his hand and wandered from place to place everywhere singing the glory of the Lord. Mr Cholkar's Sugarless Tea. Initially Baba was known in Poona and Ahmednagar Districts but

Nanasaheb Chandorkar by his personal talks and by Dasganu by his splendid Kirtans spread the fame of Baba in the Konkan Bombay Presidency In fact it was Dasganu May God bless him who by his beautiful and inimitable Kirtans made Baba available to so many people there The audience who come to hear the Kirtans have different tastes Some like the erudition of the Haridas some his gestures some his singing some his wit and humour some his preliminary dissertation on Vedanta and some others his main stories and so on but among them there are very few who by hearing the Kirtan get faith and devotion or love for God or saints The effect of hearing Dasganu s kirtan on the minds of audience was however electric as it were We give an instance here Dasganu was once performing his Kirtan and singing the glory of Sai Baba in the Koupineshwar temple in Thana One Mr Cholkar a poor man serving as a candidate in the Civil Courts in Thana was amongst the audience He heard Dasganu s Kirtan most attentively and was much moved He there and then mentally bowed and vowed to Baba saying Baba I am a poor man unable to support my family If by your grace I pass the departmental examination and get a permanent post I shall go to Shirdi fall at Your Feet and distribute sugar candy in Your name As good luck would have it Mr Cholkar did pass the examination and did get the permanent post and now it remained for him to fulfil his vow the sooner the better Mr Cholkar was a poor man with a large family to support and he could not afford to pay for the expenses of a Shirdi trip As is well said one can easily cross over Nahne ghat in Thana District or even the Sahyadri Range but it is very difficult for a poor man to cross Umbareghat i e the threshold of his house As Mr Cholkar was anxious to fulfill his vow as early as possible he resolved to economize cut down his expenses and save money He determined not to use sugar in his diet and began to take his tea without it After he was able to save some money in this way he came to Shirdi took Baba s darshan fell at His Feet offered a coconut distributed it with a clean conscience along with sugar candy as per his vow and said to Baba that he was much pleased with His darshan and that his desires were fulfilled that day Mr Cholkar was in the Masjid with his host Bapusaheb Jog When the host and the guest both got up and were about to leave the Masjid Baba spoke to Jog as follows Give him your guest cups of tea fully saturated with Sugar Hearing these significant words Mr Cholkar was much moved he was wonderstruck his eyes were bedewed with tears and he fell at Baba's Feet again Mr Jog was also curious about this direction regarding the tea cups to be given to his guest Baba wanted by His words to create faith and devotion in Cholkar's mind He hinted as it were that He got the sugar candy as per his vow and that He knew full well his secret determination not to use sugar in his diet Baba meant to say If you spread your palms with devotion before Me I am immediately with you day and night Though I am here bodily still I know what you do beyond the seven seas Go wherever you will over the wide world I am with you My abode is in your heart and I am within you Always worship Me Who is seated in your heart as well as in the hearts of all beings Blessed and fortunate indeed is he who knows Me thus What a beautiful and important lesson was thus imparted by Baba to Mr Chokar Two Lizards Now we close this Chapter with a story of two little lizards Once Baba was sitting in the Masjid A devotee sat in front of Him when a lizard tick ticked Out of curiosity the devotee asked Baba whether this tick ticking of the lizard signified anything was it a good sign or a bad omen Baba said that the lizard was overjoyed as her sister from Aurangabad was coming to see her The devotee sat silent not making out the meaning of Baba's words Immediately a gentleman from Aurangabad came on horse back to see Baba He wanted to proceed further but his horse would not go as it was hungry and wanted grams He took out a bag from his shoulders to bring grams and dashed it on the ground to remove dirt A lizard came out therefrom and in the presence of all climbed up the wall Baba asked the questioner devotee to mark her well She at once went strutting to her sister Both sisters met each other after a long time kissed and embraced each other whirled round and danced with love Where is Shirdi and where is Aurangabad How should the man on horse back come there from Aurangabad with the lizard And how should Baba make the prophesy of the meeting of the two sisters All this is really very wonderful and proves the omniscience the all knowing nature of Baba Post Script He who respectfully reads this Chapter or studies it daily will get all his miseries removed by the grace of the Sadguru Sai Baba Hence Bow to Shri Sai Peace be to all

Sai Satcharitra Chapter Das Ganu s Problem Solved by Kaka s Maid Servant In this Chapter Hemadpant describes how Das Ganu s problem was solved by Kakasaheb Dixit s maid servant Preliminary Sai Lord was originally formless he assumed a form for the sake of Bhaktas With the help of the actress Maya He played the part of the Actor in the big drama of the universe Let us remember and visualize Shri Sai Let us go to Shirdi and see carefully the programmes after the noon Arati After the Arati ceremony was over Sai used to come out of the Masjid and standing on its edge distribute udi to the devotees with very kind and loving looks The Bhaktas also got up with equal fervour clasped His Feet and standing and staring at Him enjoyed the shower of Udi Baba passed handfuls of Udi into the palms of the devotees and marked their foreheads with Udi with His fingers The love He bore for them in His heart was boundless Then He addressed the Bhaktas as follows Oh Bhau go to take your lunch you Anna go to your lodgings you Bapu enjoy your dishes In this way He accosted each and every devotee and sent them home Even now you can enjoy these sights if you bring into play your imagination You can visualize and enjoy them Now bringing Sai before our mental vision let us meditate on Him from His Feet upwards to His face and prostrating before Him humbly lovingly and respectfully revert to the story of this Chapter Ishavasya Upanishad Das Ganu once started to write a Marathi commentary on the Ishavasya Upanishad Let us first give a brief idea of this Upanishad before proceeding further It is called a Mantropanishad as it is embodied in the Mantras of the Vedic Samhita It constitutes the last or the 11th Chapter of the

Vajasaneyi Samhita Yajurveda and it is therefore called Vajasaneyi Samhitopanishad Being embodied in Vedic Samhitas this is regarded as superior to all other Upanishads which occur in the Brahmanas and Aranyakas explanatory treatises on Mantras and rituals Not only this other Upanishads are considered to be commentaries on the truths mentioned briefly in the Ishavasya Upanishad For instance the biggest of the Upanishads viz the Brihadaranyaka Upanishad is considered by Pandit Satwalekar to be a running commentary on the Ishavasya Upanishad Professor R D Ranade says The Ishopanishad is quite a small Upanishad and yet it contains many hints which show an extraordinarily piercing insight Within the short compass of verses it gives a valuable mystical description of the Atman a description of the ideal sage who stands unruffled in the midst of temptations and sorrows and adumbration of the doctrine of Karma Yoga as later formulated and finally a reconciliation of the claims of knowledge and works The most valuable ideas that lie at the root of the Upanishad is that of a logical synthesis between the two opposites of knowledge and work which are both required according to the Upanishad to be annulled in a higher synthesis page of the Constructive Survey of the Upanishad Philosophy In another place he says that The poetry of the Ishopanishad is a Commixture of moral mystical and metaphysical ibid Page From the brief description given above about this Upanishad any one can see how difficult it is to translate this Upanishad in a vernacular language and bring out its exact meaning Das Ganu translated it in Marathi Ovi metre verse by verse but as he did not comprehend the gist or essence of the Upanishad he was not satisfied with his performance He therefore consulted some learned men regarding his doubts and difficulties and discussed with them at great length They did not solve them nor did they give him any rational and satisfactory explanation So Das Ganu was a little restless over this matter SadGuru only competent and Qualified to Explain As we have seen this Upanishad is the quintessence of the Vedas It is the science of self realization it is the scythe or weapon which can rend asunder the bondage of life and death and make us free Therefore he thought that he who has himself attained self realization can only give him the true or correct interpretation of the Upanishad When nobody could satisfy Das Ganu he resolved to consult Sai

Baba about this When he got an opportunity to go to Shirdi he saw Sai Baba prostrated himself before Him and mentioned his difficulties about the Ishavasya Upanishad and requested Him to give the correct solution Sai Baba blessed him and said You need not be anxious there is no difficulty about the matter the mind servant of Kaka Kakasaheb Dixit will solve your doubts at Vile Parle on your way home The people who went present then and heard this thought that Baba was joking and said How could an illiterate maid servant solve the difficulties of this nature but Das Garu thought otherwise He was sure that whatever Baba spoke must come true Baba s word was the decree of the Brahma Almighty Kaka s Maid Servant On fully believing in Baba s words he left Shirdi and came to Vile Parle a suburb of Bombay and stayed with Kakasaheb Dixit There the next day when Das Ganu was enjoying his morning nap some say when he was engaged in worship he heard a poor girl singing a beautiful song in clear and melodious tones The subject matter of the song was a crimson coloured Sari how nice it was how fine was its embroidery how beautiful were its ends and borders etc He liked the song so much that he came out and saw that it was being sung by a young girl the sister of Namya who was a servant of Kakasaheb The girl was cleaning vessels and had only a torn rag on her person On seeing her impoverished condition and her jovial temperament Das Ganu felt pity for her and when Rao Bahadur M V Pradhan next day gave him a pair of dhotars he requested him to give a sari to the poor little girl also Rao Bahadur bought a good Chirdi small Sari and presented it to her Like a starving person getting luckily good dishes to eat her joy knew to bounds Next day she wore the new Sari and out of great joy and merriment whirled danced round and played Fugadi with other girls and excelled them all The Day following she kept the new Sari in her box at home and came with the old and torn rags but she looked as merry as she did the previous day On seeing this Das Ganu s pity was transferred into admiration He thought that the girl being poor had to wear a torn rag but now she had a new Sari which she kept in reserve and putting on the old rag strutted herself showing no trace of sorrow or dejection Thus he realized that all our feelings of pain and pleasure depend upon the attitude of our mind On thinking deeply over this incident he realized that a man ought to enjoy whatever God has bestowed on him in the firm conviction that He besets every thing from behind and before and on all sides and that whatever is bestowed on him by God must be for his good In this particular case the impoverished condition of the poor girl her torn rag and the new Sari the donor the dance and the acceptance were all parts of the Lord and pervaded by Him Hence Das Ganu got a practical demonstration of the lesson of the Upanishad the lesson of contentment with one's own lot in the belief that whatever happens is ordained by God and is ultimately good for us Unique Method of Teaching From the above incident the reader will see that Baba's method was unique and varied Though Baba never left Shirdi He sent some to Machhindragad some to Kolhapur or Sholapur for practising sadhanas To some He appeared in His usual form to some He appeared in waking or dreaming state day or night and satisfied their desires It is impossible to describe all the methods that Baba used in imparting instructions to His Bhaktas In this particular case He sent Das Ganu to Vile Parle where he got his problem solved through the maid servant To those who say that it was not necessary to send Das Ganu outside and that Baba could have personally taught him we say that Baba followed the right or best course or how else could Das Ganu would have learnt a great lesson that the poor maid servant and her Sari were pervaded by the Lord Now we close the Chapter with another beautiful extract about this Upanishad The Ethics of the Ishavasya Upanishad One of the main features of the Ishavasya Upanishad is the ethical advice it offers and it is interesting to note that the ethics of the Upanishad are definitely based upon the metaphysical position advanced in it The very opening words of the Upanishad tell us that God pervades every thing As a corollary from this metaphysical position the ethical advice it offers is that a man ought to enjoy whatever God bestows on him in the firm belief that as He pervades everything whatever is bestowed on him by God must be good It follows naturally that the Upanishad should forbid us from coveting another man's property In fact we are fittingly taught here a lesson of contentment with one's own lot in the belief that whatever happens it is divinely ordained and it is hence good for us Another moral advice is that man must spend his life time always in doing action specially the karmas enjoined in the Shastras in a mood of believing resignation to His will Inactivity according to this Upanishad would be the canker of the soul It is only when a man spends his life time on doing actions in this manner that he can hope to attain the ideal of Naishkarmya Finally the text goes on to say that a man who sees all beings in the Self and sees the Self as existing in all beings in fact for whom all beings and everything that exists have become the Self how can such a man suffer infatuation What ground would such a man have for grief Loathfulness infatuation and grief verily proceed from our not being able to see the Atman in all things But a man who realizes the oneness of all things for whom everything has become the Self must ipso facto cease to be affected by the common foibles of humanity Page of The Creative Period by Messrs Belvalkar and Ranade Bow to Shri Sai Peace be to all

Fish Market has been featured on TV and receives thousands of everyday visitors. Here visitors can purchase salmon, halibut, white fish, crab, and much more. The highlight of the visit here is seeing the fishmongers throwing fish at a client who has purchased something. The Market also has characteristics of merchants who sell clothing, antiques, collectibles, and art work. Entertainment takes spot all year with a wide variety of events. With several levels of shopping, a visitor can spend a lot of time here if they wish. A Market Heritage Tour is offered weekdays for ten or more people. This is a one-hour strolling tour that explains the history of the area and intriguing facts. These excursions must be booked a minimum of two days ahead. Restaurants at Pike's Market range from very casual to elegant. There is something for everyone, such as Greek, French, and other cuisines, as well as seafood. Parking is accessible, and the Market has rates much more reasonable than is typical for downtown Seattle. The Metro bus, Sounder, and Transit Link Light Rail station stop close by. Pike's Market is one of the top attractions for tourists in downtown Seattle and loved by residents as well. The market is particularly busy on weekends and in the summer time.

Mount Rainier is the star of the Seattle Tacoma area s breathtaking mountainous skyline The highest peak in Washington snowy Mount Rainier is a popular destination for both serious mountaineers and recreational visitors The sprawling square mile national park surrounding the mountain offers a number of amenities to visitors including lodging food campgrounds winter sports and over miles of hiking trails Midsummer is the busiest season at the park so it s best to visit mid week during those months to avoid the crowds and parking hassles Spring and fall are more leisurely seasons to plan a visit but the weather can shut down some areas To avoid disappointment pay attention to the snow forecasts and call ahead During the winter most of the camping and hiking activities are closed down but the Longmire Museum the National Park Inn and the Longmire Grocery Store are generally open year round to provide a cozy winter getaway There are over a dozen choices of campground and picnic areas around the park but the most popular is the Ohanapecosh Campground and for good reason Located at a lower elevation than most of the park Ohanapecosh offers verdant old growth forests and a sparkling river instead of snow A campground amphitheater and a summer program of family activities make it a camping favorite For those preferring less rugged accommodation there are two hotels in the park the National Park Inn offering cozy atmosphere a full service dining room and a general store and the Paradise Inn which is the largest of the two with rooms a gift shop and a tantalizing brunch menu The Wonderland Trail is the ultimate hiking experience at the park for those with the skill and endurance to take it on It is a strenuous mile trip that makes a loop around Mount Rainier and takes the hiker through lowland valleys and forests and up into alpine terrain For the less ambitious there are many trails available throughout the park the Trail of Shadows is a short minute loop offering a visit to a th century cabin replica and some education on Longmire s history and the Green Lake Trail is a popular day hike for its centuries old Douglas fir trees and the stunning Ranger Falls For legendary views available nowhere else Mount Rainier has a number of not to miss sites To see what it looks like on top of the world ride the Mt Rainier Gondola up to the Summit House atop Crystal Mountain The Summit House provides delicious food and an amazing view of the Cascades but it s the ride up that s the real attraction during the summer the gondola glides over scenic mountain streams and a sea of wildflower meadows In the northwestern corner of the park the serene Carbon River forest is a peek into an actual inland temperate rainforest One of the most beautiful sights in the park however are the famed wildflower meadows at Paradise that gave the area its name There is so much to see and do at Mount Rainier it s best to choose one of the areas and focus on exploring it in depth Indulge in learning at Longmire be pampered in Paradise camp in natural splendor in Ohanapecosh hike through Carbon and Mowich and admire the alpine displays at Sunrise This is one mountain that has something for everyone

This museum is a tribute to human creativity in design and innovation in technology From the oldest surviving steam engine in world to multiple light aircrafts and parts of a space shuttle to history of the computer and a celebration of over years of the best in decorative arts and design and cinema screen from the s showing films including news reels of the era this museum has a mind expanding collection of the best human minds can come up with It also always has the best in travelling exhibitions and is the kind of place you can either duck into for a quick look though or spend all day picking over the contents of This has been my favourite museum for as long as I can remember

because there s things to touch and buttons to push that are more interesting and less patronising than what most museums expect children to enjoy in fact I think my Dad enjoyed and learned as much from pressing the buttons as much as I did This is a place teaching you how things work and empowers you with the knowledge that people came up with technology and design it was all our idea how cool is that One of the worlds oldest working clocks it s huge ornate and gilded you won t miss it is just inside the foyer and there is a regular presentation about it which is particularly interesting considering it s in the foyer so you don t have to pay the entry fee to enjoy it You can see all the moving parts and get a good understanding about how clocks came about getting some perspective about technology which we take for granted always inspires me regarding the human race Practically the Powerhouse is on the edge of Sydneyby Darling Harbour accessible by the small and overpriced but still fun monorail and across the road from one of Sydney s best pie and mash cafes after Harry s Caffe Wheels of course

Sai Satcharitra Chapter Sparrows Drawn To Shirdi Lakhamichand Burhanpore Lady Megha Preliminary Sai is not finite or limited He dwells in all beings from ants and insects to the God Brahma He pervades all Sai was well versed in the knowledge of the Vedas as well as in the science of Self realisation As He was proficient in both these He was well fitted to be the Sad guru Any one though learned but not able to awaken the disciples and establish them in Self realisation does not deserve to be called a Sadguru Generally the father gives birth to the body and death invariably follows life but Sadguru does away with both life and death and so he is more kind and merciful than any body Sai Baba often said that let His man Devotee be at any distance a thousand koss away from Him he will be drawn to Shirdi like a sparrow with a thread tied to its feet This Chapter describes the stories of three such sparrows Lala Lakhamichand This gentleman was first serving in the Railways and afterwards in Shri Venkateshwar Press in Bombay and thereafter in the firm of Messrs Ralli Brothers as a munshi clerk He got the contact of Baba in One or two months before Christmas he saw in his dream at Santacruz a suburb of Bombay an old man with a beard standing and surrounded by his Bhaktas Some days later he went to the house of his friend Mr Dattatreya Manjunath Bijur to hear the kirtan by Das Ganu It was always the practice of Das Ganu to keep Baba s picture in front of the audience while making the kirtan Lakhamichand was surprised to see that the features of the old man he saw in his dream tallied exactly with those in the picture and thus he came to the conclusion that the old man he saw in his dream was Sai Baba himself The sight of this picture Das Ganu s kirtan and the life of the Saint Tukaram on which Das Ganu discoursed all these things made a deep impression on his mind and he pined to go to Shirdi It is always the experience of the Bhaktas that God always helps them in their search for Sad guru and other spiritual endeavours That very night at p m a friend named Shankarrao knocked at his door and asked him whether he would accompany him to Shirdi His joy knew no bounds and he at once decided to go to Shirdi He borrowed Rs from his cousin and after making due preparations left for Shirdi In the train he and his friend Shankar Rao did some Bhajan sang religious songs and enquired about Sai baba with some fellow passengers four Mahomedans who were returning to their place near Shirdi They all told them that Sai baba was a great Saint living in Shirdi for many years Then when they reached Kopergaon he wanted to buy some good guavas for offering to Baba but he was so much enrapt with the scenery and sights there that he forgot to purchase them When they were nearing Shirdi he was reminded of the guavas just then he saw an old woman with a guava basket on her head running after the tanga The tanga was stopped and he gladly purchased some select fruits when the woman said Take all the rest and offer them on my behalf to Baba The facts viz that he had intended to purchase guavas but that he had forgotten to do so the old woman s encounter and her devotion to Baba all these were a surprise to both the friends and Lakhamichand thought in his mind that the old woman might be some relation of the old man he saw in his dream Then they drove on and came near Shirdi and seeing the flags on the Masjid they saluted them With Puja materials in hand they then went to the Masjid and worshipped Baba with due formality Lakhmichand was much moved and was extremely happy to see Baba He was enrapt with Baba s Feet as a bee with a sweet smelling lotus Then Baba spoke as follows Cunning fellow he does bhajan on the way and enquires from others Why ask others Everything we should see with our own eyes where is the necessity to question others Just think for yourself whether your dream is true or not Where was the necessity of the darshan by taking a loan from a Marwari Is the heart s desire now satisfied Hearing these words Lakhamichand was wonderstruck at Baba s omniscience He was at a loss to know how Baba came to know about all the things that had happened enroute from his house to Shirdi The chief thing to note in this respect is that Baba never liked people to run into debt for taking His darshan or celebrating any holiday or making any pilgrimage Sanza At noon

when Lakhamichand was sitting for meals he got some sanza wheat pudding from a devotee as Prasad He was pleased to have it Next day also he expected it but got nothing So he was anxious to get it again Then on the third day at the noon Arati time Bapusaheb Jog asked Baba what naivedya he should bring Baba told him to bring sanza Then the Bhaktas brought two big potfuls of sanza Lakshamichand was very hungry and there was some pain in his back Then Baba said to him It is good that you are hungry take sanza and some medicine for the pain in the back He was again wonderstruck to see that Baba again read his mind and spoke out what was passing therein How omniscient was He Evil eye On this occasion he once witnessed one night the procession to the chavadi Baba then suffered much from cough He thought that this suffering of Baba might be due to somebody s evil eye Next morning when he went to the Masjid Baba spoke to Shama as follows I suffered last night from cough is it due to some evil eye I think that somebody s evil eye has worked on me and so I am suffering In this case Baba spoke out what was passing in Lakshamichand s mind On seeing these proofs of Baba s omniscience and kindness to His Bhaktas he fell prostrate at Baba s Feet and said I am much pleased with your darshan Ever be kind and merciful to me and protect me always There is no other God to me in this world except Your Feet Let my mind be ever rapt in Your Bhajan and Feet Let Your grace protect me from the miseries of the world and let me ever chant Your name and be happy After getting Baba Udi and blessing he returned home with his friend much pleased and contented and singing Baba s glory on the way He remained a staunch devotee of baba afterwards and always sent garlands of flowers camphor and Dakshina with any person of his acquaintance bound for Shirdi Burhanpore Lady Now let us turn to another sparrow Baba s word meaning devotee One lady in Burhanpore saw in her dream Sai Baba coming to her door and begging khichadi rice cooked with dal and salt for His meals On awakening she saw no body at her door However she was pleased with the vision and told it to all including her husband He was employed in the Postal Department and when he was transferred to Akola both husband and wife who were devout decided to go to Shirdi Then on a suitable day they left for Shirdi and after visiting Gomati Tirth on the way reached Shirdi and stayed there for two months Every day they went to the Masjid performed Baba's worship and passed their time happily. The couple came to Shirdi to offer Khichadi as naivedya but for the first days somehow or other it could not be offered. The lady did not like this delay. Then on the 11th day she came at noon to the Masjid with her khichadi. There she found that Baba and others were already sitting for meals and that the curtain was down. Nobody dared enter in when the curtain was let down but the lady could not wait. She threw up the curtain with her hand and entered. Strange to say that Baba seemed that day hungry for khichadi and wanted that thing first and when the lady came in with the dish Baba was delighted and began to eat morsel after morsel of khichadi. On seeing the earnestness of Baba in this respect everybody was wonderstruck and those who heard the story of khichadi were convinced about His extraordinary love for His devotees.

Megha Now let us go to the third and bigger sparrow. Megha of Viramgaon was a simple and illiterate Brahmin cook of Rao Bahadur H V Sathe. He was a devotee of Shiva and always chanted the five syllabled mantra Namah Shivaya. He did not know the Sandhya nor its chief mantra the Gayatri. Rao Bahadur Sathe was interested in him, got him taught the Sandhya and the Gayatri. Sathe told him that Sai Baba of Shirdi was the embodied form of the God Shiva and made him start for Shirdi. At the Broach Railway station he learnt that Sai Baba was a Moslem and his simple and orthodox mind was much perturbed at the prospect of bowing to a Moslem and he prayed to his master not to send him there. His master however insisted on his going there and gave him a letter of introduction to his Sathe's father in law Ganesh Domodar alias Dada Kelkar at Shirdi to introduce him to Sai Baba. When he reached Shirdi and went to the Masjid Baba was very indignant and would not allow him to enter. Kick out the rascal roared Baba and then said to Megha, "You are a high caste Brahmin and I am a low Moslem, you will lose your caste by coming here. So get away." Hearing these words Megha began to tremble. He was wondering as to how Baba had come to know about what was passing in his mind. He stayed there for some days serving Baba in his own way but was not convinced. Then he went home. After that he went to Tryambak Nasik District and stayed there for a year and a half. Then again he returned to Shirdi. This time at the intercession of Dada Kelkar he was allowed to enter the Masjid and stay in Shirdi. Sai Baba's help to

Megha was not through any oral instruction He worked upon Megha internally mentally with the result that he was considerably changed and benefited Then Megha began to look upon Sai Baba as an incarnation of Shiva In order to worship Shiva bela leaves are required and Megha used to go miles and miles every day to bring them and worship his Shiva Baba His practice was to worship all the Gods in the village and then come to the Masjid and after saluting Baba s gadi asan he worshipped Baba and after doing some service shampooing His Legs drank the washings Tirth of Baba s Feet Once it so happened that he came to the Masjid without worshipping God Khandoba as the door of the temple was closed Baba did not accept his worship and sent him again saying that the door was open then Megha went found the door open worshipped the Deity and then returned to Baba as usual Ganges Bath On one Makar Sankranti day Megha wanted to besmear the body of Baba with sandal paste and bathe Him with Ganges water Baba was first unwilling to undergo this operation but at his repeated requests He consented Megha had to traverse a distance of eight koss going and returning to bring the sacred water from the Gomati river He brought the water made all preparations for the bath at noon and asked Baba to get ready for the same Then Baba again asked him to be freed from his bath saying that as a Fakir He had nothing to do or gain with Ganges water but Megha did not listen He knew that Shiva is pleased with a bath of Ganges water and that he must give his Shiva Baba that bath on that auspicious day Baba then consented came down and sat on a pat wooden board and protruding his head said Oh Megha do at least this favour head is the most important organ of the body so pour the water over that only it is equivalent to the full or whole bath Alright said Megha and lifting the water pot up began to pour it on the head but in doing this he was so much overwhelmed with love that he cried out Har Gange and emptied the pot on the whole body He kept the pot aside and began to look at Baba but to his surprise and amazement he found that Baba s head was only drenched but the body quite dry Trident and Pindi Megha worshipped Baba in two places in the Masjid he worshipped Baba in person and in the Wada Baba s big picture given by Nanasaheb Chandorkar This he did for months Then in order to appreciate his devotion and confirm his faith Baba gave him a vision Early one morning when Megha was still lying down on his bed with eyes closed but internally awake he saw clearly Baba's Form Baba knowing him to be awake threw Akshata rice grains marked red with Kumkum and said Megha draw a Trident and disappeared Hearing Baba's words he eagerly opened his eyes but did not see Baba but saw only rice grains spread here and there He then went to Baba told Him about the vision and asked permission to draw Trident Baba said Did you not hear My words asking you to draw Trident It was no vision but direct order and My words are always pregnant with meaning and never hollow Megha said I thought you woke me up but all the doors were closed so I thought it was a vision Baba rejoined I require no door to enter I have no form nor any extension I always live everywhere I carry on as a wirepuller all the actions of the man who trusts Me and merges in Me Megha returned to the Wada and drew a red Trident on the wall near Baba's picture Next day a Ramadasa Bhakta came from Poona saluted Baba and offered Him Pindi an image of Shiva At this time Megha also turned up there Baba said to him See Shankar has come protect i.e. worship Him now Megha was surprised to see Pindi following Trident immediately Then also in the Wada Kakasaheb Dixit was standing with a towel on his head after having taken his bath and was remembering Sai when he saw a Pindi before his mental vision While he was wondering about this Megha came and showed him the Pindi presented to him by Baba Dixit was happy to know that the Pindi exactly tallied with the One he saw a few minutes before in his vision In a few days after the drawing of the Trident was complete Baba installed the Pindi near the big picture which Megha was worshipping The worship of Shiva was dear to Megha and by arranging the drawing of the Trident and the installation of the Pindi Baba confirmed his faith therein After continuous service of Baba for many years doing regular worship and Arati every noon and evening Megha passed away in Then Baba passed His hands over his corpse and said This was a true devotee of Mine Baba also ordered that at His own expense the usual funeral dinner should be given to the Brahmins and this order was carried out by Kakasaheb Dixit Bow to Shri Sai Peace be to all

North Sentinel Island is one of the Andaman Islands in the Bay of Bengal It lies to the west of the southern part of South Andaman Island Most of the island is forested It is small located away from the main settlements on Great Andaman surrounded by coral reefs and lacks natural harbours This island is considered world's hardest place to visit People Small number of indigenous people the Sentinelese live on North Sentinel Island Estimated population is from 10 to 15 individuals The Sentinelese reject any contact with other people and are among the last people to remain virtually untouched by modern civilization Part of India but sovereign Since India has administered the island as part of the Andaman and Nicobar Islands Union Territory However because there has never been any treaty with the people of the island nor any record of a physical occupation whereby the people of the island have conceded sovereignty the island exists in a curious state of limbo under established international law and can be seen as a sovereign entity under Indian protection It is therefore one of the de facto autonomous regions of India

Patna Area sq km Altitude metres above the sea level Climate The temperature often rises to degC in summers and falls to around deg C or even below during the winters Languages Hindi and English Best time to visit October to March STD code History Of Patna Patna was original known as Pataliputra or Patalipattan and its recorded history dates back to the B C It was the capital of Chandragupta Maurya the first recorded emperor of India but gradually it lost its importance after the decline of the Mauryan Empire During the medieval era it rose to prominence again under Shershah Suri who ruled at the beginning of the th century A D People have the belief that Patna was founded by Ajatashatru and he adopted several measures to protect the town from the incessant foreign invasions The great Mauryan emperor Ashoka also ruled from here The later Guptas including Chandragupta Vikramaditya and Samudragupta made Pataliputra their capital The famous Chinese travelers Fa Hien and Hiuen Tsang visited this town in the rd and th century respectively Patna was a repository of knowledge and wisdom in the historic times Scholars like Kautilya created their remarkable works by staying here The grandson of Aurangzeb Azim us Shan came to Patna in the year as its governor Due to his efforts he transformed Patna into a gorgeous town gave it the name Azimabad The city came under the control of the British after the decline of the Mughals They had started a factory here in for the trade of calico and silk In the year a separate state called Jharkhand was separated from Bihar Culture Though geographically located in the Magadh region of Bihar many residents of Patna are natives of one of the four other regions of Bihar Bhojpur Mithila Vajj and Ang which differ only slightly from each other Intermarriages and cultural intermixing among the people of the five regions has been so common that it may be difficult for an outsider to discern the differences Intermixing of people is also common at the village level e g resident of Gulni include people from Gaya Ganga par and other villages Family orientation in Patna People are religious and family oriented and their lives are deeply rooted in tradition The interests of the family take precedence over that of an individual Families are generally large though the government is actively encouraging family planning to curb rapid population growth Extended families often live together in one home because of economic necessity Although the culture is same among the regions the dialects spoken are quite different Many talented people of Bihar have emigrated for better opportunities Sightseeing In Patna Gandhi Setu Gandhi Setu was built to connect Patna with Hajipur The bridge also connects north and south Bihar The bridge is meters in length and the longest in the world Gandhi Setu has helped in better traffic management and speedy transportation in the entire region Mahatma Gandhi Setu stands on forty piers and for better navigational purposes the span arrangement has been done in such a manner that it does not affect the movement of ships and big boats To accommodate free movement of ships height has been kept optimum except for the last few spans on the Hajipur side which covers a length of m An excellent specimen of better plan and execution Gandhi Setu has served an example Phulwari Sharif Phulwari Sharif is an important medieval and religious city of Bihar It is located seven kilometers away from the Patna This place has a long and rich religious history that is closely attached with the birth and development of the Sufi culture in our country Sufi saints of the medieval times had made Bihar one of the important centers of religious social and cultural developments Phulwari Sharif was one such place from where the Sufi saints had spread their message of love and toleration to other parts of the country Being a very important mediaeval site in Phulwari Sharif has some exquisite mediaeval structures These are Khanqah Mujeebia Sheesh Mahal Shahi Sangi Masjid and Imarat Sharia history that is closely attached with the birth and development of the Sufi culture in our country These structures clearly manifest the influence of Mughal architectural style Among various structures here Sangi Masjid is an architectural master piece It is not only influenced by Mughal style but also bears influences of local style of architecture prevalent in this region at that time This beautiful mosque was built by Mughal Emperor Humayun As the important characteristic of that period it is built in red sand stone It is not only an attraction of Muslims but also for all tourists from all parts of the globe The importance of Phulwari Sharif is also lies in being an important religious educational institution and popularly known for an inside Madrasa which has played a significant role in spreading education to the poor masses of the region Maner Sharif Phulwari Sharif is an important medieval and religious city of Bihar It is located seven kilometers away from the Patna This place has a long and rich religious history that is closely attached with the birth and development of the Sufi culture in our country Hajipur Hajipur was known as Ukkacala in ancient times According to Buddhist scriptures Lord Buddha gave one of his many discourses at Ukkacala Some Buddhist sources also say that ashes of Lord Buddha s disciple Ananda were kept in a Stupa at Ukkacala administrator He erected this mosque at Patna to commemorate his victory over the Mughal emperor Humayun The mosque built in Afghan architectural style has a tomb inside the compound which is topped by an octagonal stone slab The Sher Shah Masjid is considered among best looking mosques in India According to Buddhist literature Ananda was the closest disciple and personnel attendant of Buddha The same sources tell an interesting incident about Ananda when Ananda realized that his life was drawing to its close he decided to head towards north from Rajgir Later on when King Ajatashatru came to know about it he went to meet Ananda and asked him to stay in his capital Similarly people from near by Vaishali came and asked him to stay at their place which made the situation quite tricky for Ananda As Ananda was in conflict where to go and whom to visit he reached in the middle of river and in order to avoid disappointment and possible conflict Ananda rose into the air and disappeared into a ball of flames As the legends have it people gathered on both sides of the river and collected the ash which was poured from above Later on many Stupas were erected enshrining the same ash Though the whereabouts of these stupas is not known one mound on the bank of river Ganges is evidence of one such stupa s existence at the spot Historians are of the opinion that stupas might have been erased by Ganges flood overtime and some Hindu temple has come into existence now From historical evidence and Buddhist literature archeologists have concluded that the modern Hajipur is ancient Ukkacala Sher Shah Masjid Sher Shah Suri was a celebrated Afghan ruler and a good administrator He erected this mosque at Patna to commemorate his victory over the Mughal emperor Humayun The mosque built in Afghan architectural style has a tomb inside the compound which is topped by an octagonal stone slab The Sher Shah Masjid is considered among best looking mosques in India This impressive landmark of Patna built in Afghan style of architecture is the biggest mosque in Patna Inside the mosque is a big dome built specifically to cater huge gathering of masses Other than the huge dome the mosque has four small gathering rooms The mosque was made according to the need of huge gathering to accommodate collective prayer The specialty of the plan of the mosque is that the domes are so placed that only three of them can be seen at a time from whichever angle one sees Sanjay Gandhi Biological Park Owing to its huge size Sanjay Gandhi Biological Park is considered among one of the biggest zoos in India The park houses more than three hundred species of trees including of orchids ferns and roses Patna Museum Patna Museum was established in the year The aim behind the establishment of the museum was to impart a scientific vision to understand the evolution of history Kumhrar Kumhrar is the site that consists of the archaeological excavations of Patliputra and marks the ancient capital of Ajatshatru How to Reach Patna by Air Patna being the capital city of Bihar has excellent air connection to many important Indian cities like Delhi Mumbai Kolkata Several Airlines serve this airport with regular flights by Road An extensive road network links Patna to major cities and tourist destinations within Bihar and neighboring states Bodhgaya Rajgir Ranchi Siliguri are conveniently located by road to Patna by Road An extensive road network links Patna to major cities and tourist destinations within Bihar and neighboring states Bodhgaya Rajgir Ranchi Siliguri are conveniently located by road to Patna

Sai Satcharitra Chapter Previous Indication Averting Death of Ramachandra Dada Patil and Tatya Kote Patil Charity to Laxmibai Shinde Last Moment This chapter describes the Passing away of Baba Preliminary The stories given in the previous chapter have shown that the light of Guru's grace removes out fear of the mundane existence opens the path of salvation and turns our misery into happiness If we always remember the feet of the Sad guru our troubles come to an end death loses its sting and the misery of this mundane existence is obliterated Therefore those who care for their welfare should carefully listen to these stories of Sai Samarth which will purify their minds In the beginning Hemadpant dwells on Dr Pandit s worship and his marking Baba s forehead with Tripundra i e three horizontal lines but as this has been already described in chapter XI this has been omitted here Previous Indication The readers up till now heard the stories of Baba s life Let them now hear attentively Baba s Passing away Baba got a slight attack of fever on 14th September The fever lasted for 4 or 5 days but afterwards Baba gave up his food and thereby He grew weaker and weaker On the 21st day i e Tuesday the 21st October Baba left His mortal coil at about 4 p m Vide Professor G G Narke s letter dated 21st November to Dadasaheb Khaparde published in Sai Leela magazine Page first year Two years before this i e in 1914 Baba gave an indication of His Passing away but nobody understood it then It was as follows On the Vijayadashmi Dasara day Baba at once got into wild rage in the evening when people were returning from Seemollanghan crossing the border or limits of the village Taking off His head dress kafni and langota etc He tore them and threw them in the Dhuni before Him Fed by this offering the fire in the Dhuni began to burn brighter and Baba shone still brighter He stood there stark naked and with His burning red eyes shouted You fellows now have a look and decide finally whether I am a Moslem or a Hindu Everybody was trembling with fear and none dared to approach Baba After some time Bhagoji Shinde the leper devotee of Baba went boldly near Him and succeeded in tying a langota waist band round His waist and said Baba what is all this To day is the Seemollanghan i e Dasara Holiday Baba striking the ground with His satka said This is my Seemollanghan crossing the border Baba did not cool down till 4 p m and the people doubted whether the chavadi procession would ever take place that night After an hour Baba resumed His normal condition and dressing Himself as usual attended the chavadi procession as described before By this incident Baba gave a suggestion that Dasara was the proper time for Him to cross the border of life but none understood its meaning Baba gave also another indication as follows Averting Death of Ramachandra and Tatya Patil Some time after this Ramachandra Patil became seriously ill He suffered a lot He tried all remedies but finding no relief despaired of his life and was waiting for the last moment The one midnight Baba suddenly stood near his pillow Patil held His Feet and said I have lost all hopes of life please tell me definitely when I shall die Merciful

Baba said Don't be anxious your hundi death warrant has been withdrawn and you will soon recover but I am afraid of Tatya Patil He will pass away on Vijayadashami of Shaka A D Do not divulge this to anybody nor to him for he will be terribly frightened Ramachandra Dada got well but he felt nervous about Tatya's life for he knew that Baba's word was unalterable and that Tatya would breathe his last within two years He kept this hint secret told it to none but one Bala Shimpi a tailor Only these two persons Ramachandra Dada and Bala Shimpi were in fear and suspense regarding Tatya's life Ramachandra Dada soon left his bed and was on his legs Time passed quickly The month of Bhadrapad of Shaka A D was ending and Ashwin was in sight True to Baba's word Tatya fell sick and was bed ridden and so he could not come for Baba's darshana Baba was also down with fever Tatya had full faith in Baba and Baba in Lord Hari who was His Protector Tatya's illness began to grow from bad to worse and he could not move at all but always remembered Baba The predicament of Baba began to grow equally worse The day predicted i.e. Vijayadashami was impending and both Ramachandra Dada and Bala Shimpi were terribly frightened about Tatya and with their bodies trembling and perspiring with fear thought that as predicted by Baba Tatya's end was nigh Vijayadashami dawned and Tatya's pulse began to beat very slow and he was expected to pass away shortly But a curious thing happened Tatya remained his death was averted and Baba passed away in his stead It seemed as if there was an exchange People said that Baba gave up His life for Tatya why He did so He alone knows as His ways are inscrutable It seems however that in this incident Baba gave a hint of His passing away substituting Tatya's name for His Next morning 10th October Baba appeared to Das Ganu at Pandharpur in his dream and said to him The Masjid collapsed all the oilmen and grocers of Shirdi teased me a lot so I leave the place I therefore came to inform you here please go there quickly and cover me with Bhakkal flowers Das Ganu got the information also from Shirdi letters So he came to Shirdi with his disciples and started bhajan and kirtan and sang the Lord's name all through the day before Baba's samadhi Himself weaving a beautiful garland of flowers studded with Lord Hari's name he placed it on Baba's samadhi and gave a mass feeding in Baba's name Charity to Laxmibai Dasara or Vijayadashami is regarded by all the Hindus as the most auspicious time and it is befitting that Baba should choose this time for His crossing the border line He was ailing some days before this but He was ever conscious internally Just before the last movement He sat up erect without anybody's aid and looked better People thought that the danger had passed off and He was getting well He knew that He was to pass away soon and therefore He wanted to give some money as charity to Laxmibai Shinde Baba Pervading All Creatures This Laxmibai Shinde was a good and well to do woman She was working in the Masjid day and night Except Bhagat Mhalasapati Tatya and Laxmibai none was allowed to step in the Masjid at night Once while Baba was sitting in the Masjid with Tatya in the evening Laxmibai came and saluted Baba The latter said to her Oh Laxmi I am very hungry Off she went saying Baba wait a bit I return immediately with bread She did return with bread and vegetables and placed the same before Baba He took it up and gave it to a dog Laxmibai then asked What is this Baba I ran in haste prepared bread with my own hands for You and You threw it to a dog without eating a morsel of it You gave me trouble unnecessarily Baba replied Why do you grieve for nothing The appeasement of the dog's hunger is the same as Mine The dog has got a soul the creatures may be different but the hunger of all is the same though some speak and others are dumb Know for certain that he who feeds the hungry really serves Me with food Regard this as an axiomatic Truth This is an ordinary incident but Baba thereby propounded a great spiritual truth and showed its practical application in daily life without hurting anybody's feelings From this time onward Laxmibai began to offer Him daily bread and milk with love and devotion Baba accepted and ate it appreciatingly He took a part of this and sent the remainder with Laxmibai to Radha Krishna Mai who always relished and ate Baba's remnant prasada This bread story should not be considered as a digression it shows how Sai Baba pervaded all the creatures and transcended them He is omnipresent birthless deathless and immortal Baba remembered Laxmibai's service How could He forget her Just before leaving the body He put His hand in His pocket and gave her once Rs and again Rs in all Rs This figure is indicative of the nine types of devotion described in chapter or it may be the Dakshina offered at the time of Seemollanghan Laxmibai was a well to do woman and so she was not in want of any money So Baba might have suggested to her and brought prominently to her notice the nine characteristics of a good disciple mentioned in the 10th verse of chapter ten skandha eleven of the Bhagwat wherein first five and then four characteristics are mentioned in the first and second couplets Baba followed the order first paid Rs and then Rs in all Rs Not only nine but many times nine rupees passed through Laxmibai's hand but Baba's this gift of Nine she will ever remember Being so watchful and conscious Baba also took other precautions in His last moment In order that He should not be embroiled or entangled with love and affection for His devotees He ordered them all to clear off Kakasaheb Dixit Bapusaheb Booty and others were in the Masjid anxiously waiting upon Baba but He asked them to go to the Wada and return after meals They could not leave Baba's presence nor could they disobey Him So with heavy hearts and heavy feet they went to the Wada They knew that Baba's case was very serious and that they could not forget Him They sat for meals but their mind was elsewhere it was with Baba Before they finished news came to them of Baba's leaving the mortal coil Leaving their dishes they ran to the Masjid and found that Baba rested finally on Bayaji's lap He did not fall down on the ground nor did He lie on His bed but sitting quietly on His seat and doing charity with His own hand threw off the mortal coil Saints embody themselves and come into this world with a definite mission and after that is fulfilled they pass away as quietly and easily as they came Bow to Shri Sai Peace be to all
